MASSACRE CASE

Judge Irate Over Leaks; London Reassures U.S.

FORT BENNING, Ga. (AP) — An Army judge says his order for potential witnesses not to discuss My Lai slaying case in public is being defied and has called a meeting of attorneys today.

Lt. Col. Reid W. Kennedy, who will establish the Army's legal guidelines in the court-martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., announced yesterday his plans to call the closed session "to come to some kind of conclusion about defiance of an order to witnesses . . . to quit talking to the press."

He gave no indication of the action contemplated.

"I can understand almost anything except this continuous interrogation of witnesses and potential witnesses and the publication of what they say before it is said in court," Kennedy said. "Something just has to be done about this."

Calley, a 26-year-old former platoon commander in Company C, 1st Battalion, 11th Infantry Brigade, is charged with murdering 109 South Vietnamese civilians at the village of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

In Saigon yesterday, South Vietnamese Sen. Tran Van Don said members of his Defense Committee and the Senate Interior Committee will go to Quang Ngai Province shortly to investigate reports of the slaying.

"We do not know where the truth is and we want to verify what happened," he said.

S. Sgt. David Mitchell has been charged with assault with intent to murder and the U.S. Army says it is investigating 24 soldiers and ex-soldiers in the case.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart said President Nixon can continue to count on British backing of U.S. policy in Vietnam even if a massacre occurred.

He said U.S. aims in Vietnam are just and "I don't see that it is disproved because it is claimed, or even that it is proved, that there has been this atrocity . . .

"If it were," he continued, "we ought to have dismissed the North Vietnamese case long ago because the deliberate killing of civilians . . . has been a part of the North Vietnamese method for a long time."

Calley is under no form of confinement here and is going about his duties as an aide to Col. Talton W. Long, deputy post commander. After his trial was ordered, he was forbidden to leave the Columbus, Ga., area without permission.

In Washington, Pentagon officials may invoke two never-before-tested sections of the military justice code to try any former soldiers accused in the alleged My Lai massacre.

One of these in Article 18, generally applying to war crimes, and the other is Article 21 which, lawyers said, was intended to preserve common law permitting military commissions to sit in criminal cases.

Fifteen of the 24 men now under investigation, but not yet charged, have returned to civilian life since the alleged mass slaying of more than 100 South Vietnamese civilians on March 16, 1968.

Prosecution of the nine soldiers still on active duty poses no legal problem. They clearly are subject to the military justice code.

However, serious questions confront government legal authorities on the course to follow in trying to prosecute any of the ex-soldiers deemed to have been involved.

This is because the Supreme Court in 1955 rejected military court martial for former servicemen in freeing a discharged Air Force sergeant who had

Nixon Appoints Astronaut To State Department Post

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon announced today he will nominate astronaut Michael Collins to be assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

Collins, commander of the command module during the July moon flight of Apollo 11, will be in charge of arranging public speeches and discussions of foreign policy.

Collins, 39, will resign his Air Force commission to take the $38,000-a-year post. He had been in the space program for the past six years.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers recommended Collins for the job and Nixon discussed it with the astronaut when members of the Apollo 11 crew and their wives had dinner at the White House earlier this month.

The State Department post has been vacant since January when Dixon Donnelly resigned and moved to the Treasury Department as director of public affairs there.

In a second personnel announcement, Nixon said he will nominate William R. Ford, a 35-year-old Negro, to head the VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) program as an assistant director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Since March, Ford has been director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission. The VISTA post pays $38,000 a year.

Second Rock Box Differs From 11's

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Geologists today opened the second box of moon stones picked up by Apollo 12's astronauts on the Ocean of Storms, a container of carefully documented samples expected to yield fresh surprises about lunar secrets.

They also reported that the first rock box from Apollo 12 contained bigger rocks and finer, lighter colored soil than the material gathered at Tranquility Base by Apollo 11's crew.

A minor problem with laboratory equipment delayed briefly the start of opening the second box in a vacuum chamber at the space center. But at noon EST a technician pulled up the suitcase-size box's lid.

An estimated 12 to 15 individually wrapped rocks, carefully selected and documented by the astronauts to aid geologists, were inside. There also were some unwrapped chunks of lunar material.

"We can see gray dust over everything," a science observer reported. "The rocks are angular as well as rounded, depending on which part you are looking at."

"One of the rocks, about the

Photos Capture Spectacular Scene

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The space agency today released more pictures of Apollo 12 astronauts working on the moon, with emphasis on the experiments put onto the Ocean of Storms.

The still pictures followed by a day the release of movie film showing the first views of the moonwalks last week, views denied the public by a television camera failure at the start of the first excursion.

The footage also includes a view never seen by man—the earth eclipsing the sun. Astronaut Alan L. Bean called it "the most spectacular sight of our whole flight."

The photographs released today concentrate on the deployment of the Apollo lunar experiment package near the landing craft Intrepid.

One view shows Bean standing alone—completely alone—where no man before had trod. There is nothing and no one else within view and the complete emptiness of the lunar surface is stunning.

A trick of light forms an unexplained blue halo about his startling white suit. Beyond him is only the flat lunar horizon and the blackness of space.

Other views show Bean working with special tools to remove the atomic element which powers the experiment package and carrying the experiments, like barbells, across the pocked pitted surface.

The views of him walking show a cloud of dust being kicked up by his feet. It seems to cling to his spacesuit.

The astronauts also took close-up photos of rocks and features on the moon. Two views are of the unexplained mounds of soil that fascinated them so during their eight hours of walk-

Clean Air Petitions Short At Deadline

Two-Month Extension Allowance

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — The first deadline in a statewide drive to qualify two tough air pollution control measures for the 1970 ballot has passed with the drive short of the required numbers of signatures.

The chairman of the drive, Edwin A. Koupal, reported today that "we're near the 300,000 mark" on each measure.

One measure, a constitutional amendment, requiring 527,000 signatures to qualify, would put the cost of eliminating pollution on the sources instead of on taxpayers and consumers.

The other, a statute revision to the state health and safety code requiring 325,000 signatures to qualify, would give polluters five years to end pollution.

Koupal estimated that 18 to 20

BRANDT CRITICIZED

West Germany Joins U.S., Russ In Pact

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt's West German government unanimously decided today to sign the treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

West German Ambassador Helmut Allardt immediately signed it in Moscow and Brandt told a news conference that Bonn's ambassadors to Washington and London will add their signatures later in the day. The U.S.S.R. and the U.S. recently ratified the treaty.

The action by Brandt's Socialist-led government came after nearly three years of public controversy during which some Germans claimed the treaty would cut off this country from the benefits of nuclear research and thus from 20th Century technology.

The opposition Christian Democratic party immediately assailed the government's decision as "too hasty" and irresponsible under the present circumstances.

Brandt, in making the announcement, said modifications demanded by West Germany and other nonnuclear states during the past three years succeeded in guaranteeing both the peaceful uses of nuclear energy and West Germany's security.

"There can be no talk of too much haste in signing or of a kind of 'super-Versailles,'" Brandt said, referring to the World War I German surrender that is generally regarded as a sellout in this country.

Brandt said concurrently with signing the treaty, his government is sending notes to all states with whom it has diplomatic relations, giving its interpretation. The main points of the note are:

West Germany is signing

Saigon Refuses Coalition

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government repeated today that it will never accept a coalition government in any form or grant territorial concessions to the Viet Cong.

The Foreign Affairs Ministry issued a statement to clear up what it termed a misunderstanding of remarks by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge after the 44th meeting of the Paris peace talks Wednesday.

Lodge had told newsmen the United States would be willing to talk to Hanoi about a new coalition government in South Vietnam, but stipulated that the Saigon government would have to ratify any agreement on this or any other question.

The Foreign Affairs Ministry said: "What resulted in the misunderstanding of Ambassador Cabot Lodge's statement by public opinion derived from the fact that the Vietnamese and American governments in their devotion to search for peace, have emphasized their readiness to discuss whatever problems are initiated by the other side. However, we will never accept coalition under whatever form and territorial concession to the Communists."

The Foreign Affairs Ministry statement said that "the Republic of South Vietnam's good will for an honorable solution to the Vietnam problem was spelled out in President Nguyen Van Thieu's July 11 six-point message," which called for free elections rather than coalition.

Weinberger To Seek Consumer Protection

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Caspar W. Weinberger says he is determined to make the Federal Trade Commission a tool for the average consumer to get a fair deal at the grocery store or the repair shop.

"I think the public in general doesn't know any idea of the functions of the FTC," Weinberger said during an interview in the Capitol office where he is working up his work as state finance director.

Weinberger will take over as FTC commission chairman about Jan. 1. He was confirmed by the Senate last week.

Weinberger said he hopes the commission can "rid itself of much of the red tape which has burdened it over the years."

Weinberger, 32, a San Francisco lawyer, said he intends to use the FTC's 11 field offices for mobilizing task forces that will "go out in the communities and find out what are some of the consumer fraud practices and see what we can do to eliminate them."

He added that "we're not just going out on Main Street and into every supermarket," but will concentrate on working with local and state governments to see that consumers are armed with the information they need to make wise and safe purchases.

The biggest problem is that of the businessman who tells half truths or fibs to the facts, Weinberger said.

As an example, a store may advertise a product as "so many cents off the regular price when there never was a regular price," he said.

Weinberger said he hopes to convince businessmen that full truth in labeling, advertising and selling will inspire "much greater confidence in the private enterprise system."

TRADITIONAL THANKSGIVING

The Indian colonizers of Alcatraz Island, including this young brave from Nogales, New Mexico, feasted yesterday on Thanksgiving turkey and trimmings. And all the tribes in all the lands send up the song for victory and peace." (UPI Telephoto)

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Canadian Debate

OTTAWA — AP: Canadians staged rallies, fasts and marches yesterday in a nationwide campaign to urge that government do something about the starvation and suffering caused by the Nigeria-Biafra civil war. Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said during a day-long debate in Biafra in the House of Commons that neither Canada nor any other multiracial African country should interfere in the war.

But Andrew Brewin, National Democratic party member from Ontario who opened debate on a motion asking the government to support relief efforts, called Canada's refusal to do so "legalistic rather than realistic."

Reds Place Blame

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam said today that President Richard M. Nixon and former President Lyndon B. Johnson share the responsibility for the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians by U.S. soldiers at My Lai.

The North Vietnamese News Agency, quoting the official Hanoi newspaper Nhan Dan, said Nixon was trying to shift the blame to Johnson by claiming the incident "took place before he came into office." It reportedly took place in March 1968.

Viet Cong Surrender

SAIGON (AP) — Nine Viet Cong, leading 73 Montagnard villagers whom they had held in forced labor, have surrendered to American forces near Song Be, 75 miles north of Saigon, the U.S. army said today.

It quoted one Viet Cong as saying they had defected not only "because of voices from the sky, airborne propaganda broadcasts and the leaflets which told us we would be well treated, but because the artillery and air strikes in the area frightened us."

The Army said that the area from which they defected Wednesday had been a target of "intensive psychological operations" for several days.

San Francisco Attack Cases Double In Year

SAN FRANCISCO — (UPI) Rape cases more than doubled and homicide increased 75 per cent in San Francisco for the first 10 months of 1969, as compared to the same period a year ago, according to Police Chief Thomas Cahill.

The chief released statistics Sunday which showed an increase in all seven major categories of crime. The report was made shortly after a motel clerk was shot to death in the city's 132nd murder this year, compared to 98 during 1968.

Ghana Crackdown

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Immigration offices in Ghana are under virtual siege as streams of aliens, many of whose grandparents came here more than a generation ago, try to get residence permits that will allow them to stay in the country after Dec. 2.

More than 2.5 million persons, mostly from Nigeria, Mali, Togo and Upper Volta, are affected by a recent government order that they either get the permits or get out.

Shooting Described

WINTERTHUR, Switzerland (AP) — An Israeli secret service agent told a Swiss court today that it was a case of kill or be killed when he was confronted by an armed Arab commando after the attack on an El Al jetliner at Zurich airport Feb. 18.

Mordechai Rachamin, 28, is charged with homicide under extenuating circumstances after allegedly shooting an Arab, Abdel Mensen. The trial began yesterday.

Defense Outlay Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense spending rose to $80.3 billion during July, August and September, the Commerce Department reports.

Asst. Secretary Harold C. Passer added that defense purchases of goods and services during the third quarter increased $1.8 billion on a seasonally adjusted rate, primarily due to a pay hike.

Swedes Protest

GOTHENBURG, Sweden (AP) — City leaders in this Swedish port said today they will protest plans to close the U.S. consulate here.

Hans Hansson, chairman of the city council, said the consulate is America's oldest. He said it was established by George Washington in 1790 "as a gesture of approval when Sweden recognized the newly formed American government, the first country to do so."

He said the decision to close the consulate "to cut down U.S. foreign spending," has started speculation that "this is another retaliation for the $45 million in Swedish aid to Hanoi."

Israel Tests Plane

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel's first home-built aircraft, the Arava, made its maiden test flight yesterday at Lod international airport, Israel aviation industries reported today.

The plane, a 20-passenger, $400,000 short take-off and landing type (STOL) was designed and built entirely in Israel. It took three years to complete, a company spokesman said.

Raids Over Suez

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes twice raided Egyptian war targets on the Suez Canal today, the military command announced. The strikes lasted three hours altogether and the planes returned safely a spokesman said.

AFTER TWO WEEKS

Both Sides Determined In SALT Negotiations

HELSINKI (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators wound up two weeks of secret arms curb talks today in what was described as a favorable atmosphere despite a smattering of caustic comment from Moscow.

Today's session was the fifth private discussion between the two sides since the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) opened Nov. 17.

Conference sources estimated after today's meeting that the negotiators still have another week or two of discussions ahead before ending the preliminary round at Helsinki. The next stage is supposed to be full-scale negotiations.

A news blackout on how the talks are going prevailed again today as it has since the meetings began. By joint agreement, spokesmen for the two sides are saying nothing beyond announcing the meeting times.

The American team, headed by Gerard C. Smith, feels that the talks have been marked so far by a good atmosphere and apparent Kremlin seriousness.

In Washington, Secretary of State William P. Rogers says the U.S. delegates told him earlier this week that their preliminary exchanges were "the best of any discussions they have had with the Soviet Union."

Soviet sources here have indicated that the Russians are also satisfied with the talks. But the government-controlled Soviet press has expressed no strong support for SALT and has been blaming Western "militarists" for the arms buildup.

The government newspaper Izvestia commented favorably yesterday on the "businesslike manner" of the talks, but claimed that the U.S. military-industrial complex" is endangering them.

The Soviet Defense Ministry newspaper Red Star published another statement in Moscow today that seemed designed to counter any tendency toward military relaxation engendered by the disarmament talks.

A group of young army officers adopted a resolution saying that "the imperialist aggressors are preparing a new war against the Soviet Union" and its allies, and declaring that "the Soviet armed forces are always in military readiness" to meet the threat.

Sources here suggested several possible reasons for these critical undertones. They said the Kremlin might be warning the United States that it will not sell out at Helsinki, or might be trying to assure its allies and the Soviet public that it is standing firm, or both.

Arab Bomber's Father Is 'Proud And Pleased'

AMMAN (UPI)—The father of an Arab guerrilla accused of tossing a hand grenade into an Israeli airline office in Athens, injuring 16 persons, said today he was "proud and pleased" at his son's action.

"My wife is even more proud," declared Yusi Der-Garabetian, a 50-year-old tailor, in an interview with UPI.

Elias Der-Garabetian, 23, was arrested in Athens yesterday moments after the hand grenade was hurled into an El Al office as passengers were checking in for a flight to New York.

Friends of the young Der-Garabetian said they believed he was partly influenced by injuries suffered by his uncle in fighting after the June 1967 war.

Family friends said Sarkis Der-Garabetian, 42, lost his right arm and suffered eye injuries on March 21, 1968, when Israeli tanks launched an attack at As-Safi, four miles south of the Dead Sea. The Israelis blew up a water pump and destroyed a well on the uncle's 200-acre farm and he had since been forced to give it up, they said.

The friends described Elias Der-Garabetian as "excitable and emotional" and said they believed the incident deeply affected him.

The father—whose first name is Armenian for "revenge"—said the first he knew of his son's connections was the news of his arrest.

"I was very shocked, but when I got over that, I realized what he had done and was pleased by it and proud of him."

Dynamite Car Trouble

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A cocktail waitress was alive today only because whoever attached five sticks of dynamite to her car neglected to connect a wire.

Alice Lucille Gilder, 22, told police that when she left work yesterday she had trouble starting her car. When it finally started, the engine missed badly.

She drove to a service station and the attendant lifted the hood to reveal a tangle of wires connected to the distributor and five sticks of dynamite. He called police.

"If one more connection had been made, the ticks would have exploded," an officer said.

A bomb squad from Mather Air Force Base dismantled the device.

Builders And Homebuyers Get Bad News

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average effective mortgage rate for new homes rose to 8.22 per cent in October, continuing an upward spiral for the 11th straight month.

The Federal Home and Loan Bank Board reported the bad news for homebuyers and the construction industry yesterday.

There was a wide range in rates charged across the country with the highest average of 8.33 per cent in Seattle, Wash. This was a jump of about 1¼ per cent over a year earlier.

The San Francisco Bay Area also had a high rate of 8.37 per cent.

On the other end of the scale, Philadelphia, Pa., had an average effective rate of 7.87 per cent.

The board's report shows life insurance companies charged an average 8.48 per cent and mortgage companies were right behind at 8.45 per cent on their new home loans.

Preston Martin, chairman of the board, said the curtailed supply of money mortgage funds at a time when housing is in strong demand accounted for the continued rise in October.

One of the problems, the report said, is that investors were taking their money out of savings and loan institutions which provide mortgages and putting their funds where they can earn a higher interest.

Plates Stolen

The license plates were stolen Wednesday or yesterday from a car owned by James B. Gulles while it was either parked in front of his home at 215 Bayview Street or in Hayward, San Rafael police reported today.

AFL-CIO Call Boycott Against General Electric

NEW YORK (UPI) — The AFL-CIO began a nationwide boycott against the General Electric Co. today to press for settlement of a five-week strike by 13 unions.

The boycott was the first to be initiated by the 13.6 million-member labor organization although it presently is supporting boycotts by the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee against California grapes and by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters against products of Iowa Beef Packers, Inc.

Boycott committees will picket G.E. and Hotpoint service and consumer outlets throughout the nation and distribute information about the strike against the nation's fourth largest industrial corporation.

GE has said the boycott will hinder negotiations and delay a settlement of the contract dispute involving 147,000 workers. Negotiations are scheduled to resume Monday when the strike enters its sixth week.

No progress has been reported in the talks. The union seeks wage increases of 35 cents an hour in the first year, 30 cents in the second and 25 cents in the third. GE has offered a 20-cent increase in the first year with provision to renegotiate wages in each of the next two years.

The boycott against GE, the nation's largest producer of electrical equipment and a major maker of electronic and atomic energy equipment, could influence bargaining next year in the trucking and automobile industries and have an impact on the Nixon administration's anti-inflation policies. It also will test the effectiveness of the leadership of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Drill Sergeants Stripped Of Rank

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (UPI) —Two sergeants were stripped of their drill instructor status at Parris Island training center Wednesday when an investigation revealed they had mistreated a Marine recruit who had a fatal kidney illness.

The Marine Corps said the actions of Gunnery Sgt. J.L. Payne and S.Sgt. G.G. Thompson, however, in no way contributed to the death of 18-year-old Pvt. Stephen E. Melson of Millsboro, Del. Melson died in South Carolina Medical University Center Hospital Sept. 21 of chronic kidney failure.

The investigation showed there was evidence that drill personnel and other recruits harassed Melson. Payne, in addition to losing rank, was ordered to forfeit $300 for violating guidelines. A third instructor was cleared in the case.

Consumer Group Names Brown

Kenneth B. Brown, director of Marin County's weights and measures department, has been elected treasurer of a new consumer protection organization formed by sealers of weights and measures for 10 Northern California counties.

Called the Consumer Officials Association, it will serve as a watchdog for consumers. When necessary, it will report violations to the local district attorney.

Gene Smith, San Mateo County's director of weights and measures and president of the organization, said a complaining consumer could notify the organization, which would investigate the complaint.

Sealers chores include checking scales in stores and testing the octane content of gasoline. The organization was formed last week in San Mateo.

Campaign Continues For Pollution Petitions

per cent of the signatures would be disqualified from the petitions by county clerks for failing to match voter records. The first deadline for submission of the petitions was Wednesday, but Koupal told the Independent-Journal that his group, People's Lobby Inc. of Hollywood, also would use the 60-day supplementary period provided by state law to continue circulating petitions.

(In Marin, 5,041 signatures were filed in support of the constitutional amendment, and 4,699 for the statute revision. Marin's share of the statewide petition requirements is about 5,600 an 3,500 signatures, respectively.

(Marin's election officer, Peter C. Meyer, said the number of signatures on the petitions was the largest number filed for any petition in his four years in the elections office The 1968 drive to require gun registration in the county got about 7,500 signatures, he noted.)

Koupal said there was "no question" that enough signatures will be gathered to qualify the statute revision. "And if we duplicate our effort, we'll bring in the (constitutional amendment) too."

He said that the statewide drive had cost under $3,000, adding, "This is the first people initiative." Other initiatives have been bankrolled by special interests, he said.

Koupal said the 300,000 signatures were reported to him by chairmen in the 35 counties where the drive is being conducted. While the first part of the drive nominally had 90 days, he said, in most counties the drive was organized only 40 to 50 days ago.

County clerks have until Dec. 17 to report results of the first batch of petitions to the secretary of state. The deadline for filing the second set of petitions with county clerks is Jan. 26, Koupal said.

He added that about 50,000 signatures probably were not turned in by Wednesday's deadline. Under state law they cannot be counted with the signatures gathered during the 60-day supplementary drive, but Koupal said his organization would test this provision in court.

"It's a beautiful thing," he said of the drive's first results.

The drive was without opposition during most of the first 90 days, but now faces strong opposition from several sources. Opposing it are the Sierra Club, staff, air pollution control district officials, and, presumably, industry.

And in Marin, the Marin Conservation League is opposing the measures. The critics contend that the measures are impossible to enforce, and that they would undermine existing state controls on pollution.

The chairman of the iniative drive in Marin, Mrs. E. P. Franklin of Fairfax, is seeking to have the district attorney issue a complaint against the president of the Marin Conservation League, Harold E. Gregg of Forest Knolls. She alleges that Gregg violated the election code barring interference in the signing of a petition. But the district attorney's office has said it finds no evidence to support the charge.

Gregg, in the name of the league, ran an advertisement in last Friday's Independent-Journal suggesting people remove their names from petitions backing the constitutional amendment. He termed the measure "unconstitutional and unenforceable."

been arrested by military authorities and flown to Korea to face a murder charge after he had gone back to civilian life.

Some lawyers contended that the 1955 Supreme court action only invalidated one section of the military justice code, a section they say is entirely apart from the two clauses now under study.

A military commission approach figures in the thinking of government lawyers. As commander in chief, they say, President Richard M. Nixon could establish such a commission to try former soldiers accused of war crimes.

Bank Of America Building Architect Admits Mistake

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Was the concept of the towering new Bank of America building here a great big mistake?

Architect Nathaniel Owings, whose firm of Skidmore, Owings & Merrill helped design the 52-store structure, said Tuesday he thought so. A Bank of America spokesman disagreed.

Owings spoke as a panel member at the 13th national conference of the U.S. Commission for UNESCO, the (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

"What we need in our cities is people," he declared. "Now you tell me what the Bank of America building has to do with one little human being.

"We could have put apartments for people on top of that building and put a vineyard in front and maybe a carnival. That's what California Street needs."

"We think that by and large the building is fulfilling its role as an interesting piece of architecture," he said. "That huge plaza down in front and the smaller one in back don't strike me as non-people areas, especially when you see them used at noon."

ing the moon. The mounds rise 5 feet, and seem to be like a pile of sand, dumped there by a truck.

A picture shot slightly into the sun shows just how close the lunar module landed beside a crater. One foot pad of the moon vehicle seems only a few feet from the lip of a large crater, presumably the one containing the Surveyor 5 spacecraft that preceded Apollo 12 to the moon.

The eclipse view shows a black silhouette that is earth choking off the sun. As the light dies, it bursts into space with blues and reds and pinks and pure white rimming the earth.

The view is as old as earth and sun, but Apollo 12 was the first space flight to put man and cameras in the right location in space to capture the scene on film.

The short film, a compilation of scenes taken throughout the 10-day Apollo 12 flight, also includes views of Conrad walking on the moon.

size of a fist, has a strong fracture in it," said Dr. William Greenwood, a space agency geologist. "It has irregular glassy coating on the two sides that I can see."

Greenwood said this "open" crack in the rock was unlike anything in the Apollo 11 samples. Dr. David Carrier, another observer, said the strange specimen came from bench crater at Apollo 12's landing site.

Scientists also began opening a core tube the astronauts drove into the lunar surface during their first moonwalk.

From this subsurface material — taken two feet or more beneath the lunar surface — biologists hope to extract a lunar sample—practically uncontaminated by the moon landing and by the laboratory handling—to use in their search for lunar organisms, perhaps protected from solar radiation by being underground.

Chess Proves Valuable Aid For Youngsters

A manufacturer says it has been used in many elementary schools not only to teach arithmetic, but drawing, spelling, history and early social science.

A child between 4 and 8 years old is ready to learn to play chess.

The firm says it was invented centuries ago to entertain and challenge Indian rajahs.

The game, which once required 150 to 200 moves, now can be played in about 60 moves. It helps to lengthen the child's attention span through concentration as well as develop perception through move relationships.

Closed Session Set

GI Casualties In Viet War Hit 300,000

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. battlefield casualties in nearly nine years of the Vietnam War reached the 300,000 mark this week and nearly half of them occurred in the 18 months since the Paris peace talks began, official sources said today.

On the battlefield, communiques said fighting was light. The Viet Cong ambushed 300 South Vietnamese troops in the Mekong Delta and killed 36 men and wounded 12.

The U.S. Command reported 32 enemy rocket and shelling attacks during the night in which seven Americans were wounded. A spokesman said U.S. troops killed 47 enemy in battles near the demilitarized zone and south of Da Nang yesterday. Two Americans were killed and 18 were wounded in these clashes.

The U.S. Command casualty figures for the period from Jan. 1, 1961, through last Saturday showed 39,572 Americans killed in action, 258,779 wounded and 1,341 missing or captured.

While these figures total 299,692, officials said they do not include at least 308 Americans who have been killed or wounded from Sunday through today, and this puts total casualties over the 300,000 mark.

The U.S. Command said 6,995 U.S. troops have died in Vietnam from accidents and other causes "not as the result of hostile action."

In the same nine-year period, according to official figures, 575,249 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have been killed.

Since the peace talks in Paris began May 13, 1968, official statistics show that 16,620 Americans have been killed and another 113,997 wounded.

The Vietnam war has become the third costliest foreign war for the United States, surpassed only by the two world wars.

In Saigon, a former special assistant to President Nguyen Van Thieu and 42 other South Vietnamese went on trial today for treason.

Thirteen of the defendants in the biggest subversion trial in South Vietnam's history are women. Thieu's former assistant, Nguyen Van Kinh, surprised observers when he admitted in testimony that he had been a member of the Communist party since 1949.

AMERICAN'S DEATH

Brazil Says Communists Were Behind Assassination

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian political police have concluded their investigation of the assassination of a U.S. Army captain here last year and have turned the case over to the courts for trial.

One of the two men who police say shot and killed Capt. Charles R. Chandler was killed by police in a shootout in January. The other is in custody, along with the driver of a small car used for their getaway.

Chandler, 30, was shot down in the driveway of his home Oct. 12, 1968. A Vietnam war veteran, he was detached from the Army and studying at the University of Sao Paulo. Leaflets found at the shooting scene proclaimed that the killers were followers of Castro-communism and called Chandler a "war criminal."

A legal brief turned over to a military court by the police says the killing had its origins in Havana since those responsible were followers of the concept of armed revolution in Latin America espoused by the Tricontinental Congress and the Continental Organization of Latin American Students.

It charges the slaying was plotted by former Brazilian Communist leader Carlos Marighela and nine other known terrorists. One of those implicated is Onofre Pinto, one of the 15 political prisoners freed by the Brazilian government as ransom for kidnaped American Ambassador Charles Burke Elbrick in September. Pinto is now in Cuba. Marighela was killed in a police ambush in Sao Paulo Nov. 5.

The police statement says Chandler's killing was originally set for Oct. 8, 1968, first anniversary of the death of Cuban revolutionary hero Ernesto "Che" Guevara. It was then put off until Oct. 11 and finally carried out Oct. 12, the statement said.

Chandler, the father of four, was from Arcadia, La.

Housing Panel Members Sought

Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce has issued a call for citizens to serve on a special citizens committee to study low income housing in Marin.

The board of supervisors will appoint five citizens on Dec. 9 to serve on the 30-member panel. Other members will be named by the 11 Marin cities and the Marin County Housing Authority.

Bruce said citizens interested in serving on the special committee should write to the clerk of the board of supervisors at the Civic Center.

Dr. Sheppard Fined For Driving

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI)—Dr. Sam Sheppard, the Cleveland, Ohio osteopath who became a professional wrestler, has been fined $165 in police court for reckless driving.

Sheppard, who was in town for a wrestling match, Wednesday paid $65 on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and $100 for reckless driving.

Sheppard became famous in the sensational murder of his first wife. His conviction in the killing was subsequently overturned by the U.S. Supreme Court, which cited prejudicial publicity. Sheppard proclaimed his innocence throughout.

Vet Registration Deadline Is Set

Disabled veterans of the Vietnam War must register by Monday to take advantage of a special educational program at Napa College, James V. Burdick, veterans service officer for the County of Marin announced yesterday.

Veterans with any degree of disability will be provided with a room, food, medical and dental treatment at the Veterans Home in Yountville while they attend classes at the nearby college.

Costs incurred by students enrolling in the Spring semester starting Feb. 2 would be for transportation, student body fees and books, Burdick said.

Deputy Overlooks Nudity In 'Hair'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A sheriff's deputy attended the Las Vegas premiere of the rock musical "Hair" Wednesday but made no arrests though most of the 31 performers appeared on stage nude.

Undersheriff Lloyd Bell said he would write a report on the play for Dist. Atty. George Franklin, who could issue warrants if he wished. Bell declined comment on what he thought of the show.

Franklin said he had expected deputies to arrest anyone who appeared on the stage completely nude.

"It's not a matter of censorship," he said, "I have no choice but to enforce the state law against indecent exposure."

Magazine Traces Mail To San Anselmo Goal

As part of a nationwide test of the U.S. mails, Life Magazine has tracked a letter from Boston to San Anselmo. The 2,800-mile journey took 22 hours.

A minute-by-minute account of the trip — watched by a Life reporter and photographer — appears in the magazine's Nov. 28 issue.

The letter, mailed in front of the John F. Kennedy Federal Building in Boston, wound up in the flower-decorated mailbox of Jack Fincher, a Life writer, who lives at 40 Park Way in San Anselmo.

Life said the letter was handled 30 separate times on its journey via conveyor belt, canvas sack, plane, truck and mail bag.

The magazine also mailed letters to and from 22 other U.S. communities and found that "at worst, mail service is intolerably slow." Life said, "It may take as many as seven days for airmail to travel between Minneapolis and Williamsville, N.Y., seven days between Honolulu and Montgomery, Ala., and nine days between Washington, D.C., and Seattle."

Speed Smuggler Sent To Prison

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "Twenty three thousand amphetamines is a lot of misery for a lot of young kids," a federal judge said yesterday when he sentenced a Sacramento man convicted of smuggling that many of the dangerous drug tablets.

"It's a ghastly thing to be involved in such traffic," U.S. District Judge George H. Boldt, visiting jurist from Tacoma, Wash., said as he sentenced Leonard Vaught, 26, to 18-months in federal prison and fined him $1,000.

Vaught was arrested last May in connection with the seizure of the tablets which authorities said were smuggled into the United States last Dec. 29.

Drug Importer Gets Ten Years

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A Honolulu man was sentenced to 10 years in federal prison and fined $5,000 Wednesday for his part in the smuggling of 28 pounds of marijuana from Mexico into California.

Earl Kim, 37, was ordered to serve the term after he completes another five-year federal prison term he is serving for possessing a sawed-off military carbine.

A federal judge said Kim, who had been convicted in the weapons case and sentenced in Hawaii, apparently was the leader of a narcotics smuggling operation in which four other persons were arrested at the San Ysidro border crossing May 17.

Doctors Separate Siamese Twin Girls

BOSTON (AP) — Siamese twin girls separated in a 10½-hour operation emerged from the surgery in very good condition but doctors caution they face "many possible complications over the next few weeks."

Among these are "the hazards of infection and nutritional problems," a spokesman at Massachusetts General Hospital said.

The twins were born by Caesarean section to an unidentified woman Sunday in Danvers and were separated Wednesday night.

The outcome of the surgery marked only the 17th time in recorded medical history that Siamese twins have survived such an operation.

The spokesman said one infant suffered a heart stoppage during the surgery but massage restored the heart beat without any apparent injury.

The twins shared an intestinal system insufficient to meet the needs of both, so that immediate surgery was necessary, doctors said.

"This deficiency required use of plastic material to create a temporary abdominal wall. This will be removed by degrees during several subsequent operations throughout the next two weeks."

The twins were joined from the lower chest through the abdomen to the pelvis. Their livers also were joined.

Innocent Pleas In Street Fracas

Two young Marin City women arrested after a street corner fracas in San Rafael Saturday peaded innocent Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court to various misdemeanor charged.

A jury trial was set for Dec. 15 for Stella Louise Johnson, 21, and Cora Lee Johnson, 20.

Stella Johnson is accused of petty theft, and disturbing the peace. Cora Lee Johnson is charged with petty theft, disturbing the peace and resisting arrest.

The fracas started when a Macy's security guard attempted to stop the two for suspected shoplifting. A fight ensued and police were called to the scene as a crowd of about 250 persons gathered.

Little Girl Dies Suddenly

The 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson of Corte Madera was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 12:46 p.m. yesterday after taking suddenly ill at the family home at 733 Robin Drive.

Marin County Coroner's Investigator said that the child, Tracy, was at first thought to have got hold of medicine prescribed for her mother, Lois, but that an autopsy would be performed.

Tracy's father, is serving in Vietnam and his return is to be sought through the Red Cross, according to Craig.

THANKSGIVING SURPRISE FOR AIRPORT STAFF

SAN MATEO (AP) — Two gasoline station attendants provided an unexpected Thanksgiving Day bonus for customers and friends at San Francisco International Airport.

In a back room they provided turkey, hot pies, cakes and other foodstuffs.

"There are a lot of lonely cab drivers, stewardesses and other people around here on a holiday and we wanted them to enjoy it," said Mike Cuetufelli.

Both he and the other attendant, Jerry Marshall, are 19 years old and San Mateo College students.

30,000 Pilots Threaten Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — About 30,000 airline pilots have threatened to walk off their jobs if a new physical examination proposed by the Federal Aviation Administration is adopted.

The walkout would "bring U.S. air travel to a virtual halt," said Pan American Airways Capt. Sidney Kerr, regional head of the Air Line Pilots Association Wednesday.

He reported the ALPA executive board decided unanimously for a strike to being within seven days if the FAA begins requiring the "master two-step" test.

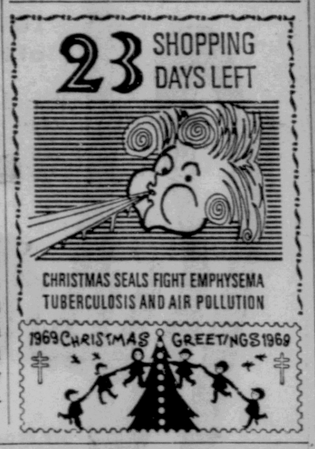
It involves a succession of exercises and rest periods where heart reactions are measured.

Kerr said the testing is "not sufficiently conclusive, yet it raises the possibility of grounding pilots over age 50."

Italian Divorce Bill Is Gaining

ROME (AP) — The Chamber of Deputies tonight approved all the individual articles of a bill which would legalize divorce for the first time in Roman Catholic Italy. The chamber was due to vote on the bill as a whole later in the evening.

The bill then goes to the Senate for final action. The Senate is expected to act on it and virtually sure to adopt it by January.



Marine Predicts Viet Massacre

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An immedate American pullout of South Vietnam could result in a mass Communist murder of "two million people at least," Gen Lewis W. Walt, assistant commandant of the Marine Corps, said Wednesday.

"I have every confidence there would be a bloodbath," Walt told a news conference.

He said that "had we had complete unity of the people" instead of dissent "the war would be over now."

Walt said of the Marines withdrawn from Vietnam and now based on Okinawa that he talked to "seven out of 10 wanted to see if there was any way they could get back down to Vietnam."

Walt held the news conference on return from a 12-day inspection of Marine forces in Southeast Asia and the Pacific.

Report Cards Group Will Tell Findings

A committee studying changes in report cards in the Fairfax School District will report at a district board meeting at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the district office.

The board authorized a change in report cards in two classrooms this year as a pilot program. In the lower grades participating, conferences are being used and in the upper graded, students are rated on specific skills in each subject.

Youths Climb Block To Closed Overpass

The new pedestrian overpass linking Coleman School and Lincoln Avenue has not been opened, but youngsters have been using it illegally, climbing over a barricade to cross, according to the state Division of Highways.

The major reason it has not been opened is safety, a division spokesman said. He said the west exit is near the railroad tracks and a sidewalk has been constructed from the exit to Paloma Avenue. A chain link fence will be constructed on both sides of the sidewalk to protect the youngsters, with work scheduled to be completed next week.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Indonesian Cuisine Coming In New San Rafael Restaurant

Many times I have been asked there is a Marin restaurant rving Indonesian food — to hich I have had to answer in e negative.

Fortuanately, it appears that is will soon be changed.

The Rice Table, an Indonesi-n-type dinery, is scheduled to pen either Dec. 6 or on the fol-wing Saturday night at 1617 ourth Street, San Rafael. This a project of Mrs. Leonie Hool f San Rafael Meadows, an In-onesian whose father owned a estaurant in Java.

It will be a small place, with robably no more than a dozen ables. Present plans call for inner service five days a week om about 5:30 to 10 p.m.Days f closing have not yet been de-ided upon.

Prices will be in the moderate ange, with complete dinners at 2.49, $2.95, and $4.95. There wil e a "complete rice rable," fea-uring some 24 different dishes t $10 per person. Reservations or this will have to be made in dvance.

Later there will ba a wine and eer license.

QUICK SERVICE RESTAU-RANTS and take-out food opera-ions continue to gain in popu-arity.

For the most part Americans re not inclined to linger over heir food the way Europeans lo. They want fast service, pal-atable food and a small check. f atmosphere and scenery can lso be had, they are so much whipped cream on the cake.

Newest establishment of this-ind to spring up in Marin is at 40 Redwood Highway, just orth of the heliport in Sausali-o. Called The Fishnet, work till has to be done on an en-losed rear deck designed to eat about 150 persons. There s inside counter and some table service and a large open outside deck for on-the-premises eating.

As the name suggest, the menu consists of seafood — crab, lobster, fish and chips, lobster and chips and so on. Present hours are from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. These will be length-ened on weekends when an ap-plication for a wine and beer li-cense has been approved.

The Fish Net is a corporation with several principals. In charge here and vice president is Frank Beeman Jr. of Sausali-to, whose specialty has been seafood for a number of years.

RELOCATION of the snack bar at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael is ex-pected to be completed by Mon-day.

This is being moved near the entrance of the dining room, where owner Eugene Lacken-bach is starting a new menu op-eration. From Monday on he will feature a variety of ham-burgers — plain, international and exotic — in addition to the regular breakfast and lunch menu.

There will be no regular din-ner menu and the same ham-burgers plus steak sandwiches will be available during evening hours. Chinese dinners are being discontinued and chef Al Louie will leave at the end of this week. Louie has not made any definite plans but as a pop-ular Marin chef of many years standing he has had a munber of offers.

I WAS WRONG about the en-tree at McKee's eighth anniver-sary dinner for next Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

The fare will not be spaghetti, but probably roast beef, ham and maybe something else. But the price I quoted was right — $1.75 with wine included, served form 5 to 9 p.m. both evenings.

Fary Schneider will play the Baldwin organ both evenings and provide entertainment.

Rene's work should be of par-ticular interest. For 14 years she was blind. Last February she told her husband she was able to see a little light. An ad-ditional improvement started her amazing hobby. Using bin-oculars on the meadows and hills of Fairfax, Rene paints ex-actly what she sees. She uses a magnifying glass to transfer her work to canvas and mixes her paints on the tip of her brush. I understand Readers Digest has indicated interest in a possible story.

With New Year's Eve at Rubi-ni's always a sell-out, diners who plan on going there to cele-brate are urged to make their reservations early.

ORGANIST JEAN DEN-NING, who has long been a pop-ular entertainer at Marin County restaurants, will soon leave this area for the East Coast with her new husband Eu-gene (another Gene) Rea. Jean's family home in Mary-land is the oldset house in that state, dating back to the 17th Century. Jean and Gene plan to settle there, fix up the home and take on additional acreage.

DINERS-OUT who plan on visiting Manka's Czech Restau-rant at Inverness Lodge had better do so this weekend if they expect to be served this year.

Milan Prokupek Jr. and his wife Judy will again take their annual winter sports vacation during December and after this weekend will close for almost the entire month, returning Dec. 30.

NOW FEATURED tonight and tomorrow night at the Lion's Share at 60 Red Hill Avenue on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is Booker (Bukka) White, tradi-tional blues entertainer. With him is the Mendelbaum Modern Blues Band

OUT OF TOWN, the name Pe-trini's has been added to a new operation besides meats and markets. You'll now find a Pe-trini's Restaurant at Ninth Ave-nue and South Claremont in San Mateo, where Dell'Osso's used to be.

Staff principals include chef Albert Marty, formerly with the Mark Hopkins Hotel and Trader Vic's; Walter Maeder, maitre d', who was with Ernie's more than 12 years; and Tony Zemp, manager, who also served at Ernie's for many years. Frank Petrini, president, is head of the entire operation.

THIS HAS BEEN an unusual-ly good fall season for North Coast restaurants. Rain has held off, except for moderate showers and coastal fogs usual-ly have dissipated by early aft-ernoon.

Such places as the Sea Ranch on the Sonoma Coast and Little River Inn up Mendocino way are enjoying good weekend busi-ness.

However, there's one little place at Albion I must com-mend — and it's not even a res-tuarant, but a church. This is the Albion Presbyterian Chapel, whose members frequently get together and put on a $1 dinner that would make both mom and the dineries envious. If you get a change to attend one, do so.

We were there last Friday night, on a trip looking over some property, at the invitation of Mary Alyce Seubert. She and her husband Gregory, who have a home in Albion, operate Greg-ory's Restaurant in Corte Made-ra. Trust them to know good food when they eat it — even at a place besides their own.

Food And Toys For Needy Being Sought In Petaluma

Food and toys for needy fam-ilies will be gathered in Petalu-ma beginning Dec. 8 by the Pet-aluma Coordinating Council.

The project, known as the Community Christmas Cheer Program, it is headed by Rev. John Jaster. Canned and pack-aged foods, toys and even cash donations may be taken to the Cheer headquarters at 260 Peta-luma Boulevard North daily from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The Newcomer's Club will be in charge of soliciting new toys for the project.

Organizations or individuals wishing to sponsor a family with food baskets should contact Reverend Jaster. He said that volunteers are being sought to sort, pack and deliver the Christmas packages.

Tamalpais Board To Review Plans

Plans for choosing a perma-nent superintendent will be dis-cussed when the Tamalpais High School District board meets at 8 p.m. Monday in the district office.

The board will hear a report on progress by the Next Step Analysis committee, which is preparing an outline of selection procedures and criteria.

The board also will hear a re-port from Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey on implementation of a new athletic department poli-cy passed Nov. 10 by the board following the long controversy over athletes' grooming and hair length.

Distillery Development Plan Passes Hurdle

Plans for a 431-unit apartment development on the old Ameri-can Distillery property on the Sausalito city line have received general approval from the Sau-salito Community Appearances Advisory Board, city planner H. Eric Borgwardt reported.

The Whiskey Springs develop-ment, planned by the Duffell and Smoot building firm of La-fayette, will go to the city plan-ning commission next week.

Borgwardt said the CAAB re-quested at its meeting Wednes-day that a proposed four-story above-ground parking garage be lowered to three floors. The CAAB also withheld architectur-al approval of the develop-ment's building design until more detailed plans are submit-ted.

Four of the five board mem-bers felt more materials such as wood or shingles should be in-corporated into the design to re-lieve the monotony and to mini-mize the "institutional" look of great masses of stucco.

The Duffel-Smoot plans call for a huge underground parking garage and about 80 per cent open space on the distillery grounds.

WINE DISCOVERIES
Call 456-6660

OPEN...AT LAST!
We have been assured by no less than the Attorney General (that's where our application has been) that our Wine Grower's license will be issued at once. Beginning today, and every day except Monday and Tuesday (the days we discover new wines) we will be open from noon to 8 p.m.

TASTE WINES FREE
Any day we're open, you can come in to sample our Wine Discoveries, discuss your own (or our) wine cellar, enroll in the wine classes, pick out a thoroughly unique gift, learn how to make wine at home, join the Wine-Discovery-of-the-Month Club — or the Jug-of-the-Month Club, or just talk about our favorite subject.

BIG WINE SALE
Odd lots, a few bottles of this and that, old jugs — all will be sold this week at the lowest prices allowed by law. All are outstanding Wine Discoveries; a few irre-placeable!

PLEASE NOTE:
The long delay in getting our license has upset our plans for lectured wine tastings, invitational opening events, etc. New dates for these will be announced in a letter to you — if you have given us your name for our mailing list. If not, please call or write so that we may keep you wine-posted.

Center Plans Due Council

Plans for a proposed $1 million community center and main fire station will be shown to the San Rafael City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday at city hall.

The city planning commission approved the plans Tuesday. The center and fire station would cost approximately $350,000 apiece, and land cost is estimated at $300,000. A bond issue election for the needed money is planned for next year.

The council also is to open bids for nine 1970 police patrol cars, hear a progress report on improvement of San Pedro Road, and consider appropriating an estimated $15,000 to dredge the San Rafael Canal from Grand Avenue to Irwin Street.

Europe including European Russia forms about one-fourteenth of the land surface on the globe.

Fairfax Man Held In Sausalito

James Macdonald Maxey, 57, of 273 Cypress Drive, Fairfax, was arrested by Sausalito police Wednesday on suspicion of being drunk in public and possessing marijuana.

Police said they found Maxey sleeping in a bus shelter on Bridgeway at 1 p.m., and found two marijuana cigarettes when they searched him.

Maxey was booked at Marin County Jail and released on his own recognizance to appear at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Board To Consider Attendance Requests

The Marin County Board of Education will consider inter-county attendance requests from Shoreline School District when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday in the county schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

The board recently approved 21 inter-county requests from four districts, including four into Shoreline from Sonoma County, but said county approval will be needed in future before the transfer is actually made.

Nursery School Aides Project

The nursery school children came to the feast as Indians and the tiny tots as pilgrims.

Faustin Bray, a director of the nursery school, was misidentified in the caption as a leader of the tiny tots program.

Real Moves For Peace In President's Orders

We may breathe a bit easier today, and our hopes for the future may be a bit brighter, because of what President Nixon has done.

The President has ordered existing stockpiles of bacteriological weapons to be destroyed. He has taken from the army the right to experiment in this extremely dangerous field, ordering that all bacteriological experimentation by the government hereafter must be under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and will be restricted to measures to counter bacteriological threats.

He has renounced initial use by the United States of all disabling chemical warfare agents, not merely those that kill.

He has called on the Senate to ratify at last the 1925 Geneva Convention outlawing gas and germ warfare. And he has allied the United States with a British-sponsored resolution for a new convention banning use, possession or manufacture of bacteriological weapons.

THESE ARE STEPS toward sanity. They are steps toward genuine peace.

The Pentagon, expectably, immediately said it has no bacteriological stockpiles, only "limited components for biological testing."

The President knows better, else he would not have included such stockpiles in his order.

The New York Times on Oct. 21 reported that the army has stockpiled at Pine Bluff Arsenal in Arkansas 30,000 bullets containing botulism toxin. Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-New York, has said the army also has stored in its arsenals bullets to cause anthrax, tularemia, Q-fever and equine encephalitis.

AS TO CHEMICAL warfare, it was pointed out in this column last July 24 that at Dugway Proving Ground in Utah the army has an area of 841,000 acres — bigger than the entire land area of the state of Rhode Island — set aside primarily for testing such agents. Last year, while a test of nerve gas was under way there, a switch of the wind carried it to adjacent rangelands where it killed 6,400 sheep. The army, while never admitting responsibility for the deaths, nevertheless eventually paid the owners for the sheep.

Dugway is a principal proving round for chemical warfare agents that are stored at numerous locations. Last year, Denver was shaken by underground explosion of poisonous chemical waste from the nearby Rocky Mountain Arsenal. This year, escape of nerve gas stored on Okinawa hospitalized 25 Americans there.

AN END TO SUCH experimentation and stockpiling — only token control of which was provided by a resolution by Congress this year — will remove one of the great causes of civic unrest in this country.

Further, it will help put the United States where it should be: in the forefront of nations that do not just talk about peace, but prove by their actions they mean what they say.

Pale Green Acacia Buds

Marin's acacia trees start foretelling the approach of spring months in advance. Even now when winter has scarce begun the buds are prominent.

Large, hand-like clusters of pale green buds stand out in dramatic contrast against the much darker green of the acacia foliage. These will grow and swell almost daily, until several months before they burst into cascades of golden blossoms we would swear they look as though tomorrow will be the day.

We have seen acacias of some varieties in protected locations blooming in November. But most Marin acacias bloom in late February or early March.

Wily Thieu Tightens Control, But Keeps Helicopters Handy

By FREDERICK NOSSAL
Toronto Telegram News Service

SAIGON — (TNS) — Two helicopters stand at the ready on the lawns outside President Thieu's official residence, and Independence Palace is guarded by half a dozen tanks and scores of troops.

The helicopters are symbols of Thieu's efficiency and caution. He likes to make rapid aerial inspections of the provinces now and again. It is also useful to have the helicopters around in case of a coup or a Communist attack on Saigon.

The tanks and troops are a reminder to South Vietnamese that Thieu today is, without doubt, the most powerful man in the country.

THIEU, OPERATING with meticulous attention to detail, has removed virtually all his opponents. Some of his enemies have been neutralized by being shunted aside into posts where they can do no harm.

In establishing himself as a military dictator of some stature, however, Thieu has acted with a prudence and subtlety that surprised even those who know him well.

The flamboyant Nguyen Cao Ky, who is still Thieu's top rival in the leadership arena, has the important-sounding position of vice-president — yet Ky's once-powerful associates have lost their jobs.

Ky himself is given a chance to enjoy his love for the limelight. He is allowed to take his beautiful wife to Paris, where both of them revel in the publicity. And while Ky grins at his own photographs, Thieu continues to fortify his throne.

THE VALIDITY of the presidential elections in early September, 1967, is still being questioned. Nevertheless, Thieu's friends and supporters say it is to his credit that nobody has dared to mount a major coup attempt against him, and that not even the Tet offensive and subsequent Communist attacks could unseat him.

Today, Thieu is far from being a national hero. But he is gradually becoming a national figure, and even the Communists have given his new stature acknowledgement.

He has come a long way indeed since his days in the army.

During the overthrow and assassination of President Diem, Thieu led the assault on the barracks of the palace guard. It was a long and bloody battle.

After the coup, he was appointed chief of staff, and later went to command the army in the Fourth Corps region to stem Viet Cong advances in the strategic Mekong Delta. Late in 1964, he became deputy prime minister.

He became defense Minister, and worked diligently behind the scenes until by 1967 he had the upper hand.

KY ACCEPTED the vice-presidency under Thieu, and quietly tried to make a comeback in 1968 after the Tet offensive.

The wily President — who is 45 and somewhat older than most of his political contemporaries — hit back smartly.

One by One, Ky's men fell by the wayside. Since Tet, 24 provincial chiefs and 57 district chiefs have been removed.

The main reason in many cases was said to be corruption, or incompetence — but Thieu also used these excuses to get rid of army men whose personal allegiance to him was open to doubt.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

What Happens Now In Mental Health?

What happens now in troubled mental health land? We are not told. Will the "interim" last indefinitely, or will Dr. (Leon) Wanerman have completed his interim job when — and if — he has succeeded in getting rid of Dr. (Donald P.) Wilson?

Will the board of supervisors continue to tell the board of the hospital district how to run their business, regardless of what happens to the staff, the program and the patients whose needs are all but forgotten in the feuding?

Will county government take tender care of insubordinate employees in contractee institutions at county cost, but not of those who would like to go ahead with their jobs with some assurance that they will not be uprooted every year? Will consecutive board of supervisors continue to overturn their predecessors policies, no matter how well advised?

Is mental health becoming a political football?

Too Many Peaceniks In I-J Columns

The way you've had the peacenicks, hippies and creeps plastered all over your paper these last few weeks one would get the idea that the average resident of Marin County is that kind of a gutless non-American.

Peace does not come from cowardice, no matter how it may be camouflaged by personal slovenliness and poor music. Peace does not come from turning on one's country, or from abandoning one's fellow man, no matter how spectacular an exhibition may disguise the act. Peace does not come from rejecting the principles of loyalty and responsibility, nor from superficial chants of love. Every sane man wants peace, but no coward ever led his country to peace, and the peace of a traitor is that of a slave.

About 90 per cent of your fellow citizens are fed up with the sick minority. When will you get your belly full?

The Independent Journal lacks editorial strength. You are missing an opportunity to exercise community leadership by reflecting the moral and spiritual strengths that still characterize this country and which can be its only salvation.

Social Security Recipient Grateful

It is with a grateful heart that I write this letter.

To the people for whom I have worked that have made Social Security possible for me, my hearty "thank you."

To Almighty God, my heavenly father, all praise and glory, for giving to our United States of America men who took forethought of the man and woman who, after 60 years of age, would need aid, to come up with such a plan as He would have them do. To give me assurance of my check each month, of help.

Iwent to 2145 Fourth Street in San Rafael to seek assistance in securing the old age pension. I was met with warm friendly smile, and with understanding and courtesy. The two ladies who interviewed me, Mrs. Riel and Mrs. Skiff, were most gracious, and bent over backward to help me. They showed me where I could receive Social Security. I did not think I could receive it.

If you are 65 or over, and you need aid, maybe you too are eligible to receive help as I did. These people at 2145 Fourth Street will do all they can to help you. Mr. Levin, the manager, is most kindly, and will do all he can to help. Please think this over.

Residents Of Mobile Homes Contribute

In reply to the letter from Mrs. Grover C. Owen, of Nov. 18, regarding mobile homes, I would like to present some information from an "Industry Report" published by the economics department of a leading California financial institution.

In California, 38 per cent of mobile home residents are retired and 13 per cent of the mobile home residents reported the head of the household as age 35 or younger. The average income of mobile home occupants is slightly below the national average. This is not surprising considering the high proportion of retired persons.

Mobile home residents are generally good citizens and are an asset to the communities in which they live. About 75 per cent of adult mobile residents nationally are registered voters as compared with about two thirds of the general population of the United States. The average mobile home family spends $4,500 per year on goods and services purchased locally.

Mobile home residents also contribute their share to support of local government. Their owners must pay an annual registration fee to the state which is allocated back to cities, counties and school districts. In 1967, $8.5 million was so allocated in California, $262,515 of this to Marin and Sonoma counties. In addition the mobile home parks are subject to local property taxes. . . . Mobile home residents are not heavy users of community services. Most mobile home residents are adults without school age children. At the same time, police and fire protection, the greatest expense to a city, costs 25 per cent less per acre for mobile homes than for standard housing. . . .

Welfare Fraud Called Infinitesimal

The letter written by Roberta Laidley regarding the flagrant abuses in the welfare program, appearing in your issue of Nov. 16, is like listening to a real worn-out record.

The reason this county's welfare department (as do many others across the nation) spot checks recipients, rather than conduct exhaustive investigations of each applicant, is because long ago such routine investigations were proved to be a waste of taxpayers' money. Repeated and intensive studies of welfare over the years — and many of these studies were conducted by organizations hostile to welfare — established the undisputed fact that less than one-tenth of one per cent of welfare recipients are guilty of fraud. I doubt any other segment of our society would come out as well in such studies.

Unlike Roberta Laidley, I take considerable comfort in the knowledge that at least six cents of each of my rather substantial property tax dollars is spent for the constructive purpose of providing a minimum level of living for the deprived young, old, and disabled citizens of this, the richest nation on this planet.

My letter is not an effort to condone the Branstetter case; rather, it is intended to place the episode in its proper perspective.

Public Salaries Stir Resentment

I just finished reading your editorial for Friday, Nov. 21, "Want To Live Better? Get on Public Payroll."

Now that my blood pressure is back to normal, I want to thank you for bringing this matter to the attention of the public.

What can we, as individuals, do about it, besides voting these people out at election time?

Secretary Rogers Proving Ability And Importance To President

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — To his great satisfaction, President Richard M. Nixon now knows that he was half wrong when in the '68 campaign he told Theodore H. White: "No secretary of state is really important; the President makes foreign policy."

Today, Mr. Nixon is glad that he has been proved only half right.

The President does make foreign policy, but he is finding that the right kind of secretary of state is "really important."

IT IS INCREASINGLY evident that Secretary of State William P. Rogers is performing crucially valuable services for Richard Nixon and for the nation.

He brings to bear, upon the decisions which Mr. Nixon alone must make, a balanced, common-sense wisdom which is invaluable.

He is a tactful, quiet-voiced, tough and tenacious negotiator; he has made the experts wince and in the end, smile in admiration.

He is an unusually disarming, ingratiating and credible exponent of Nixon policy. He has proved this at the United Nations and, despite hangover tension and heckling, he has shown it in his public and private appearances before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

NOBODY BECOMES a great secretary of state in 11 months. Rogers' most critical tests are still ahead of him. But he is already showing that he has the capacity to be an able secretary who is proving that executing foreign policy can be almost as important as making it.

It is doubtful that the American-Japanese negotiations over Okinawa, over Tokyo's peace-keeping role in the Western Pacific and its expanding economic aid role in Southeast Asia could have succeded as they did if Rogers had not been personally conducting them. This was the point at which the foreign service professionals were fearful that Secretary Rogers was too blunt and too direct in stating the U.S. position.

He thought not and he was proved right. One reason is that, with all his directness and candor, he was speaking courteously and respectfully. The Japanese aren't tender wallflowers. But they do want the respect which comes from plain speaking. They responded in kind, and in the end came one of the most significant diplomatic agreements of the postwar period.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the U.N. General Assembly brings nearly all the leading statesmen of the world together at one time in one place. Secretary Rogers met personally and at length with 89 of them. He made many friends and healed some past wounds.

And so far, with poise, with some persuasiveness and with no fatal explosion yet, Rogers has been effectively running the gantlet of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee where most of the more ardent Nixon critics are concentrating.

In the latest closed-door session with the committee, the secretary got through no more than one paragraph of a 10-minute statement he had prepared when he was barraged by hostile and discursive comments and questioning. He listened and occasionally was allowed to proceed with a few more sentences.

CHAIRMAN J.W. Fulbright could stand it no longer. He interrupted Rogers when he appeared about to get in a word edgewise, saying in effect, you've taken up a great deal of our time. Would you summarize what remains of your statement?

Rogers replied politely but firmly: "No, I will not summarize it. You invited me to testify. I am here to testify. I will finish my statement."

He did, and he ended it with a plea to the committee that it join him in a constructive, responsive exploring of today's problems, forgetting the quarrelsome acrimony of the past.

If Chairman Fulbright ever focuses his ire in public hearings on the present secretary of state, there is little doubt that Rogers will have the public on his side.

Future Of AEC Power Plants Stirs Controversy

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Sometimes a compromise satisfies no one — as President Nixon is finding out with respect to his new plan for separate operation of the government's uranium enrichment plants.

Two weeks ago the President announcee that the three giant gaseous diffussion plants would be operated as "a separate operational entity" within the Atomic Energy Commission. They should be sold eventually to private interests, he said, because they will be doing a mostly commercial business.

The President's announcement climaxed a long series of discussions about possible sale of the plants. It did not ask for congressional authority now to sell them or set a deadline for the sale as proposed by a 1968 study sponsored by the industry group — the Atomic Industrial Forum.

THE REACTION, however, has been quick and critical.

On the day of the President's announcement, Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, promised "full, complete and comprehensive" public hearings on any proposal for change in ownership of the plants, which are located at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth , Ohio.

A couple of days later Holifield suggested, in an interview, that sale of the plants, in which the government has invested $2.3 billion, could be a "big steal" if the only such plants in the world were sold at a depreciated book value. He also commented that oil companies have been investing in uranium and other fuels and said he fears a possible "energy combine" which could control energy production in the United States.

NOW THE "DEAN" of the Senate, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., has told us that he will fight any transfer of ownership.

"I am opposed to turning over those diffusion plants to a group of power people, or oil magnates," said Aiken.

According to the President's announcement, the three plants are now operating at only 40 per cent of their capacity. The nuclear generation of electric power is in its infancy, however, with only about one per cent of the nation's electricity coming from the atom.

THE PRESIDENT'T announcement came just a week before a Senate subcommittee began hearings on a bill which would put atomic electric plants under the anti-trust laws.

Aiken is chief sponsor, with Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., o of that bill. In testimony Aiken called it ridiculous that, with 95 atom-electric plants built or on the drawing boards, all are still classified as research or medical therapy facilities and thus exempt from the anti-monopoly laws.

The congressional climate was, in short, not without its thunderheads when the President's balloon went up.

Popular psychology is a mass of cant, of slush, and of superstition worthy of the most flourishing days of the medicine man. — John Dewey

DDT Becomes An Issue In Grape Workers' Dispute

Dolores Huerta came to Belvedere last week to talk about the Delano grape strike, the table grape boycott, and DDT.

A striking (no pun intended) looking woman with dark brown hair and sparkling brown eyes, Mrs. Huerta is the Bay Area organizer for the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, better known to some as the Delano grape strikers.

Mrs. Huerta's message was loud and clear; Not only are DDT and other pesticides, including the infamous parathion, harming the farm workers who must go into the fields immediately after they are sprayed, they are harming the consumer who innocently has been eating grapes covered with pesticide residues.

THE ONLY WAY to stop these harmful paractices, she said, is to form a coalition of consumers and farm workers. To that end she was in Belvedere at the Leonard Sperry home to lend her physical and moral support to the newly reorganized Marin County Delano Grape Strike Support Committee, now known as Friends of Delano.

Mrs. Huerta said the committee is determined to end the use of DDT in the vineyards. She said negotiations between the strike committee and the table grape growers broke down this summer over that very issue.

The problem of pesticides is a complex one, particularly for the commercial grower. It's easy for a home gardener to resort to natural pest control methods — such as marigold borders for snails and lady bugs for aphids — but Mrs. Huerta is realistic about the feasibility of ending any use of pesticides in the vineyards.

What Mrs. Huerta and the strike committee are asking is that less harmful pesticides be used and that workers be given protective clothing when working the sprayed fields.

IN USED TO BE that when a classroom needed repainting or some new equipment, teachers dutifully went to the principal, who in turn went to the board of education to ask, more hopefully in tone than in heart, for money to accomplish the redecoration or purchases.

"It's not always that way any more. Today it's let dad do it.

With tigher school financing, school trustees find themslves cutting the "extras" ("How about making that paint job last one more year?") in favor of necessities such as teachers and books.

That leaves it up to the parents, who generally seem to be much more involved in school affairs today than 20 years ago when the only involvement, outside of those dreaded conferences with the principal, came when mom brought cookies for the Valentine's Day party.

At Mill Valley's Old Mill School, parents are involved continually. Last year, parents repainted the kindergarten and a first grade room. This year it's the auditorium which became a parent project.

Parent Paul Reck, whose daughter Cynthia is in the auditorium's multi-age level class, is an office designing consultant. Cynthia told him of noise problems and, after consulting with the school staff, Reck redesigned the auditorium, using donated labor and materials from a San Francisco partition firm. And now daughter Cynthia doesn't complain about the noise any more.

Other parent projects at Old Mill School this year have included redecorating the library and several donations of funds for the school's enrichment programs.

Time For Transit Talkers To Fold Tents And Fade Away

Fusselman

In this column of April 19, 1968, transit was the topic for comment. Here is some of it that should be repeated today:

"The real purpose of asking the voting taxpayers to validate the formation of a transit district was purely and simply a move to correct a technicality. State law which gave the cities the power to engage in such operations failed to permit general law counties to do the same.

"The formation of the district was for a standby status. It was distinctly represented to the voters that the power to tax would not he abused, and that things would be handled in a discreet and careful manner. This has not been done."

IT'S TIME NOW to begin keeping that promise. We have spent far too many tax dollars for Seymour Kashin, and Paul Zucker (manager of the phantom transit operation and "we must have dialogue" planning director, respectively) to play around with.

The news stories during the past week or 10 days make it abundantly clear that we in Marin should stop and take a breather.

Assemblyman John F. Foran (San Francisco) is going to ask the Legislature to set up a nine-county Metropolitan Transportation Agency in the San Francisco Bay area.

James B. Moriarty, Contra Costa supervisor, and John F. McInnis, who is chairman of both the Marin Board of Supervisors and ABAG'S Continuting Transportation Planning Committee, both agreed that ABAG should handle local regional transportation planning. This sure looks to me like a conflict of interest. How can three masters be served? Here McInnis is chairman of Marin's transit group, chairman of the board of supervisors and then ABAG, voting funds for planning in all three.

WHILE THE ABOVE is going on, the Golden Gate Bridge people are knee deep in preparation for providing both bus and ferry service between the North Bay and San Francisco.

That service apparently would not include Marin intra-county transit.

This would have to be provided by our funding.

Now consider the situation in San Jose: The strike of bus drivers and maintenance men there has brought to light the fact that the San Jose transit Co. is losing so much annually that they don't want to renew their contract with the city. It expires soon.

There comes a doubt as to the ability of the Marin Transit District to float a bond issue for funding an intra-county service. Rolling stock and other equipment would run into a considerable bunch of coin.

If this is correct, and I believe it is, a couple of guys had better be folding up their tents and quietly fading away.

THE WHOLE POINT of all this is that we should have a satisfactory transit operation locally but the performance of our conversationalists has been so pitifully punk that who can believe they can provide it. . .

Hope you had a real nice day yesterday. Some of us have a lot to be thankful for. I can tell you, I have in an overflowing measure.

Sentences For Seven Drivers

Seven persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

George Albert Barnett, 46, of 101 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, was placed on three years' probation, ordered to spend 15 days in jail and fined $250. He was arrested Mareh 31 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Roy A. Dix, 48, of South San Francisco, was placed on 18 months' probation, fined $302 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. He was arrested Oct. 2 on Highway 101.

Margery Menefee Tingley, 49, of 1369 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was placed on two years' probation, fined $250 and sentenced to five days in jail. She was arrested Sept. 26 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Robert John Lebakos, 46, of 251 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael, was placed on two years' probation and sentenced to 45 days in jail. He was arrested Jan. 8 in San Rafael.

James Henry Curtin, 38, of 223 Kent Avenue, Kentfield, was sentenced to nine months in jail. He had also been convicted of driving with a suspended license and having an open container of alcohol in his car when arrested April 8 in Mill Valley.

Robert Bee Deem, 26, of 814 Hacienda Way, Santa Venetia, was placed on one year probation and sentenced to 30 days in jail to run concurrently with a sentence he is serving for burglary. He was arrested June 7 on Highway 101.

Prison Students Seek Degrees

At least four student inmates in the San Quentin Prison extension of College of Marin will be candidates for associate of arts degrees in January, program director Berkeley Johnson has announced.

The program, now handling 80 students, is in its fifth semester. One degree was awarded last June, and two former San Quentin student inmates are now attending classes on the Kentfield campus.

The program is financed by the state department of corrections.

Johnson said the school's textbook supply is thin in all academic areas, and he will arrange pickup of any donated books suitable for reference and use in a liberal arts program.

Physiologist Says Logging Not Harmful

A University of California plant physiologist has testified that logging operations on the Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge would not cause significant sedimentation into Bolinas Lagoon.

Dr. Edward Stone, professor of forestry and plant physiology at Berkeley, was called as a witness for the loggers Wednesday in the Alameda County Superior Court hearing on Marin County's request for a permanent injunction against logging.

Hugh G. Lawrence, attorney for Matthews, Humbert and Walker logging of Coos Bay, Ore., quoted Stone as saying there would be "no significant erosion out of the logged area and none off property." Stone made his evaluation on the basis of study of "hundreds of other" logging sites, Lawrence said.

Joseph A. Forest, deputy Marin county counsel, said Stone testified that siltation as a result of the logging would increase in the first year but would be back to normal in two or three years. Earlier witnesses called by Forest have testified that the operation would cause significant erosion.

Stone praised the timber firm's operation on the sprawling 1,400-acre ranch and also defended the locating of a logging road in the canyon bed, an action which has been criticized as adding to erosion.

Donald R. Frost, Marin County director of public works, was also on the stand yesterday, called by Lawrence. Frost testified, according to Lawrence, that the county had not considered putting the relocated Shoreline Highway on the east side of Bolinas Ridge. Lawrence contended that the present plans for building the new freeway would cause a large amount of sedimentation into Bolinas Lagoon.

The court was to inspect the logging site today and attorneys for both sides estimated the hearings would take at least another week.

Report To Aviation Panel On Gnoss Field

The Marin County Aviation Commission will receive a report on expansion of Gnoss Field and set a date for a workshop on an aviation master plan for the county at its 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday in Room 308 of the Civic Center.

The commission also will study government-sponsored college aviation curricula.

Speedy Training For Nurse Aides

"I have this missionary zeal thing that won't quit. I want to help people, and the ones who need help the most are surgical and acute medical cases", said Donelle Rathbone, 19 year old Mill Valley resident who is among 12 students graduating this week from an eight-week intensive study-work course at College of Marin to prepare them for jobs as nurse aides or home health aides.

Donelle does not have a high school diploma, although she took a general education development test and scored the equivalent of a high school education.

"When I attended San Rafael High School I couldn't care less about school. I sat and stared out the window and daydreamed about everything and nothing. I dropped out, but after a few years I needed something, especially money", she said.

She applied for a job as an aide in a convalescent hospital. "Working with people who are sick and so dependent is a rewarding experience. You can help them feel better by making them more comfortable and secure," she found.

"I knew this was what I wanted to spend my life doing".

The director of the hospital recommended College of Marin's training program as a speedy means of gaining additional knowledge and skills in patient care.

"This was the direction I needed, and right now I feel I could go on and become a doctor", she says enthusiastically.

Alta McPherson's children are grown and have homes of their own. She needs to work but has no professional training or experience. She worked in a private home assisting an R.N. in caring for an elderly person for five years. When the patient died she was without a job.

"Get some training and we'll talk to you" was the response at every hospital where she applied for a new job. She said she found they almost guarantee a job for anyone who is graduated from the program at College of Marin.

"We have learned so many practical techniques that we are eager to try in our new jobs", Mrs. McPherson said. "For a person who enjoys doing things for others, this is the most satisfying work she can do". A patient at Ross General Hospital (where the students train) told me I had gentle hands," she said, looking down at them. "This was the nicest thing she could have said to me, because it gave me confidence in the work I was doing. "The patients love you and appreciate you, and so do the doctors, the nurses, and everyone on the working force", Mrs. McPherson said.

The students praised Faith Mareck, the program instructor-director. "I find myself doing housework and asking would Mrs. Mareck do it this way?" said Betty Edwards, another of the graduates. Betty is a 26 year old Novato resident and mother of boys aged 6 and 2 years.

"I'd like to take the Licensed Vocational Nurse courses, but that takes almost two years and I need to be working now", she said. Betty had worked in a convalescent hospital but found that more nursing experience was needed to advance in salary and in responsibilities. The R.N.s depend on us for so many things and respect us for doing a good job", she said, reflecting on her hospital work at Center Medical Rehabilitation Hospital and Ross General Hospital, while students in the program. "It's a lot different when you don't have the training —you're just another flunky", she said.

"The simple housekeeping methods we learn to make patients comfortable apply at home as well", said Betty. "My two-year-old dropped a cookie on the kitchen floor and I hurried to retrieve it before he bit into all those microorganisms", she said.

SUSAN HATTON is a Fairfax resident and is divorced. She is the mother of a 17-month-old baby girl whom she supports.

"I worked in the housekeeping department at Marin General Hospital and in the dietary kitchen," she said. "All the while I had a burning desire for a job in the newborn nursery or the maternity section", she said, but she could not qualify for work there because of her lack of training. She applied and was accepted into the College of Marin training program. Now that she is graduated the door is open to her for a position in this department when an opening occurs.

A nurse aide has the responsibility of being the one person who is with the patient more hours of the day and night than the R.N. or the charge nurse, explains Mrs. Mareck. The quality of care is only as good as the performance of each member of the patient care team from top physician right down to the nurse aide. The R.N.'s role has been upgraded steadily and they are no longer sufficient in number to fill the practical nursing need at all levels. They are being used as medicine and treatment nurses, and often as Completing the eight weeks course this week, the graduates will be eligible for jobs as nurse aides or home health aides, who specialize in patient care.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Traveling And Party Time

BY MOLLY MARIN

Mrs. Leonard Downing has returned to Mill Valley with enthusiastic reports from a four-day-volunteer-conference at the Experiment in International Living headquarters in Putney, Vt. She represented the western experiment in International Living Office in San Francisco.

Ruth Downing says she is excited over the many and varied programs available for American students wishing to live abroad for the summer, as well as the incoming program which arranges short term home stays for foreign students in American homes. Anyone interested in these programs may call her for complete information.

At the conclusion of the conference she spent four days in New York City visiting the art museums, a subject in which she is especially interested because of her work as a docent at the de Young Museum in San Francisco.

MR. AND MRS. Fred Eugene Hill Jr. entertained more than 100 neighbors and friends at a cocktail party and midnight buffet supper at their home in Domingo Canyon in Novato Saturday. Mrs. Hill is the former Elenore Jones of Loch Lomond.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT Marsh have returned to their Marin Country Club Estates home in Novato after a three-week-tour to Mexico accompanied by Mrs. Marsh's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. N.F. Wheeler of Pasedena. They drove the circle trip from Guadalajara to Mexico City. They visited several days in Mazatlan with Mrs. Lawrence Morel, mother of Mrs. Lawrence Marsh of Mill Valley. Mrs. Morel has visited many times in Marin County and has many friends here. They were entertained by other relatives and friends in Mazatlan and Mexico City.

FORMER MANAGER of the Marin Country Club, Ed Bettini, was honored at testimonial party at Nave Lanes last Friday. Ed was on the staff of the Country Club for nine years and was manager the past three years. A money tree was presented to him by more than 200 members of the club.

What's Behind That Raise In Cost Of A Dozen Eggs?

By JOHN HENRY

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're an average American housewife, you buy and then bake, scramble or fry 320 eggs every year—and that's just for yourself.

Chances are, however, you don't know why you're paying 51 cents a dozen for eggs one month and 63 cents a few months later.

But the price of the other 99.96 per cent is influenced by figures chalked up on a blackboard in a downtown Manhattan office building.

At 10:30 a.m. every day a handful of professional traders gets set before the blackboard in the New York Mercantile Exchange.

FOR THE NEXT 10 minutes they conduct "egg call." They match orders from producers and buyers. They field hectic phone calls, chalk up bids and make contracts for the delivery of fresh eggs.

It's not the way the television ads used to show the tobacco auctions in the South, where the auctioneer and buyers walk down aisles and bid on stacks of tobacco.

The eggs aren't even at the exchange. They're packed away in warehouses and a trader may not even have seen them. The eggs all have been inspected and graded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and that rating suits most traders.

These traders deal in minimum lots of 18,000 eggs, or 1,500 dozen. The eggs are not bought by supermarket chains. Most are bought by institutions — hospitals, hotels, schools — in the New York area.

BUT IT DOESN'T end there. The prices paid by these institutions are weighted by egg prices on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and professional market opinion. This results in a "going price" for eggs across the country in the daily publication, "The Producers Price Current."

This is the bible for the trade and is called the Urner Barry Report. It is published by Urner Barry Publications of Jersey City, N.J. Its prices are used by producers and wholesalers around the country. Some contracts even stipulate that prices be related to the Urner Barry price, industry sources say.

Some authorities would like to change this.

THE USDA SAYS wholesale pricing is "not consistent" with nationwide supply and demand.

"It can be off as much as three or four cents a dozen," said Jerry Faulkner, general manager of the United Egg Producers, a Georgia-based producers' cooperative.

"And when you multiply that by thousands of eggs, it's a lot of money," he added.

"What good is a price that goes up one day and down the next. The value of eggs doesn't really change that fast," he said.

On a recent day, medium whites were trading at 56 cents a dozen. At the same time, they were selling in the dairy counters of a major chain store here at 73 cents.

The reputation for honesty enjoyed by the 112-year-old Urner Barry report is unimpeachable, according to many industry sources including Faulkner, but he believes the trading system itself is open to manipulation.

A trader who gambled the price of egg futures—traded in Chicago, not New York—would go down, could help his cause by making the fresh egg market look glutted "simply by dumping three or four loads of eggs on the New York market." Faulkner said.

FUTURE PRICES — the prices agreed upon for eggs not yet produced—might then go down too, and the clever trader could cash in.

Faulkner's group, which claims its producers account for 55 per cent of egg production in the country, has a representative at both exchanges. They buy and sell appropriately "to make sure that kind of manipulation doesn't take place," he added.

Herb Gabriel, head of the national egg department of the A & P grocery chain, the nation's largest, believes the "law of supply and demand over a long period has dictated egg prices." A & P and other chains buy directly from producers.

Gabriel is a member of the 12-man National Egg Pricing System Study Committee, an industry group established last summer, which meets monthly in closed session.

THE HEAD OF the committee, Phillip Alampi, New Jersey secretary of agriculture, said the committee expects to make recommendations for reform after its last meeting in December.

He said the group's recommendations could be implemented through new legislation as well as new information gathering systems such as computer processing and other innovations.

"The people here are competitors," Watts said, "not friends . . . The only man who makes the price of eggs is the man with the knife and fork."

The average price for grade-A large eggs at dairy counters across the country rose from 51.3 cents in June to 63 cents a dozen in September, cents a dozen in September, according to the latest government statistics.

And futures prices on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange for eggs for delivery in November reached 18-year highs this month.

Open Society To Women Says Margaret Mead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Anthropologist Margaret Mead thinks that the population explosion won't be controlled until society gives women something to do besides have children.

"We must open society up to women. We have to have a great proliferation of humane interests for women who don't want to just manage small homes," Dr. Mead said.

"Unless we stop discriminating against women at all levels . . . we've not going to control the population explosion," she told the 13th national conference of the U.S. Commission for UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Calories

Adults require fewer calories as they grow older. However, adults as well as children need milk every day, both as a beverage and in cooked dishes —adults, two or more glasses; children three or more glasses; and four or more glasses for teen-agers.

Pros And Cons, Mostly Cons, On The Issue Of Wife Spanking

DEAR HELEN:

I'm glad you pointed out the father-daughter relationship to the immature wife who said she and her friends expected and needed spankings from their husbands.

This sounds like the kids playing house, with the little boy father spanking the dolls. And when the children come along, will the wife be right down there with the kids, standing in line for her paddling? How could she ever be adult enough to handle her offspring if she continues as a little girl?

I'm glad my husband treats me as a woman. Certainly we argue, but we also discuss, and communicate. — UNSPANKED AND HAPPY

DEAR HELEN:

In some countries there's a custom of giving a bridegroom a paddle on his wedding day. But in this country they gave women the vote! Need I say more? — MRS. P. C.

DEAR MRS. P:

They also give girls rolling pins as wedding gifts. Emancipated, these Americans! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I would like to ask "Spanked Wife" what she does when her husband is the one who is cantakerous, nagging, extravagant, temperamental. Does she have spanking rights too — or is he perfect? —HA!

DEAR HELEN:

If a women is old enough to be married, she should be mature enough to have outgrown the need for spanking. — AN ARGUING WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

When my wife has been naughty and makes me mad and deserves a spanking, I put her over my knee to deliver the good old bare-bottom whack — but then I'm not mad any more! — MR. E. W.

DEAR HELEN:

I have been married 25 years to a man whose father was from old country and ruled with an iron hand. Therefore, my husband maintains that a good sound paddling is the quickest and most effective way to deal with an unruly wife.

This was quite a shock to me at first, as I had never received a spanking until after I got married. Recently I had too much to drink and we had a nasty argument. I could hardly sit down for a week!

We have two children who were never subjected to this type of discipline. My husband is otherwise a fine man, very generous and loving to his family. My marriage on the whole is most satisfactory. I am only spanked for really serious infractions, and I suppose this is a cross I have to bear. I was glad to read that other women experience it, too. Makes me feel like a — KINDRED WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

You asked for comments on whether or not legalized prostitution was a good idea. I think it should be leaglized, as there would be a lot less frustrated people around. It might eliminate those old restrictive guilt feelings about sex, and lessen sex crimes. In Amsterdam, there is legal prostitution and virtually no crime and little divorce. These may not correlate, but at least it shows legal prostitution doesn't increase crime and divorce.

I'm against any legislation as to what I should do with my own body. Not that I plan anything, but I just don't think morals should be legislated. — M.Y.

DEAR HELEN:

Licensed "houses" would provide a major control site against VD. They would also provide additional revenue to the state, and cut down illegal operations plus all the crimes that go with them. Then too, girls who "don't want to" wouldn't have to any more, to keep they boy friends. — T. J.

DEAR HELEN:

Perhaps it's the oldest profession, but it shouldn't be dignified by legality. It is not a profession to be proud of! — YOUNG WIFE

Women Form Power Bloc

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women's Liberation groups from the eastern United States have formed a new political organization, the Congress to Unite Women, to mobilize support for true constitutional equality for women and gain political support for women's issues, spokesmen said Monday.

A statement from the congress, whose spokesmen asked to remain unidentified, said the group would work for an equal rights amendment to the constitution, greater protection under the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which now covers sex only in employment situations, free access to abortions, sterilization and contraception and free child care centers.

"The Congress to Unite Women is committed to the liberation of all women now," the statement said. "We know that only with power can we end the oppression of women. Together, in a united congress, we will fight for what is good for women."

More than 500 representatives of women's liberation organizations attended sessions this past weekend to agree on the congress' goals, the statement said. The congress will be, it said, "a women's political power bloc" which will "work against people in politically powerful positions who have demonstrated that they oppose our interest."

Spokesmen were kept unidentified, the group said, "so that all organizations and individuals shall be kept equal in their participation."

The group's priority demands were:

—Repeal of all laws restricting access to free contraception, sterilization or abortion on a voluntary basis.

—An equal rights amendment to the constitution explicitly guaranteeing women the rights set forth in the 14th amendment. The congress statement said such a measure was necessary since the Supreme Court has refused to rule on the question.

Capitol Hill Boasts Of At Least 80 Well Paid Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — There may be more women on Capitol Hill being paid $25,000 a year and more than in any other small area in the country.

Senate and House records reveal there are about 80 such well-paid women. These include one senator and nine representatives, who get $42,500 apiece.

Among top paid women employees each with a salary of $33,495, are two blacks.

They are Christine Ray Davis, staff director of the House Government Operations Committee, headed by Rep. William Dawson, (D-Ill.,) and Louise Dargans, research director of the House Education and Labor Committee and former administrative assistant to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, (D-N.Y.)

Of the 435 House members, 112 have women as their top aides. Of these, 53 are paid $25,795, the top permissible salary for a Congressional aide.

Of the 10 women members of Congress, only three have women as their top aides here. They are Reps. Martha Griffiths, (D-Mich.), Leonor K. Sullivan (D-Mo.) and Shirley Chisholm, (D-N.Y.).

One of those making more than $25,000 in Evelyn Lincoln, the late President John F. Kennedy's personal secretary. She is legislative assistant to Rep. James W. Kee (D-W.V.).

Six senators have women as their top and highest paid aides. They are Sens. Mike Mansfield, (D-Mont.) majority leader; Robert Byrd (D-W.V.); Clifford Case (R-N.J.); Carl Curtis (R-Neb.); Frank Church (D-Ida.), and Jennings Randolph (D-W.V.).

There are more than 1,350 women on Congressional payrolls who are paid in excess of $10,000 a year.

TRAINING

charge nurses, said Mrs. Mareck.

This leaves the nurse aide to care for the patient's basic welfare. In the program, through films, instructional aids, and lectures, but primarily through actual supervised experience in the hospital, the nurse aide can give the constant patient care that the charge nurse does not have time to give.

The aide must be gentle, competent, responsible, able to recognize patient needs, both physical and psychological, and be equipped to meet them, Mrs. Mareck said. Her training teaches her how to observe, recognize conditions and changes in her patients, and how to handle them.

She is taught to carry on while the specialized people concentrate on the medications, treatments, therapy and surgery.

From this concept the nurse aide program at College of Marin has gained its reputation for "quality graduates" in a short training period. Federal funds from the Vocational Education Act finance the program. Applicants are tested, screened, and interviewed. Selections are made on the basis of aptitude, and potential abilities of working with people who are ill in a hospital situation.

Another program will begin Jan. 19. Applications are available through the Office of Vocational and Technical Education at College of Marin.

Other graduates are Ricky Alvord, Lois Eaquinto, Linda Findlay, Donna Giorgi, Wendi Leighton Porter, Carolyn Rader; Virginia Schneider and Corrine Walsh.

Safety Tips For Young Drivers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeature

Cars and bicycles are going to school in increasing numbers and it is a worrisome situation to many parents.

The automobile accident rate is climbing and authorities are concerned. For example, in New York, the State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles blames part of the increase in accidents involving teen-agers on the fact that more and more parents are buying cars for their children. He doesn't think teen-agers should own their own cars. In his opinion, parents should have control over automobiles driven by teen-agers.

MANY AUTO accidents happen at night. Kids cut up at a party and find it is hard to slow down the mood. But there are plenty of daytime accidents, too. On the way home from school, an open road might look very inviting for a peel-out. A young person steps on the gas pedal with a school's-out feeling of exhilaration, and he may wind up in the hospital or the morgue.

Studies made by investigators at Cornell University prove that seat belts save lives, reports the National Safety Council. It estimates that 8,000 to 10,000 lives would be saved each year if motorists used the seat belts.

Yet among some young crowds, the "in" thing is to avoid fastening the seat belt. One high school girl's companion accused her of suspectiong he was a bad driver because she fastened the belt.

Many young people have had little driving experience when they get their licenses. Some of them have never attended a driver's school.

THESE NEW youthful drivers may benefit from these safety tips passed on by the National Safety Council:

When passing another car, remember that it is moving too. Don't cut in front of it until you can see its headlights in your rearview mirror.

You should be concerned about the car ahead, the one behind, the one approaching in the opposite lane, the one ready to enter from a side street, and the one parked at the curb. One should drive in such a way that there is time to make the right decision.

Don't forget to signal for a turn. When changing lanes make sure a car is not cruising along in your blind spot.

SOME EMERGENCIES to spot include: jaywalking pedestrian, children hidden by parked cars, cyclists, animals. Don't depend on the other person to know the safety rules.

Lack of experience can lead to errors in judgment warns the Council. It recommends that young people take driver-education courses to aid in developing judgment and the sense of responsibility necessary for safe driving. Studies indicate that young people who have had formal driver education have fewer traffic accidents and violations.

Bicycles are more popular than ever, but many accidents are caused by carelessness. Last year, seven million new bikes hit the road, and the industry is constantly distributing safety material.

OBEY TRAFFIC regulations, signs, lights. Keep to the right; ride in a straight line, single file. A white light should be in front, a red one in back. A horn, bell or other working warning device should be used. Give pedestrians the right of way. Avoid sidewalk riding. Watch for doors opening on parked cars. Never hitch on other vehicles or race in traffic. Do not carry a passenger or object that interferes with your vision. Make sure your brakes are functioning smoothly.

ROCKING STONE — Britain's Mick Jaggar, electrifying in appearance as well as on record, heads the Rolling Stones in concert at New York's Madison Square Garden. After completing their 14-city tour of the U.S., the Stones said they will come back to San Francisco next week-end for a quick concert in Golden Gate Park. (UPI Telephoto)

Sex, Drugs And Treason In Rolling Stones Mystique

By JOSH MILLS

NEW YORK (AP) — Flaunting their misogyny and brazen sexuality, the Rolling Stones took 17,000 fans by storm last night in their first concert here in three years.

The Stones turn kids on by preaching male chauvinism, sex, drugs, freedom and violent revolution. Then they flash the peace sign and toss rose petals on their fans.

But to the young audience, it's all entertainment, and every word and gesture from Mick Jagger, the lead singer and superb dancer, is welcomed with a roar.

The Stones will have played to more than 50,000 persons here when they finish two concerts today at Madison Square Garden. They will be in Boston tomorrow and West Palm Beach, Fla., Sunday, ending their tour. They have promised to play a free concert in San Francisco next weekend.

Jagger pranced about the stage last night in black jeans with silver buttons down the sides, black shirt and long red scarf. His leers, winks and smirks brought cheers and sighs.

The audience was excited but not unruly, even when hundreds of kids pushed toward the stage. Jagger smiled at them and said, "It's time to get out of your seats."

The biggest hits with the audience were those songs that put down women: "Under My Thumb," "Satisfaction" and "Honky-Tonk Woman."

The Stones covered their full range of material, from "Carol," a Chuck Berry rocker on their first album, to "Midnight Rambler" and "Love in Vain," from their newest and 14th album. Mick Taylor, the newest Stone, played a fine bottleneck lead on the latter.

Keith Richards on lead guitar, Taylor on rhythm guitar, Billy Wyman on bass and Charlie Wyman on drums were very tight all through the 70-minute set, providing a solid base for Jagger's theatrics.

The Garden, after two disastrous rock concerts with a revolving stage, sealed off 4,000 seats behind the fixed stage, and put in a fine sound system. The four-hour concert also featured the Ike and Tina Turner Revue, Terry Reid and B.B. King.

Among the Stones' fans in the audience were rock guitarist Jimi Hendrix and singer Janis Joplin, who came on stage to dance with Tina Turner.

FAMILY

"Darby O'Gill and the Little People" — Leprechaun antics, magic, comedy and pleasant romance all woven together in this lively Irish fantasy by Disney. (Reissue)

"Honeymoon Machine" — Lively Navy farce about young officers who use a computer to break the bank at the casino in Venice.

"Never A Dull Moment" — In this Disney farce, Dick Van Dyke, a struggling young actor is mistaken for a notorious thief and forced to steal a priceless oil painting. There is a hilarious finale.

"Undefeated" — A fullbodied post Civil War adventure. Plot enriched by touches of humor and warm friendships that develop between former adversaries. Violence of war shown in well directed fighting sequences.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Alice's Restaurant" — Thought provoking true happening in New England village in 1964-67. Story told with implied criticism of Establishment and its follies, shows the immature, uncommitted, unmotivated hippies in their own milieu, enjoying their "pot" with sexual abandon and harming only themselves. For the most mature teens only.

"Bandolero" — Well made and well cast, very violent Western has a fitting background of fine desert scenery.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — With script based on reputedly true story of two bandits, this western is almost farcical in tone and documentary in presentation. The outlaws take their trade to Boliva with mixed results. Good dialogue, fine music and memorable performances from cast.

"Romeo and Juliet" — The great tradegy is made vividly new and immediate in a superlative production.

"True Grit" — Amusing satiric western about a determined 14-year-old girl's attempt to track down her father's murderer. Violence and rough language are an integral part of story. Grandeur of scenery is memorable.

BORDERLINE:
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Glory Stompers" — Amateurish run-of-the-mill motorcycle gang story containing the usual amount of violence, killings and rapes.

"Wild Angels" — Outlaw motorcycle mounted rebels that have no place to go but have ruthless and savage gang fights culminates in an orgy in a church.

ADULTS ONLY:

"Easy Rider" — Two dope pushers take a motorcycle trip from Los Angeles to New Orleans. Film relates their experiences which provoke much soul searching about man's inhumanity to man.

"I Am Curious, Yellow" — Complex movie-within-a-movie structure is somewhat confusing and laborious. A Swedish social expose which received undue publicity when seized by customs because of explicit treatment of sex, depiciting intercourse and oral-genital contact full view, full length and minus strategic shadows or cutaways. Even for sophisticates who are not offended, there is just too much "bare" sex for one film. (Parents Magazine).

"Midnight Cowboy" — An offbeat film peopled with the dregs of society is somber and hard hitting. A crippled small time chisler first exploits and then befriends a vain Texan who comes to New York to be a male prostitute. Sordid story told in an uncomproming way and tempered by director's technical skill gives meaning to the term "Adult Movie." (Parents Magazine)

DRAMA REVIEW

'Our Town' Reopens At Broadway Show

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — A high-powered cast does excellently well with the low-pressure virtues of "Our Town" in the production that opened last night at Broadway's ANTA Theater.

Taking part are such familiars as Henry Fonda, Ed Begley, Mildred Natwick, John Beal, John Randolph and Margaret Hamilton. Plaudits to them, their fellow players and Donald Driver for ensemble style that saves the play from turning into just a personality showcase.

Thornton Wilder's frankly sentimental, folksy and philosophically mushy retrospective peep at turn-of-the-century American life transcends any critical analysis now. It won the Pulitzer Prize in 1938 and has been revived often.

Response yesterday to its theme of "isn't life awful—and wonderful!" is a very individual matter. But even the utterly disenchanted may find themselves irresistibly arrested as Fonda, the emceeing stage manager, evokes the innocent pleasures and faded heart throbs of the Gover's Corners community.

The young romance that provides the connective narrative is enacted with unglamorized simplicity by Harvey Evans and Elizabeth Hartman. Miss Hartman is notable especially for treading a path of girlishly arrogant humility uncluttered with the sweetie-pie wiles that haunt many "Our Town" concepts.

Driver, one of the authors of "Your Own Thing," adds a few bits of contemporary theatricality and some unnecessary tinges of down east dialect, but these are small flaws in persuasively paced supervision.

Scenic snippets by Edward Burbridge and the period costumes of David Toser are nicely unobtrusive.

"Our Town" is the third of the guest presentations being displayed under the supervisory banner of the American National Theater and Academy. The engagement is scheduled only through Dec. 27. Fine holiday fare for the whole family.

What other press critics said:

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: " 'Our Town' . . . has lost none of its high quality in the Plumstead Playhouse revival. Everyone in the cast seems just right. It is a pleasure to revisit Grover's Corners."

Douglas Watt, Daily News: " 'Our Town,' which returned last evening . . . in a simply superb production, remains after 31 years a lovely and poignant play . . . The company is an extraordinary one."

Mel Gussow, New York Times: " . . . 'Our Town' . . . was revived with partial success . . . Henry Fonda is . . . sufficient reason to see this revival . .. To his credit, and the play's benefit, he is very much at home in his part. But the director, Donald Driver, is not as much at home with the play. He has chosen unwisely not to let the work speak entirely for itself."

Sausalito Man Injured In Rear-End Accident

William D. McDonald III, 22, of 534 Spring Street, Sausalito, was treated at Marin General Hospital for facial cuts received in a rear-end collision at 1:05 a.m. today on the Sausalito lateral near the Golden Gate Bridge.

California Highway Patrol officers said McDonald's car hit the rear of a car driven by Tonnis Vander Laan, 46, of 820 Sutro Avenue, Novato, when Laan stopped in the roadway to pick up a pedestrian.

'Messiah' Set At Seminary For Dec. 5

The 1969 performance of Handel's "The Messiah" by the Oratorio choir of the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Strawberry is scheduled for Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. in Broadus Hall on the campus.

Soprano soloist will be Nelda Beeson of Tiburon. Miss Beeson is a graduate of Baylor University, where she sang in the a cappella choir.

Other soloists will be Mrs. Wayne Jarboe of Novato, contralto; Jerald Reeves of Concord, tenor; and Michael England of Mill Valley, bass.

Accompanying the choir on the organ will be Mrs. George Suffern of the seminary music faculty and pianist Mrs. William Porter of Sacramento.

Dr. Carlyle D. Bennett, head of the division of church music at the seminary, will direct the program, which is open to the public without charge.

Bridge Accident Injures Pair

Two persons received minor injuries during a rear-end collision at 2:20 a.m. yesterday on the Golden Gate Bridge, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Barbara Morgan, 19, of 99 Cole Drive, Marin City, a passenger in a car driven by Woody Herman Armstead, 23, of 237 Drake Avenue, Marin City, complained of a sore neck and back, and James Dunbar Burrel, 21, of Salem, Ore., driver of the second car, received a bump on the head, officers said. Both said they they would see their own doctors.

Officers said that Burrel hit the rear of Amrstead's car when Armstead slowed because of car trouble.

Floating Body Towed To Shore

The badly decomposed body of a gray-haired man was found floating off Lime Point near the north tower of Golden Gate Bridge at 12:45 p.m. yesterday.

The body was towed ashore by two men who had been fishing, Tom Bryant and John Larsen of 9 Roma Court, Novato.

Marin County Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig said identification, after what appeared to be three weeks to a month in the water, would be possible only through the clothing: a brown sweater, blue suit vest, striped blue trousers and old fashioned, black high topped lace boots.

Hand Tools Stolen

Landscape Plans Are Refunded

Architectural and landscaping plans for two new San Anselmo restaurants, to be located in one building, have been referred back to the applicants by the San Anselmo Design Review Committee.

The committee recommended a color scheme change for Cable Car Burgers and Fisherman's Wharf Fish and Chips at 109 and 111 San Anselmo Avenue. The applicant was asked to move the building back from the street to allow more adequate landscaping.

The committee, meeting Wednesday, also gave architectural approval to Cary J. Gaidno for an addition to his house at 51 Belle Avenue and granted permission for a landscape change at St. Nicholas Church, 102 Ross Avenue.

Homeowner Committee Endorses Incumbent

The nominating committee of the North Marin Federation, composed of home owners' associations in the Novato area, has recommended retention of all incumbent officers.

Recording secretary Evelyn Johnson reported today that the committee on Wednesday proposed reelection of president Arnold Baptiste, vice-president G. R. Greene and secretary-treasurer James A. Sullivan.

Sullivan declined another term for lack of time, according to Mrs. Johnson, and John C. Schoonover was unanimously nominated to replace him.

Election will be held Dec. 18, with nominations from the floor to be accepted.

Schoonover, representing Gnoss Estates howeowners, reminded the federation that the Novato Public Works Department is expected at the Dec. 9 city council meeting to press for Route M rather than Route G for the De Long Avenue extension, as the less expensive. Gnoss Estates residents want Route M, which will require extensive grading of hill, rather than Route G, which will circumvent the hill but take some Gnoss Estates homes. The federation has pledged support to the Gnoss Estates home owners.

Wood Sale

Fresh-cut eucalyptus firewood will be sold by the Marin Jewish Community Center, 200 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Dec. 14.

Youth Breaks Bones In Fall From Bicycle

Tommy John M. Kristensen, 17, of 401 Wellesley Court, Mill Valley, was reported in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured collar bone and spine received when he fell off his bicycle at 1:40 p.m. yesterday on Ridgecrest Road near the Air Force radar station on Mount Tamalpais.

Details of the accident were not available today from the California Highway Patrol.

Nursery Request

An application by Bess and Alexander Gilroy to expand the enrollment of their nursery school at 176 Tunstead Avenue to 28 children will be considered when the San Anselmo Planning Commission meets at 8 p.m. Monday at city hall.

Two Arrested In Novato Brawl

Two Richmond men were booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon following a fracas last night at the Town Club, 1005 Grant Avenue, Novato.

Police said Jesse Esquivel, 28, and Rauly Esquivel Sr., 31, attempted to take drinks out of the bar. Told they could not, they became beligerent, but left. They returned later and were refused service, police said.

At that, they allegedly threw two barstools at the bartender and when some patrons tried to intervene, one reportedly pulled a switchblade.

TRAILS TO A SECRET WORLD

Horsemen Enjoy Hidden San Rafael

By JOANNE GRANT

The secrecy is more felt than real. Others have been there and will return. But while you're there it's as if a curtain had been pulled to provide a peaceful place.

It is a popular spot for horsemen who live nearby, providing instant seclusion without battling traffic.

We rode the trails this week with Junelle Gill of 100 Palm Avenue, a horsewoman eager to share the beauty of her favorite San Rafael trails, through the undeveloped hills, the Black Canyon area, above Dominican College.

It is possible to drive on some of them, the barrow, rutted, winding fire trails, but the effect would be lost.

The riding possibilities seem almost unlimited, with trails branching off in all directions — many without leaving the city of San Rafael.

The trail we took is a dirt-gravel-sand path which stilled the echoing clop clop of a horse on city streets, an immediate, drastic change which sets the stage for what's ahead.

Stretches enclosed by thick, cool growth alternate with sun-shimmered clearings affording an occasional glimpse of the central city with the wall to wall people you know are there, or the residential areas with harsh strips of asphalt cutting up pockets of green.

It's an unpleasant effort to look down and remember, particularly when a thick layer of smog intervenes.

Much more attractive is the trail ahead, the trees and grasses and shrubs that flourish unfettered.

It is marred only by some who have been there earlier, using the edge of the trail as an improvised dump, scattering papers and garbage to spread down the slopes.

The beauty is also broken by the jarring appearance of an old car, long abandoned down the side of a hill.

Trail riders dread the coming burning ban, fearing more extensive dumping along the way.

The tomorrow of the area and others like it is uncertain.

Most of the land is in private ownership and presumably, one day, will be developed as San Rafael spreads. It is zoned for single family dwellings.

Meanwhile, people like the Ralph Gills, a family with more horses than children, and the dozen or so neighbors who also keep horses will use it as a retreat, a happy place for family times together.

A City Planner Who Stresses People

By ANNE BARDWELL

As urban problems multiple and suburbia sprawls, the requirements of the individual often get the short end of the stick.

However, a number of young city planners, including Tiburon's Wayne E. Moody, are breaking away from the mass produced, anonymous approach to planning and are seeking a place for individuality within a good planning framework.

"We need to know what people value in terms of privacy . . . we must allow people the freedom to express themselves," Moody says.

Privacy, freedom of life style and environment, according to Moody, are the things to which zoning ordinances should address themselves, not setbacks and building heights.

"Design criteria, regulation of colors and materials, may not be as necessary as allowing flexibility for the individual . . . people need diversity," Moody says.

But, according to Moody, it's tough to provide such flexibility in zoning ordinances which "are drafted to control the worst things and tend to stop the best things."

This concern for the individual spills over into Moody's approach to Tiburon's specific planning problems, particularly development of the downtown area.

WAYNE E. MOODY
A different view

He wants the downtown to be developed with an emphasis on people, not cars, and to be full of "places for people" to use.

These would include places where people can eat bag lunches, expensive penthouses atop office buildings, moderate cost housing for the elderly near shops and stores, professional offices to keep the downtown alive week days, a cultural center for residents in the evenings and weekends, visitor oriented business to attract the vacationer "who's willing to spend more than a buck" and not the tourist off the tour bus.

According to Moody, such highly diverse uses in the downtown will help relieve the city's major problem — cars — since parking spaces can be used at different times — not just on weekends.

He supports the controversial second major street downtown only "if it relieves the downtown for the pedestrian, not if it simply brings in more cars." He also wants to see parking covered by useable store and office space "so we don't waste valuable land for the automobile."

As to transportation, Moody supports a multiple system which would provide "different kinds of transit for different people, including ferries, commuter and shuttle buses and automobiles. "Rail transit is not feasible," he says.

Moody sees future Tiburon development heading toward the large expensive single family home and plans to work for more efficient land use through such devices as cluster development. "Right now," he says, "much of your land is wasted as half of someone's one-acre site."

The young planner — he's 30 — was an architect before taking up planning in 1965. "As an architect I was dealing with single buildings, not the larger picture. I went into planning to get the two together."

He may return to architecture someday — "There you can see the results of your work soon, in planning it may take years" — but finds planning a "very stimulating, exciting" field.

He's particularly intrigued with the political process of public planning after having worked for the Marin County Planning Department before coming to Tiburon a few months ago.

"The political process is fascinating . . . particularly the power people, especially those who band together into groups, can wield," Moody says.

And, rather than being discouraged by the sometimes unwieldy process of citizen participation, Moody encourages more of it. "I don't know what everyone wants of their city. I have some ideas but I don't want to push them on someone else. I need to find out what the people think," he says.

21 MORE SHOPPING DAYS...

Fire Season For Pruning Scheduled

The burning season for agricultural prunings will open Monday for five months.

During this period, ending April 30, orchardists may burn prunings on days when the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District finds that meteorological conditions are such that burning will not cause pollution.

The word on whether to burn will be carried daily on radio station KNBR (680 kilocycles) at 8:59 and 9:07 a.m., and on radio station KEEN (1370 kilocycles) at 9 and 9:30 a.m.

The burning of household rubbish and garden prunings is not included in the program. Burning of this type is to be illegal in the six-county district after Dec. 31.

Under the agricultural burning program, no fires may be started before 9:30 a.m., no new material can be added after two hours before sunset, the material to be burned must not have a moisture content of more than 30 per cent, and the wind direction must be away from populated areas.

Panel To Review Ecumenical Plan

A proposal by the Ecumenical Association for Housing for the development of the Hilarita housing project in Tiburon as low and moderate income housing will be reviewed by the Tiburon Planning Commission at 8 p.m. Monday in City Hall.

Included in the discussion will be preliminary recommendations by planning director Wayne E. Moody that the commission also consider rezoning the property to planned multiple zone (R-3) and increasing the denisyt above the presently allowed 75 units for the 13 acre site.

The commission also will discuss proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance to allow clustering of buildings in residential areas and amendment to the parking and loading ordinances.

Petaluma Board To See Project

Plans to expand a medical office will be considered by the Petaluma Planning Commission Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The plans submitted by Dr. E. Wayne Lewis, Dr. Mark J. Brockbank, Dr. Nolan R. Cordon and Dr. Raymond G. Jewel include the expansion of the building at 127 Fourth Street and new parking facilities with access to Petaluma Boulevard South.

Also to be studied is a request by Joseph Nizibian for a duplex at 527 Upham Street and a request by the Atlantic and Pacific Building Corp. for a one-year extension on the submission of final maps for two additional Monarch Manor subdivisions.

Drugs Possession Charge To Two

Two San Francisco men were arrested yesterday by Sausalito police when officers found what appeared to be marijuana and dangerous drugs in their car when it was stopped for defective rear lights at 1:30 a.m. on Bridgeway at Locust Street, police reported.

Robert Michael Katen, 21, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of marijuana and dangerous drug possession and for being in a place where narcotics were used. Edwin Frederick Jacoby, 23, was jailed on suspicion of posession of marijuana and dangerous drugs. Each posted $625 bail to appear Monday in Marin Municipal Court.

Change In Routes Delays Mailmen

Mail delays noted for several days at some San Rafael businesses are the result of changes in mail routes, not the oncoming Christmas mail rush, a postal official said today.

Asst. Postmaster E. J. Fisher said there has been no substantial increase in mail volume yet attributal to the Christmas season, and said extra seasonal mail handlers have not yet started work.

Some 60 San Rafael mail routes recently were inspected and adjusted, Fisher said. the result is a temporary slowdown in distribution, including sorting at the main post office on Bellam Boulevard, until employees become familiar with the new patterns.

Approximately 45 seasonal mail workers will be phased onto the job as the Christmas mail rush increases, Fisher said.

Council To Hear Street Proposals

Plan lines for the widening of East Washington Street will be discussed at a public hearing at the Petaluma City Council meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Plans call for widening the street to four lanes from Baylis Street to Highway 101.

Also to be considered is a possible $200,000 bond issue for new fire station facilities and an $800,000 issue to improve Caulfield Lane with a Highway 101 overcrossing and the widening of Lakeville Highway to D and Hopper streets.

Fall Down Hillside Hospitalizes Woman

Teresa McHan, 45, of 192 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion received when she fell down a hillside between 158 and 164 Spencer Avenue at 12:35 a.m. today, Sausalito police reported.

Police said Miss McHan was walking along the road's edge with two companions when she slipped and fell over the side.

Burglar Unlocks Safe At Service Station

A burglar who may have known the safe combination at the Hancock Service Station at 1011 Lincoln Avenue stole $487 between Wednesday and today, San Rafael police reported today.

Entry into the closed station was made through a smashed skylight, police said. Fifty dollars was taken from a money tray and $437 from the undamaged safe in the storage room police said.

Street Poles Topic

Color of poles for street lights in Belvedere will be discussed by the Belvedere City Council at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

20 Foster Homes Needed Per Month

Although there are about 200 foster homes in Marin, an average of 20 more are needed each month, three-quarters of them for teen-agers, an official of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services said today.

Anne Jameson, operations manager of the department and formerly in charge of the foster home division, admitted teens "can be very demanding."

However, beneath the rebellion there is a positive attitude and a tremendous desire for adult guidance, she said.

Miss Jameson, Lucien N. Remy, president of the Marin County Foster Homes Association; Eva Massi, a foster parent, and E. H. (Mel) Augustine, a probation officer, discussed foster homes on the KTIM "Sounding Board" program today, each emphasizing the critical need for more.

Miss Jameson explained that since children sometimes stay three of four years in a foster home, the 200 families who will take foster children are not always available.

Augustine said the current need will increase when a state requirement goes into effect next year forcing counties to care for persons who have been patients at state mental hospitals.

Most of the discussion focused on requirements for being foster parents and Mrs. Massi summed them up from a parent's point of view: "The ability to love someone else's child . . . take them into your heart and your home."

Such items as income, age and size of family and location of the home are secondary to the capacity to care for children, all panelists agreed.

Foster families are paid monthly for the children in their care — $92 for children up to six years; $104 for 7 to 12 year olds; $113 for teen-age girls, and $120 for teen-age boys.

Both Mrs. Massi and Remy agreed that did not cover all of the expense.

Answering a listener's question of the period of adjustment, both foster parents agreed it is trying — for the parents and children. But, "it isn't anything you can't surmount," Mrs. Massi said.

Foster parents are told of the child's background and problems before a child is placed with them, Miss Jameson said.

After placement, one of the places for assistance is the foster homes association which conducts a lecture and discussion series for foster parents, Remy said. The association also recruits for more foster homes and has a clothing and furniture exchange to ease any financial burden.

Commenting that the discussion seemed discouraging to potential foster parents, Remy said he believes persons today are looking for ways to "invest themselves." Taking a child into your home is a very rewarding investment, he said.

In addition to the long-term type of home, there is also a need for emergency care in receiving homes; short term care; pre-adoptive infant homes and ones for persons with mental and physical handicaps, Miss Jameson said.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Ignacio Woman Hurt As Motorcycle Skids

Nina Mae Clark, 54, of 5023 Redwood Highway, Ignacio, was treated yesterday at Novato General Hospital for cut and bruised knees received when the motorcycle she was riding skidded and hit the center divider strip on Alameda Del Prado near Calle Arboleda in Ignacio, at 3:45 p.m.

California Highway Patrol officers said the accident occurred when Leo Max Morlan, 35, of Pinehill Road, Mill Valley, driver of the motorcycle, swerved to pass a car, driven by Wyman Walker of 729 Cherry Street, Novato, which had stopped in the roadway.

$15,000 Tam Valley Attic Blaze

A fire that started in the attic area of the home of John Hulse at 1107 West California Avenue, Tamalpais Valley today did about $15,000 damage to the upper floor of the structure.

The fire broke out at 8:16 a.m. in attic living quarters, the firemen said. The cause of the fire is not known.

Twelve firemen and six units battled the blaze which destroyed the attic level of the home and burned through the roof, firemen said.

Rohnert Park Due Housing Report

The housing element study made by the Rohnert Park Housing Committee will be presented to the city council Monday at 7 p.m. and scheduled for a public hearing in January.

The element study calls for more diversification in housing plans and the development of more open space.

Cavett Named To ABC Show

The selection of Cavett was announced Wednesday by Elton H. Rule, president of ABC. The new show, to premiere Dec. 29, also will compete against the Merv Griffin Show on CBS.

TV REVIEW

Simon And Garfunkel: Poetry In Pop Banality

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — As everyone knows, all you have to do today to become an instant philosopher is record a hit song. Immediately your oracular views on Vietnam, politics and other issues are gathered for posterity—or at least until you fall out of the "Top 10" of the song charts.

Your views, of course, are directly proportionate in importance to the size of the commercial record market that is a vailable to buy your music. If the market of persons under 25 were, say, half its size today, your views would be accorded half the importance. As it is, however, pelvic rotators and guitar twangers aspire to Schopenhauer's berth. Thus democracy.

One of the several things I like about Paul Simon, the writing half of the Simon and Garfunkel team that has a provocative and tuneful one-hour special on CBS-TV Sunday night, is his sense of perspective. He has been called a poet. He says:

"In my opinion the lyrics of most pop songs today are so banal that if you show a spark of intelligence they call you a poet. And if you say you're not a poet, then people think you're putting yourself down. The people who call you a poet are generally people who never read poetry." Simon adds:

"I don't try to say anything I think the kids want to hear. You can't do anything real that way. I try to take an emotion or feeling I've had and capture it in one incident. And I don't worry about the message of the song. I worry about its entertaining — not boring — an audience. That comes first."

Their Sunday night special is a blend of documentary technique and music. The documentary-style footage includes their traveling and talking with each other, film clips of the nation today—at peace and at war (domestically too)—and a montage of past influences on their development, from funny old movie segments to the brief political ascension of the late, tragic brothers Kennedy.

The whole purpose of all this, with musical accompaniment, is to show some of the forces that affected them as growing human beings, and therefore is reflected in their music. Mainly it is an effective, sometimes touching, video device. Several times it is pretentious because it is obvious. But, thankfully, even at these times, their disarming honesty and perspective about what they really are —just very appealing musicians —is their salvation.

They sing exceptionally well, of course, and seem attractively timeless rather than just "pop." There might have been less about how they record—who cares, really? Their views, meanwhile, are about as controversial as warm milk—for example, they are against the Vietnam mess and hunger. But today, of course, it's commercial to appear controversial—which is why so many musical shows by young performers seem more like position papers.

St. Peter's Sacred Chair In Rome Isn't Real Thing

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—In St. Peter's Basilica, in a special baroque shrine, there stands a chair venerated by Roman Catholics for centuries as one that may have been used by the Apostle Peter.

Popes of old used this chair for a throne. For one period of two centuries, it was locked in a vault as a precious relic.

Now Pope Paul VI must decide how to dispose of it. The chair has been identified by a panel of experts as dating from no earlier than the ninth century.

A scientific commission appointed by Pope Paul in July, 1968, reported yesterday that no part of the chair was old enough to date from St. Peter's time.

The question now is whether the Pope will replace the chair in the magnificent baroque shrine built for it by Giovanni Lorenzo Bernini in the 17th century. The shrine stands in St. Peter's Basilica.

Msgr. Michele Maccarrone, head of the commission, told newsmen yesterday that the chair will be given protective treatment. Beyond that, Vatican sources said, the future of the chair is the Pope's concern.

Maccarrone said carbon dating and other tests put the age of the chair around the middle of the ninth century and there were grounds to believe it may have been the coronation throne of the Emperor Charles the Bald.

Inflation Hits Food Industry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Inflation, bumper crops and falling prices are taking their toll in California's food processing industry.

Robert L. Gibson Jr., president of California Canners and Growers, says the industry is going through its second consecutive year of losses and the future promises more of the same.

"The situation in which we find ourselves is largely the result of a long and steady inflation of our economy. The inflationary trend must be slowed drastically if we are to avoid an even more painful economic reckoning."

Gibson said the co-op is undergoing an extensive cost-cutting program to help stablize its marketing position. He said it has been deemed undesirable to expand existing processing plants to handle unusally large harvests.

Bishop Myers Raps Papists On Pill Issue

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Episcopal Bishop C. Kilmer Myers has strongly criticized American Roman Catholic bishops for supporting Pope Paul VI in his ban on birth control.

"The Roman Catholic hierarchy of this protein-rich nation does not have the courage to part company with a sincere but misled Pope who, led by obsolescent theologies, defines artificial population control as objective evil," Myers said.

The criticism was made during Myers' Thanksgiving Day sermon at Grace Cathedral in reaction to a vote of Catholic bishops at a Washington conference early this month against goverment-sponsored birth control programs.

In his sermon yesterday, Myers questioned how Americans could celebrate "these laden tables of Thanksgiving when famine is the future for untold millions."

"The proteins consumed by Americans on this day alone never will be consumed in like numbers by growing millions of men, women and children in Asia and Africa in their entire life span.

DALLAS DIVE — Cowboys' fullback Dan Reeves (30) dived into the end zone with a second quarter touchdown that helped Dallas tie the San Francisco 49ers 24-24 at Dallas. (UPI Telephoto)

Krueger's Big Paw Gives 49ers A Tie

Veteran Blocks Kick By Dallas

DALLAS (UPI)—Two great early offensive plays and the big paw of defensive tackle Charlie Krueger on defense with just 12 seconds left gave the San Francisco 49ers something to be thankful for today — the day after Thanksgiving.

The 49ers, a patched up crew on defense due to a rash of injuries, deserved a better fate, but in the end they had to settle for what happiness a 24-24 tie against the Capital Division leading Dallas Cowbeys could provide.

14-0 LEAD

"They made two great plays early," Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry said in retrospect after San Francisco burst into a 14-0 lead and forced the Cowboys to play catch up.

He was referring to a 60-yard runback of the opening kickoff by 156-pound speedster Nolan Smith that set up the 49ers' first touchdown — a 3-yard burst by Ken Willard — with just 2:03 gone in the game; and, a 36-yard screen pass from John Brodie to Willard on the 49ers' next possession that set up the second touchdown.

Krueger, an 11-year veteran, turned in his heroics just when it seemed the Cowboys were going to pull the game out of the fire.

The Cowboys drove 60 yards in the final two minutes of the game to set up what looked like a sure winning three-pointer by Dallas' Mike Clark. But, the Cowboys drew an offside penalty and Clark had to kick from the 37-yard line instead of the 32 as the clock ticked away.

BREAKS THROUGH

Krueger, somehow, broke through the Cowboys' front cordon and stuck up his hand at just the right instant. The ball, which Clark said "looked like it was taking off on a true course," struck Krueger's extended hand and slid off harmlessly toward the sideline to kill the Dallas chance.

"I was just lucky," Krueger said. "I didn't do anything special to get that much penetration."

It was Willard who also pulled in a 19-yard pass from Brodie while two Cowboy defenders swarmed around him to climax the drive he had started with the screen pass that had sucked the Cowboys far out of position.

19-YARDER

The other 49er points came on a 19-yard toss from Brodie to Gene Washington in the third period and on a 21-yard field goal by Momcilo Gavric after Jimmy Johnson had opened the door with the 49ers' third interception of the night against the Cowboys' Craig Morton.

Morton, underthrowing much of the time and hopelessly watching his receivers drop passes at other times, did manage to hit Bobby Hayes with a 31-yarder and Lance Rentzel with a 19-yarder for touchdowns, but wound up with only 16 hits in 37 attempts for 168 net yards compared to 18 of 33 for 227 yards for Brodie.

HERITAGE GOLF

Palmer, Archer Tie For Lead

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer held a share of the lead going into today's second round of the $100,000 Heritage Golf Classic —the first time he's been in such a position since his comeback — but the old charger is far, far from satisfied.

"It's one of the best rounds I've had in a long time," Palmer said after shooting a three-under par 68 yesterday for a tie with George Archer in the No. 1 spot.

NOT PUTTING

"But I'm still not putting," Palmer continued.

"If I'd putted like I have in the past, I could have been eight under par after seven holes. It would have been unusual, but it was very possible."

As it was, he birdied three of the first seven, just missing an eagle on the par five second, and played par golf the rest of the way. In all, he missed five putts of six feet or less, and two more from eight feet, an indication of just how strong his long game is.

Two of his birds came on putts of 12 and 20 feet.

"You have to make a percentage of those or you're just wasting your time out here. But you should make those little short ones and I'm just not doing it," he said.

Archer had more trouble with the double-tough little Harbour Town golf links, an onceanside, 6,655 yard, par 71 layout that Jim Colbert called "the toughest course we've played all year."

Big George had three bogeys, once from a trap, once from the deep rough and once from the water. But he had six birds, only one from more than 10 feet.

Colbert, a balding young tour regular, was tied for third with veterans Charley Sifford and B. R. (Mac) McLendon, all at 69. Terry Wilcox, Fred Marti, Dave Ragen and Grier Jones, all at 70, rounded out the list of those who managed to break par.

JACK AT 71

There were more than twice as many who had 80s and up, including a dismal 97 by home pro Wallace Palmer, no relation to Arnold.

Palmer, who has been in the top 10 only once since making a comeback from a two-month absence with a hip ailment, has had severe problems with his putting in recent weeks, though he has been among the best from tee to green. It was the same thing yesterday.

Marin Youngsters Take To The Ice

You wouldn't think the mommies and daddies of Marvelous Marin County would ever allow their male heirs to participate in a sport whose rule book lists such violence as hooking, slashing, misconduct, elbowing, kicking, molesting officials, spearing, roughing or throwing sticks.

For example, one paragraph of the rule book states: "Slashing another player with a stick costs two minutes (even if the player is missed), five minutes if he is cut on the face or head."

I think it'll cost you 15 minutes for murder.

My heavens! What's going on around here? Who's the referee, Henry Cabot Lodge?

We don't seem quite ready for that kind of mayhem yet. We're the Bounty County, remember? We produce outstanding golfers, swimmers, tennis players and basketballers because our kids own their own courses, pools, courts and gymnasiums. But slashing? Spearing? Get me the Peace Corps.

Not As Violent As It Sounds

But, wait a minute. There are about 70 Marin youngsters who are having a ball in this sport whose rule book reads more like "Battle Cry," but is actually much less violent on the junior level.

It's the Marin Junior Ice Hockey Club whose membership is composed of boys up to 14 years of age. And although the program was skating on thin ice there for a spell due to lack of interest, things have begun to flourish so that now the club has three teams in Bay Area league competition and about 30 more lads in beginner school.

Club headquarters is Raydine's Ice Rink in Corte Madera whose owner, Ray Schramm, started the junior program in 1963. Last year, after six years of hard work, the program nearly died for lack of boys until Al Southern took over the club presidency and started recruiting adults and boys to get the puck moving at full speed.

A Reputation As Scrappers

Right now they're in the middle of the 1969-70 schedule and Marin's three teams (Squirts, 10 and under, Pee Wees, 12 and under, and Bantams, 14 and under) have a composite winning record against league teams from Santa Rosa, Berkeley, San Francisco and Belmont, of which club official Don Anderson says is "fantastic because about half of these kids had never played in a game before this year and some of them had never been on skates before this summer. Our boys are getting a reputation around the league as scrappers because what they lack in skill they make up in desire."

Added Anderson, an insurance executive and one of about two dozen adults directing the club: "It's a great thing to watch these kids; after a while their enthusiasm is contagious."

They Need A Helping Hand

Anderson said the club presently is in the process of incorporation with several fund-raising drives planned to enlarge the program. "It costs about $75 to outfit each player," he said, "and we'll need approximetely $2,000 more to finish out our season." They can use a financial helping hand.

Games are usually played on Sundays with practice sessions every Saturday, 5-6 p.m. at Raydine's. If you'd like your youngster to get into this fast and exciting sport merely show up at one of the practice sessions to sign him up.

And, mother, don't worry about the spearing, kicking, slashing etc. The boys are well supervised by responsible men.

Dodgers' Sizemore Named N.L. Rookie Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Sizemore, the versatile Los Angeles Dodger infielder who alternated between shortstop and second base, was named today the Rookie-of-the-Year in the National League.

Sizemore, 24, converted into a shortstop by Manager Walter Alston last spring after spending 1968 in the minors as a catcher, won by a surprisingly large margin in the vote of a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America, two from each league city.

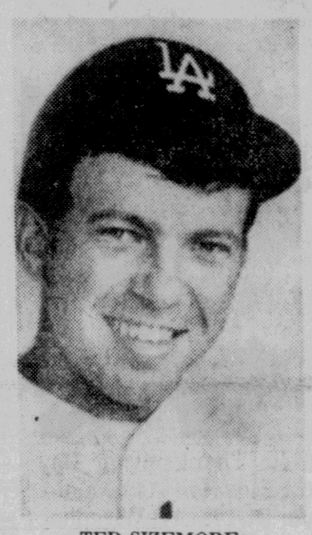
LANDSLIDE

The seventh Dodger to win the rookie award received 14 votes in his landslide victory. Coco Laboy, Montreal third baseman, and Al Oliver, Pittsburgh first baseman, each received three votes. Bob Didier, Atlanta catcher, and Larry Hisle, Philadelphia outfielder, each drew two votes.

The award, announced by Jack Lang, secretary-treasurer of the writers association was based on a secret vote that covered only regular season play.

It was the final award of the annual series by the writers, all of which went to players on different clubs.

Lou Piniella of Kansas City was the American League's top rookie. Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota won the American League's Most Valuable Player Award and Willie McCovey of San Francisco won the same MVP honors in the National League.



TED SIZEMORE

CY YOUNG

The Cy Young Award for pitchers was taken by Tom Seaver of New York in the National and shared by Denny McLain of Detroit and Mike Cuellar of Baltimore in the American.

Sizemore, 24, succeeded Johnny Bench, Cincinnati catcher, who was the 1968 winner. He joined such other former Dodger winners as Don Newcombe, Jackie Robinson Joe Black, Junior Gilliam, Frank Howard and Jim Lefebvre.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Sizemore taught in Detroit last winter but this year has been employed in the Dodgers' speaking bureau.

He hit .271 in 159 games and had 20 doubles, five triples, four homers and 46 runs batted in. He played 46 games at short until Maury Wills arrived in June and then 118 at second base, obviously splitting some games at both positions.

BATTED .253

Laboy, who spent 10 years knocking around the minors before he got his chance in the major league expansion draft, was Montreal's regular third baseman hitting .253 with 18 homers and 83 RBI.

Oliver was beaten out by Bob Robertson in the battle for first base in the Pittsburgh camp last spring but took over the job and hit .285 with 17 homers and 70 RBI.

Didier, an unknown 20-year-old inherited the Braves' catching job after Joe Torre was traded to St. Louis and batted .256. He handled the tough job of catching Phil Niekro's knucklers and was a regular on a division winning team.

Hisle, moving up from the farm system after recovering from an attack of hepatitis, was the Phils' center fielder in 1969, hitting .266 with 20 homers and knocking in 56 runs.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Texas And Arkansas Romp

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas A&M tried to grab a Texas Wishbone Thanksgiving Day and wound up empty-handed . . . and Texas Tech just got the bird from Arkansas.

Texas' bone-jarring Longhorns smashed Texas A&M 49-12 despite the Aggies' use of the Wishbone-T offense and Arkansas smothered Texas Tech 33-0 in traditional holiday games yesterday.

Their victories set up a classic battle between top-ranked Texas and second-ranked Arkansas on Dec. 6. Both undefeated in nine games, the Longhorns and Razorbacks meet that day for the Southwest Conference title, a spot in the Cotton Bowl and probably No. 1 ranking.

WISHBONE-T

"We used the Wishbone-T to get fullback Steve Burks and tailback Larry Stegent into the game at the same time," said Texas Tech Coach Gene Stallings. "Our line just wasn't blocking as good as needed."

Stallings added: "Texas is as good a football team as I've ever seen. I know they're the best I've every played. They are better than I thought."

"Our defense was magnificent behind the artistry of Archie Manning.

The Longhorns' nation-leading rushers roamed all over the Aggies' defense. Jim Bertelson raced 63 yards for a touchdown on the fourth play of the game —and the Longhorns were off and running for 330 yards.

"I forgot which team to root for. Not really. I'm not colorblind."

PICNIC

Meanwhile, in Little Rock, Arkansas was having a regular Thanksgiving Day picnic with Texas Tech. The Razorbacks intercepted five passes and dumped Napper nine times.

In the day's only other major game, 14th-ranked Mississippi clouted Mississippi State 48-22 blitz," said Broyles. "If we are successful we stay with it. And we were successful today."

Texas Tech Coach J. T. King, who lost 49-7 early in the season to Texas, wouldn't compare the two.

"Just let the people that pay $6 find out next week," he said.

Manning passed for two touchdowns and scored two more himself as Mississippi came up with some late lightning to rip Mississippi State.

The Army-Navy game highlights a light football card Saturday. While the two tangle in their annual battle in Philadelphia, 12th-ranked Auburn plays Alabama and third-rated Penn State meets North Carolina State.

Elsewhere, Boston College travels to Syracuse; Georgia visits Georgia Tech; Tennessee hosts Vanderbilt; Southern Mississippi plays at home to West Texas State; Oklahoma plays at Oklahoma State; Baylor visits Rice and Xavier, Ohio, is at Texas-El-Paso.

Longshot Wins At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO (AP) — Longshot I've Bin Spotted came from behind to win the $20,000 added Thanksgiving Day Handicap at Bay Meadows yesterday.

E. Welch, piloted the winner, carrying 110 pounds, to a 1:42 2-5 clocking over the 1 1-16 mile test.

I've Bin Spotted paid $141.40, $35.40 and $14.80. A Pleasant Sort returned $5.60 and $4.80 for place and Grey Cricket paid $10.20 to show.

Warriors Vs. Lakers In TV Game Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors meet the Los Angeles Lakers tonight in National Basketball Association action, following a 118-116 loss yesterday to Baltimore.

It was touch and go for the Bullets as the Warriors kept the game tied 15 times. The great shooting of Baltimore's Jack Marin helped the Bullets pull away with the lead early in the last period.

The Warriors nearly caught up late in the game when Jeff Mullins scored nine straight points, making it 117-116 with 24 seconds left to play.

The Warriors had been looking for their third straight victory when they met Batimore and will try a fresh start against the Lakers tonight. The game will be televised on Channel 2 starting at 8 o'clock.

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP) — Kel Nagle of Australia fired a 67 today and grabbed a one stroke lead over New Zealand's Bob Charles for two rounds of the New Zealand Open Golf Tournament.

Nagle had a 69 yesterday for a 136 total over the par 70 Belmont links. Charles matched the 67 of Nagle's today for a two-day total of 137.

Lincoln Wins S.F. Grid Title

A pass interception by Jim Wilderson and a fumble recovery by Jim Allen set up the touchdowns that gave Lincoln High School a 12-0 victory over Balboa yesterday in the San Francisco Academic Athletic Association's football championship game before a crowd of 12,500 at Kezar Stadium.

Chris Kanios passed 25 yards to Vic Chambers for the first score in the second quarter following Wilkerson's interception and the second TD came in the third quarter on a one-yard sneak by Kanios following Allen's recovery.

Chiefs Knock Off Broncos, Now Get 10 Days Of Rest

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs get a welcome 10-day respite from the American Football League wars, then gird for what Coach Hank Stram calls "the second half of our season."

The Chiefs have won 10 of their first 12 games and trail Oakland by a half game in the AFL Western Division race after whipping Denver 31-17 in a Thanksgiving Day game here.

'FIRST HALF'

Stram, looking to the Chiefs' windup battle with Oakland for the divisional championship, then the AFL playoffs and perhaps a Super Bowl berth, calls what has transpired just "the first half."

Kansas City doesn't play again until Dec. 7 when Buffalo and O. J. Simpson come here. Then the Chiefs play at Oakland Dec. 13, and the AFL semifinals will be played Dec. 20 with the Chiefs or Raiders hosting one semifinal game, depending upon who comes out on top.

Referring to the 10-day layoff, Stram said "It should help us tremendously as we go into the last part of the season."

MILD SCARE

Kansas City, which can reclaim first place in the West if the New York Jets defeat Oakland Sunday, never trailed Denver although the Broncos now 4-7-1, rallied to throw a mild scare into the Chiefs.

Kansas City built a 24-3 lead on Jan Stenerud's 16-yard field goal; two 80-yard drives capped by short runs for touchdowns by Warren McVea, and Emmitt Thomas' 45-yard pass interception run. It was Stenerud's 11th straight field goal, an AFL record.

Ferguson Draws Fine, Suspension

MONTREAL (AP) — Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, suspended John Ferguson, Montreal Canadiens left winger, for six games last night and handed out a total of $5,775 in fines to two clubs and their players.

The penalties were the result of a stick-swinging incident between Ferguson and Gary Sabourin of the St. Louis Blues at St. Louis Nov. 15. The incident was followed by a general melee in which players from both teams left their benches.

BY ORDER

Ferguson's suspension included Wednesday night's game against the Maple Leafs in Toronto, which he sat out by the president's order.

The NHL president slapped the St. Louis hockey club with a $2,000 fine for failing to stop its players' mass exodus from the bench and the Montreal club $1,000 for the same infraction.

The difference in the club fines was due to the fact that the Nov. 15 incident was the second violation by the Blues in successive games.

Ferguson, who received a match penalty and an automatic $100 fine and an additional $25 for a misconduct penalty, also is assessed $200 for stick-swinging, bringing his outlay to $325.

SALARY

In addition, the 31-year-old Vancouver native will have his salary for the six games he misses remitted to the NHL.

Campbell game 11 players from each club fines of $100 on the Blues' Tim Ecclestone for being first to leave the bench and an extra $150 on Noel Picard of St. Louis for leaving the penalty bench to join the fracas.

Campbell, president of the league since 1946, said it is the stiffest penalty he has ever handed out.

Chargers Again Top Oilers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — There is something about the Houston Oilers that seems to bring out the best in the San Diego Chargers.

That was the situation yesterday as the Chargers came from behind in the second half and upset the Oilers, 21-17, before a crowd of 40,065 in the Astrodome.

10 OF 11

San Diego now has won 10 of the last 11 games between the two American Football League clubs.

An 11-yard interception return for a touchdown by Charger safety Kenny Graham in the fourth quarter was the killing blow to Houston's Thanksgiving Day hopes. Houston was leading 17-14 when Graham picked off the pass throw by Oilers quarterback Don Trull from his end zone.

"We just stunk in the second half," Lemm said. "We had no rush, no defense and no offense."

PRAISE

"We had a tremendous effort, just what we had been preaching," Waller said.

Hadl guided the Chargers to a touchdown early in the second half after rookie Marty Domres passed to Gary Garrison for 23 yards for the first one.

Hadl took the Chargers 73 yards in 10 plays following the second half kickoff to cut the margin to 14-17. Russ Smith went the final three.

DRIVE

Beathard scored from two yards out to cap a 45-yard drive for one Houston touchdown and guided the Oilers 70 yards to the three where he suffered an ankle injury after a five-yard run. Trull entered the game and on the first play he hit Hoyle Granger with a three-yard touchdown pass.

Roy Gerela kicked a 42-yard field goal to give Houston a 17-7 halftime lead but that was all the Oilers could do for the day.

Vikings Shut Out Lions To Clinch Divisional Title

DETROIT (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings had a feast on Thanksgiving Day and the Detroit Lions were the turkeys.

And the Lions got the stuffing knocked out of them as they fell 27-0 to the Vikings and gave Minnesota the Central Division title of the National Football League free and clear.

It was the first time Detroit has been shut out this year. Last year the Lions were shut out once—on Thanksgiving Day 12-0 by Philadelphia under sloppy playing conditions much like they faced yesterday in a blizzard at Tiger Stadium.

LIKE BIRD

"We got it stuffed to us both times, just like the big bird," said Detroit coach Joe Schmidt, referring to the traditional Thanksgiving Day turkey.

It was primarily the onslaught of Minnesota's fearsome front four of Carl Eller, Gary Larsen, Alan Page and Jim Marshall that gave Detroit problems, together with the bad field position the Lions found themselves in all day.

The snow came down so hard in the first quarter it was hard to see and both teams found difficult going on the slushy ground.

But Paul Dickson blocked a Lem Barney punt and the Vikings recovered on Detroit's 16 in the first quarter. Four plays later Dave Osborn leaped into the end zone for the first Minnesota touchdown.

LIKE THAT

The rest of the game was like that, with the Vikings never passing up an opportunity.

"It was one of those kind of ball games where we got the first break and that was it," said Minnesota coach Bud Grant. "If they got the first break, maybe it would have been the other way around."

The win gave Minnesota a 10-1 record and Detroit dropped to 7-4. Even if the Vikings lose their last three games and the Lions win, Minnesota would go to the playoff because they beat Detroit twice.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Sportsmen Await Rains To Liven Up The Action

Fishing in San Pablo Bay is fair, though costly bait-wise. Sam Knoles of San Anselmo and I tried it this week and Sam outfished me with his fly rod. He caught a 12-pound bass along with a couple of flounders, plus about five bullheads; I couldn't connect on a bass, but caught about six flounders and possibly had 15 bullhead bites.

All this cost us about 50 ghost shrimp and this hurts. We have not been connecting with sturgeon, either, and I think it is because those pesty bullheads take the bait almost before it reaches the bottom. A good rain would freshen the water and most of these rough fish would leave the area. Usually a good rain year puts the sturgeon down from the rivers right in our backyard at San Pablo Bay and fishing is great.

ANOTHER AREA in which rain is a most important factor is in the Tomales Bay-White House Pool areas. Last year, as far as I can determine, we had 14 rainy days in this area as compared with 1 rainy day this year.

Jim Crunk, the fish and game man in charge of the Nicasio fish trap, had taken the first salmon from the trap on Nov. 14 of last year. The salmon are then taken by a tank truck up to Halleck and Nicasio creeks above Nicasio Dam where they are released so that they are able to spawn in these spawning stream areas.

But this year the salmon are still in Tomales Bay and the tide waters of Papermill Creek while Crunk waits for rain.

This, of course, does the salmon no good as the long wait from old age and other factors. Fishermen who catch the older salmon find the fish turning red in color, the flesh soft and fungus growths starting on parts of the body. Anglers usually release this poor quality fish back to the stream, hoping that they may reach the spawning area.

RAIN IN this area usually means rain and snow in the far north, causing freeze-ups in the Tule Lake areas. When this occurs, the ducks and geese start their migration southward to the California wintering waterfowl areas.

If the rains occur very late, then these birds arrive in late December and January or close to the end of the duck season, much to the chagrin of the California hunters. If you know a good rain maker tell him we need rain.

LAST WEEK a two-day open season for wild turkeys was held in San Luis Obispo County. Much of the area opened was located on private property so my comment that you might be going on a wild goose chase was a valid one.

TODAY I received some additional data on California's wild turkey stocking program. An unexpected bonanza of 239 Rio Grande turkeys was received from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Texas sent 222 hens and 17 toms. Since male birds were in short supply, Department of Fish and Game biologists proceeded to trap in San Diego and San Luis Obispo counties. After trapping operations, 53 toms and 243 hens were released in 19 areas in 14 counties.

Nine counties were stocked for the first time — Los Angeles, Tulare, Madera, Calaveras, El Dorado, Butte, Glenn, Tehama and Santa Clara.

Shasta, Colusa and Yuba were given booster plants.

Next year Texas has consented to send us additional birds for stocking in exchange for pheasants, chukers and mountain quail. Also, the game managers will continue to trap and transplant from established flocks. With good survival and reproduction, wild turkeys should become a familiar sight in much of California's oak belt.

ANOTHER RECENT report from the Department of Fish and Game tells of Arctic Grayling plants in California waters for the first time in more than 35 years.

Fingerlings are being reared at Hot Creek Hatchery in Mono County and fingerlings are scheduled to be planted this fall in about 10 Sierra-Nevada lakes from Plumas to Madera counties.

Several thousands fish will be held in the hatchery until next year when they will be used for brood stock so that eggs can be taken to supply water throughout California in years to come.

As a game fish, the Grayling rates high in popularity. It is attractive in form and coloration, fights well, and takes a fly readily. Spinners and spoons also make effective lures and salmon eggs have been used.

Many anglers feel that the Graylings are easy to catch, but their great value is best noted in waters sometimes unsuitable for other fish, especially in waters with low oxygen counts. The Grayling seems to tolerate these waters with ease.

So, one of these days we may be shooting wild turkeys and catching Grayling. And we won't have to go on a wild goose chase to do this.

Knicks Try For All-Time NBA Record

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Knicks, already in the National Basketball Association record book for any number of reasons this season, go after a major mark tonight—the longest winning streak in the 24-year history of the league.

Winners of 17 straight, the New Yorkers face the Cincinnati Royals at Cleveland—and victory will eclipse the loop mark they now share with the Washington Capitals of 1946 and the Boston Celtics of 1959.

Additionally, the Knicks have won 22 of 23, far and away the fastest start of any team in NBA history.

The Knicks notched their 17th straight by routing the Atlanta Hawks Wednesday night, 138-108, putting together an awesome third period in which they outscored the Hawks, 38-12.

Giants Might Get Murakami Back

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants hope chapter two of the Masanori Murakami story has a happier ending than chapter one.

Murakami, or "Mashi" as he is known to the Giants, had a brief fling with the big league club in 1965 and may be on his way back to San Francisco.

The San Francisco Chronicle quoted an unidentified Giants' official yesterday as saying the 25-year-old Japanese pitcher would leave Japan and arrive in San Francisco Dec. 5 to prepare for spring training with the Giants in Arizona.

The spokesman said the return of "Mashi" depends on whether "the Giants can settle Murakami's contract problems with the Nankai Hawks."

The Hawks own Murakami in Japan and the Giants have rights to him in the United States.

The 6-foot, 180-pound lefthander was drafted out of Japan along with three other Japanese players by Giants' scout Cappy Harada. Murakami served his American apprenticeship with Fresno of the California League, then came to the big club at the tail end of the 1964 season.

He hurled 15 innings, gave up one earned run, allowed eight bases on balls and struck out 15 men. His one victory in that stretch was the first pitching decision by a Japanese in the history of American major league baseball.

Following a bitter contract dispute between the Giants and Hawks, Murakami came back to San Francisco in 1965. He posted a 4-1 record, mainly in relief.

But another contract squabble and heavy parental pressure influenced Murakami to return to the Hawks.

When Giants' manager Clyde King and coach Wes Westrum went on their recent tour of the Orient to conduct baseball clinics, they contacted Murakami who reportedly said he was weary of his irregular role on the Hawks. Murakami has been both starting and relieving.

But even if Murakami does come back to San Francisco, the Giants will have to work out ownership rights with the Hawks once again.

Pop Warner: San Rafael Vs. Vallejo

Undefeated San Rafael Junior Bulldogs of the Marin County League meet the once-beaten Vallejo Junior Dons of the North Conta Costa County League tomorrow, 1 p.m. at Marin Catholic High School in a Pop Warner Football Conference bowl game.

Led by three-year veteran quarterback David Steele and hard-running tailback Steve D'Ambra, the Junior Bulldogs enter the post-season game with seven victories and one tie on their championship record.

Vallejo also had seven victories along with its one loss and features a bevy of fleet backs as its main weapon.

Pop Warner football is for boys aged 10-14 in limited weight classifications. Admission to tomorrow's game is free.

The New York Yankees ended their American League season with five straight victories but finished fifth in the Eastern Division with an 80-81 record. Their final home game was rained out.

Improvement Seen At San Marin High

(Third in a series on Marin County high school basketball prospects.)

San Marin High School's basketball hopes would seem to be ideal.

Everybody's back.

Not only are all the starters, benchwarmers and what have you from last year's team back, the Mustangs have even managed to pick up one important member of another team.

That's Dana LaFerriere, only a junior, still growing, and now standing an imposing 6 foot-8. He was a starter for Novato as a sophomore last season.

Add LaFerriere to a bunch that also includes explosive, high-scoring Gary Howard, talented Jim Thompson, and starters Phil Adams, Dwight Darling Rick Harmon and Mike Kassenbrock, and you have the makings of a pretty good team.

Whether it will be a championship team is an altogether different matter, although the Mustangs should be challengers. They did manage to win only three games all of last year, including two in league play, in their first year of varsity competition when there were no seniors in the school, and the big problem here for coach Andy Frauenhofer is to turn a team of losers into winners, something which doesn't happen overnight.

LaFerriere's presence will give the Mustangs something they sorely needed last season — any kind of height.

"He'll help us an awful lot," Frauenhofer said. "We could still use some fair-sized forwards, but overall, things look very optimistic."

Howard, who finished third in league scoring last year, and first on the season, is a tremendous offensive player but still needs to learn some more defensive techniques, according to Frauenhofer.

PREP BASKETBALL

Rancho Cotate Ready For Title Challenge

(Third in a series on southern Sonoma County high school basketball prospects.)

For the first time in its history, Rancho Coatate (Rohnert Park) appears ready to challenge for the North Bay League Section II basketball crown.

Coach Don Kite had a young team last year (most of the squad were sophomores and juniors) and, despite the loss of one of his top players, figures the Cougars will be in NBL-II title contention this year.

Stan Erickson, the sharpshooting guard on last year's squad, has transferred to Montgomery (Santa Rosa) and will be missed. Kite has several candidates to fill the spot, however.

The club will be built around 6-foot-5 junior Ron Seiler, among the league's top 10 scorers last season as a sophomore. Seiler was the league's top rebounder and figures to dominate the boards in most Cougar games this year.

Junior Brian Van Leuven and senior Greg Woods will also be offensive sparkplugs for Rancho Cotate. Woods was a scoring threat and outstanding on defense last season while Van Leuven sat out most of the year with injuries.

The NBL-II race figures to be tough this season with the addition of Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa to the league. The Cardinals were rated among the top in Redwood Empire circles last season when they played as an independent. Defending champion Healdsburg has lost most of its offense, but runners-up El Molino of Forestville and Sonoma still figure to be powerful.

Arizona State sophomore Calvin Demery caught 11 passes for 201 yards and two touchdowns, made six tackles and intercepted a pass against Minnesota in his first college game this fall.

Today is Friday, Nov. 28, the 332nd day of 1969 with 33 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1520, Ferdinand Magellan entered the Pacific Ocean on his way around the world. He was the first European to sail that body of water from the east.

In 1956, the United States expressed concern to Syria over substantial shipments of Soviet arms to that Middle East nation.

A thought for the day: President George Washington said, "The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and alter their constitution of government."

Life's Savings Home For Rats

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — African office messenger Raphael Mgagula walked into a building society here to deposit Rands 120 ($168) in hard-earned savings from his Rands 13 ($18.20) a week salary.

He emptied a brown paper bag of shredded paper on the counter — rats had made confetti of his nest egg. "We have lost everything," said Raphael, 30-year-old father of three.

But the building society put him in touch with the reserve bank, which promised to do "all we can to help him replace the notes."

Don't Be Imaginative, Just Lead Your Partner's Suit

One of the reasons you bid a suit in a competitive auction is to suggest a favorable opening lead to your partner. This works well when your partner is suggestible, but everybody occasionally gets a partner who will go out of his way to find a "brilliant" opening lead instead of a simple lead in the suit you have bid. Save today's hand to show to your imaginative partner. It won't do you any good (there is no cure for imagination), but it will save wear and tear on your voice.

MATCH POINTS

When today's hand was played a few weeks ago in a team playoff, the Dallas Aces won the right to represent North America in the 1970 world championship. The Dallas team picked up 15 international match points on this hand when West went out of his way to select an imaginative opening lead.

South won the first trick with the ace of spades and returned the jack. West might have saved a trick by playing low, but he covered with the queen. Declarer ruffed in the dummy, and all of his spades became established when East dropped the nine.

LEADS TRUMP

Declarer next led a trump from dummy, and East casually played low, trying to look like a man who had nothing to hide. South remembered the double of five clubs and tried a deep finesse with the jack of clubs. When this won, South cashed the ace of clubs and lost only one trick, scoring 950 points for his doubled game with an overtrick.

AT OTHER TABLE

At the other table of the match the opening lead against five clubs was a heart. Declarer might have saved a trick, but he actually went down two. The difference between the spade lead and the heart lead was 1,150 points.

East was pensive at the end of the hand. "I was hoping you'd lead a heart," he observed quietly to his partner. "Tell me, if I had bid spades, would you have led a heart?"

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♥ A 8 3
♦ A Q 8 5 4 2
♣ 9 8 6.

ANSWER: Bid one diamond or pass.

You have 10 points in high cards and two points for the singleton. Since the high-card structure is excellent you have a borderline opening bid. Some experts prefer to bid this kind of hand; others, to pass. If you use weak two-bids, this hand is on the borderline between an opening bid of one diamond and a bid of two diamonds.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Purchase Of Jeep Motors Doesn't Help Company

By ROGER SPEAR

Q. I bought American Motors some time ago at $14. Should I continue to hold? — W. H.

A. Your loss in American Motors is not sizable and my advice would be to accept it.

The purchase of Jeep Motors in my opinion has not added to the company's growth prospects. The transaction will cost $20 million in cash and 5-year notes plus 5.5 million shares. The increase in equity is not apt to be offset by profits from these quality but limited-appeal vehicles. Had a sizable new group of dealers been added to the roster, the merger would have been of greater potential value.

It is difficult at this time to assess how determimental the strike will be to American's earnings in fiscal 1970. Despite public acceptance of the Hornet, earnings for the current year will not reach a level necessary to support higher share prices.

Cyclical automotive issues historically command low multiples, and American Motors at 60x 1969 earnings, estimated at 20 cents per share, is not particularly attractive.

Q. I am retired and have considerable assets in cash, bonds and real estate. Interest on my savings accounts, also sizable at 4.5 per cent and 5 per cent, seems inadequate. Should I invest in GMAC short notes? — L. R.

A. General Motors Acceptance Corp., as well as the other financial and industrial companies, offers short-term — from 3 to 270 days — promissory notes also called commercial paper. The National Credit Organization rates about 500 companies with about 90 per cent of the paper considered prime. Most dealers in commercial paper are large institutional houses but many corporations issue their notes directly.

The profit for the dealer handling these transactions is small and most do not issue in amounts under $15,000. A round lot is $100,000 so the small investor is not entirely welcome.

Discounts on paper placed directly by corporations are running at about 8 per cent for 30-59 day maturities and 7⅜ per cent for longer term. Bought through dealers the discounts are 1 per cent greater. You should have no trouble in securing the amount you wish at these advantageous rates.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Manufactures Jump 6 Pct. In California

Total manufacturers, accounting for 23.6 per cent of all goods and services produced in California, advanced 8.2 per cent in October to $25.75 billion.

According to Bank of California, production of durable goods rose 6 per cent to $16.70 and nondurables were up 6.5 per cent from last year to $9.05 billion. Payrolls for the manufacturing industries totaled $15.11 billion.

The metal complex, representing 44 per cent of all manufacturers, grew 5.4 per cent to an October total of $11.42 billion, although the production of transportation equipment, mostly aircraft, fell 2.4 per cent. Machinery production aggregated $2.12 billion, up 12.8 per cent.

Wall Street Firm After Its Holiday

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market finished on a firm note today in a continuation of the pre-Thanksgiving rally which was the first in more than two weeks.

Turnover of around 8-million shares was about 2 million below Wednesday at a comparable period.

Alan R. Shaw, vice president and director of market research for Harris, Upham & Co. brokerage, said it was a typical post holiday session with volume light and the market rally a bit after a prolonged slide.

Among the most active issues were Benguet, Stokely-Van Camp, Natomas, Texaco, American Home Products, U.S. Ssteel, Occidental and American Telephone. Texaco closed at 30-1-8 up 5-8; U.S. Steel at 35 3-8 off 1-8; and AT&T unchanged at 52.

Electronics were impressive with several issues in the group gaining more than a point. Xerox closed up 3 at 107 7-8 and IBM climbed 7 to 357.

Oils also showed marked strength for no apparent reason, other than the fact they were hard hit in the recent slide. Jersey Standard closed up 3-8 at 62 1-8.

Aircrafts and airlines were fractionally higher in several instances, while rails, motors, chemicals and steels generally traded narrowly. Steel producers said car makers' steel orders for early next year are running below earlier expectations.

MASSACRE CASE

Judge Irate Over Leaks; London Reassures U.S.

FORT BENNING, Ga. (AP) — An Army judge says his order for potential witnesses not to discuss My Lai slaying case in public is being defied and has called a meeting of attorneys today.

Lt. Col. Reid W. Kennedy, who will establish the Army's legal guidelines in the court-martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., announced yesterday his plans to call the closed session "to come to some kind of conclusion about defiance of an order to witnesses . . . to quit talking to the press."

He gave no indication of the action contemplated.

"I can understand almost anything except this continuous interrogation of witnesses and potential witnesses and the publication of what they say before it is said in court," Kennedy said. "Something just has to be done about this."

Calley, a 26-year-old former platoon commander in Company C, 1st Battalion, 11th Infantry Brigade, is charged with murdering 109 South Vietnamese civilians at the village of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

In Saigon yesterday, South Vietnamese Sen. Tran Van Don said members of his Defense Committee and the Senate Interior Committee will go to Quang Ngai Province shortly to investigate reports of the slaying.

"We do not know where the truth is and we want to verify what happened," he said.

S. Sgt. David Mitchell has been charged with assault with intent to murder and the U.S. Army says it is investigating 24 soldiers and ex-soldiers in the case.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart said President Nixon can continue to count on British backing of U.S. policy in Vietnam even if a massacre occurred.

He said U.S. aims in Vietnam are just and "I don't see that it is disproved because it is claimed, or even that it is proved, that there has been this atrocity . . .

"If it were," he continued, "we ought to have dismissed the North Vietnamese case long ago because the deliberate killing of civilians . . . has been a part of the North Vietnamese method for a long time."

Calley is under no form of confinement here and is going about his duties as an aide to Col. Talton W. Long, deputy post commander. After his trial was ordered, he was forbidden to leave the Columbus, Ga., area without permission.

In Washington, Pentagon officials may invoke two never-before-tested sections of the military justice code to try any former soldiers accused in the alleged My Lai massacre.

One of these in Article 18, generally applying to war crimes, and the other is Article 21 which, lawyers said, was intended to preserve common law permitting military commissions to sit in criminal cases.

Fifteen of the 24 men now under investigation, but not yet charged, have returned to civilian life since the alleged mass slaying of more than 100 South Vietnamese civilians on March 16, 1968.

Prosecution of the nine soldiers still on active duty poses no legal problem. They clearly are subject to the military justice code.

However, serious questions confront government legal authorities on the course to follow in trying to prosecute any of the ex-soldiers deemed to have been involved.

This is because the Supreme Court in 1955 rejected military court martial for former servicemen in freeing a discharged Air Force sergeant who had

Nixon Appoints Astronaut To State Department Post

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon announced today he will nominate astronaut Michael Collins to be assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

Collins, commander of the command module during the July moon flight of Apollo 11, will be in charge of arranging public speeches and discussions of foreign policy.

Collins, 39, will resign his Air Force commission to take the $38,000-a-year post. He had been in the space program for the past six years.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers recommended Collins for the job and Nixon discussed it with the astronaut when members of the Apollo 11 crew and their wives had dinner at the White House earlier this month.

The State Department post has been vacant since January when Dixon Donnelly resigned and moved to the Treasury Department as director of public affairs there.

In a second personnel announcement, Nixon said he will nominate William R. Ford, a 35-year-old Negro, to head the VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) program as an assistant director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Since March, Ford has been director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission. The VISTA post pays $38,000 a year.

Second Rock Box Differs From 11's

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Geologists today opened the second box of moon stones picked up by Apollo 12's astronauts on the Ocean of Storms, a container of carefully documented samples expected to yield fresh surprises about lunar secrets.

They also reported that the first rock box from Apollo 12 contained bigger rocks and finer, lighter colored soil than the material gathered at Tranquility Base by Apollo 11's crew.

An estimated 12 to 15 individually wrapped rocks, carefully selected and documented by the astronauts to aid geologists, were inside. There also were some unwrapped chunks of lunar material.

"We can see gray dust over everything," a science observer reported. "The rocks are angular as well as rounded, depending on which part you are looking at."

"One of the rocks, about the

Photos Capture Spectacular Scene

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The space agency today released more pictures of Apollo 12 astronauts working on the moon, with emphasis on the experiments put onto the Ocean of Storms.

The still pictures followed by a day the release of movie film showing the first views of the moonwalks last week, views denied the public by a television camera failure at the start of the first excursion.

The footage also includes a view never seen by man—the earth eclipsing the sun. Astronaut Alan L. Bean called it "the most spectacular sight of our whole flight."

One view shows Bean standing alone—completely alone—where no man before had trod. There is nothing and no one else within view and the complete emptiness of the lunar surface is stunning.

A trick of light forms an unexplained blue halo about his startling white suit. Beyond him is only the flat lunar horizon and the blackness of space.

Other views show Bean working with special tools to remove the atomic element which powers the experiment package and carrying the experiments, like barbells, across the pocked pitted surface.

The views of him walking show a cloud of dust being kicked up by his feet. It seems to cling to his spacesuit.

The astronauts also took close-up photos of rocks and features on the moon. Two views are of the unexplained mounds of soil that fascinated them so during their eight hours of walk-

Clean Air Petitions Short At Deadline

Two-Month Extension Allowance

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — The first deadline in a statewide drive to qualify two tough air pollution control measures for the 1970 ballot has passed with the drive short of the required numbers of signatures.

The chairman of the drive, Edwin A. Koupal, reported today that "we're near the 300,000 mark" on each measure.

One measure, a constitutional amendment, requiring 527,000 signatures to qualify, would put the cost of eliminating pollution on the sources instead of on taxpayers and consumers.

The other, a statute revision to the state health and safety code requiring 325,000 signatures to qualify, would give polluters five years to end pollution.

Koupal estimated that 18 to 20

BRANDT CRITICIZED

West Germany Joins U.S., Russ In Pact

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt's West German government unanimously decided today to sign the treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

West German Ambassador Helmut Allardt immediately signed it in Moscow and Brandt told a news conference that Bonn's ambassadors to Washington and London will add their signatures later in the day. The U.S.S.R. and the U.S. recently ratified the treaty.

The action by Brandt's Socialist-led government came after nearly three years of public controversy during which some Germans claimed the treaty would cut off this country from the benefits of nuclear research and thus from 20th Century technology.

The opposition Christian Democratic party immediately assailed the government's decision as "too hasty" and irresponsible under the present circumstances.

Brandt, in making the announcement, said modifications demanded by West Germany and other nonnuclear states during the past three years succeeded in guaranteeing both the peaceful uses of nuclear energy and West Germany's security.

"There can be no talk of too much haste in signing or of a kind of 'super-Versailles,'" Brandt said, referring to the World War I German surrender that is generally regarded as a sellout in this country.

Brandt said concurrently with signing the treaty, his government is sending notes to all states with whom it has diplomatic relations, giving its interpretation. The main points of the note are:

Saigon Refuses Coalition

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government repeated today that it will never accept a coalition government in any form or grant territorial concessions to the Viet Cong.

The Foreign Affairs Ministry issued a statement to clear up what it termed a misunderstanding of remarks by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge after the 44th meeting of the Paris peace talks Wednesday.

Lodge had told newsmen the United States would be willing to talk to Hanoi about a new coalition government in South Vietnam, but stipulated that the Saigon government would have to ratify any agreement on this or any other question.

The Foreign Affairs Ministry said: "What resulted in the misunderstanding of Ambassador Cabot Lodge's statement by public opinion derived from the fact that the Vietnamese and American governments in their devotion to search for peace, have emphasized their readiness to discuss whatever problems are initiated by the other side. However, we will never accept coalition under whatever form and territorial concession to the Communists."

The Foreign Affairs Ministry statement said that "the Republic of South Vietnam's good will for an honorable solution to the Vietnam problem was spelled out in President Nguyen Van Thieu's July 11 six-point message," which called for free elections rather than coalition.

Weinberger To Seek Consumer Protection

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Caspar W. Weinberger says he is determined to make the Federal Trade Commission a tool for the average consumer to get a fair deal at the grocery store or the repair shop.

"I think the public in general knows very little of the functions of the FTC," Weinberger said during an interview in his Capitol office where he is awaiting by the week or state Supreme Court.

Weinberger will take over as trade commission chairman about Jan. 1, he was confirmed by the Senate last week.

Weinberger said he hopes the commission can "do itself a favor" by the end year which has burdened it over the years.

Weinberger, 41, a San Francisco lawyer, said he intends to use the FTC's 13 field offices for monitoring fair forces that will "go out in the communities and find out what are some of the consumer fraud practices and see what we can do to eliminate them."

He added that "we're not just going out on Main Street and into every supermarket," but will communicate on working with local and state governments so the consumers are armed with the information they need to make wise and safe purchases.

The biggest problem is that of the businessman who will tell truths or lends for facts, Weinberger said.

As an example, a store may advertise a product as "50 ninety cents off the regular price when there never was a regular price," he said.

Weinberger said he hopes to convince businessmen that full truth in labeling, advertising and selling will inspire "much greater confidence in the private enterprise system."

TRADITIONAL THANKSGIVING

The Indian colonizers of Alcatraz Island, including this young brave from Nogales, New Mexico, feasted yesterday on Thanksgiving turkey and trimmings. Before the meal, one Indian read a "Thanksgiving Song. Tall Blackhawk stands with Sitting Bull, Wise Tecumseh speaks with Great Cochise. And all the tribes in all the lands send up the song for victory and peace."

AFTER TWO WEEKS

Both Sides Determined In SALT Negotiations

HELSINKI (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators wound up two weeks of secret arms curb talks today in what was described as a favorable atmosphere despite a smattering of caustic comment from Moscow.

Today's session was the fifth private discussion between the two sides since the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) opened Nov. 17.

Conference sources estimated after today's meeting that the negotiators still have another week or two of discussions ahead before ending the preliminary round at Helsinki. The next stage is supposed to be full-scale negotiations.

A news blackout on how the talks are going prevailed again today as it has since the meetings began. By joint agreement, spokesmen for the two sides are saying nothing beyond announcing the meeting times.

The American team, headed by Gerard C. Smith, feels that the talks have been marked so far by a good atmosphere and apparent Kremlin seriousness.

In Washington, Secretary of State William P. Rogers says the U.S. delegates told him earlier this week that their preliminary exchanges were "the best of any discussions they have had with the Soviet Union."

Soviet sources here have indicated that the Russians are also satisfied with the talks. But the government-controlled Soviet press has expressed no strong support for SALT and has been blaming Western "militarists" for the arms buildup.

The government newspaper Izvestia commented favorably yesterday on the "businesslike manner" of the talks, but claimed that the U.S. military-industrial complex" is endangering them.

The Soviet Defense Ministry newspaper Red Star published another statement in Moscow today that seemed designed to counter any tendency toward military relaxation engendered by the disarmament talks.

A group of young army officers adopted a resolution saying that "the imperialist aggressors are preparing a new war against the Soviet Union" and its allies, and declaring that "the Soviet armed forces are always in military readiness" to meet the threat.

Sources here suggested several possible reasons for these critical undertones. They said the Kremlin might be warning the United States that it will not sell out at Helsinki, or might be trying to assure its allies and the Soviet public that it is standing firm, or both.

Arab Bomber's Father Is 'Proud And Pleased'

AMMAN (UPI)—The father of an Arab guerrilla accused of tossing a hand grenade into an Israeli airline office in Athens, injuring 15 persons, said today he was "proud and pleased" at his son's action.

"My wife is even more proud," declared Yac Der-Garabedian, a 50-year-old tailor, in an interview with UPI.

Elias Der-Garabedian, 23, was arrested in Athens yesterday moments after the hand grenade was hurled into an El Al office as passengers were checking in for a flight to New York.

Friends of the young Der-Garabedian said they believed he was partly influenced by injuries suffered by his uncle in fighting after the June 1967 war.

Family friends said Sarkis Der-Garabedian, 42, lost his right arm and suffered eye injuries on March 21, 1968, when Israeli tanks launched an attack at As-Safi, four miles south of the Dead Sea. The Israelis blew up a water pump and destroyed a well on the uncle's 200-acre farm and he had since been forced to give it up, they said.

The friends described Elias Der-Garabedian as "excitable and emotional" and said they believed the incident deeply affected him.

The father—whose first name is Armenian for "revenge"—said the first he knew of his son's connection was the news of his arrest.

"I was very shocked, but when I got over that, I realized what he had done and was pleased by it and proud of him."

Dynamite Car Trouble

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A cocktail waitress was alive today only because whoever attached five sticks of dynamite to her car neglected to connect a wire.

Alice Lucille Gilder, 22, told police that when she left work yesterday she had trouble starting her car. When it finally started, the engine missed badly.

She drove to a service station and the attendant lifted the hood to reveal a tangle of wires connected to the distributor and five sticks of dynamite, he called police.

"If one more connection had been made, the sticks would have exploded," an officer said.

A bomb squad from Mather Air Force Base dismantled the device.

Builders And Homebuyers Get Bad News

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average effective mortgage rate for new homes rose to 8.12 per cent in October, continuing an upward spiral for the 11th straight month.

The Federal Home and Loan Bank Board reported the bad news for homebuyers and the construction industry yesterday.

There was a wide range in rates charged across the country with the highest average of 8.33 per cent in Seattle, Wash. This was a jump of about 1½ per cent over a year earlier.

The San Francisco Bay Area also had a high rate of 8.37 per cent.

On the other end of the scale, Philadelphia, Pa., had an average effective rate of 7.67 per cent.

The board's report shows life insurance companies charged an average 8.48 per cent and mortgage companies were right behind at 8.45 per cent on their new home loans.

Preston Martin, chairman of the board, said the curtailed supply of money mortgage funds at a time when housing is in strong demand accounted for the continued rise in October.

One of the problems, the report said, is that investors were taking their money out of savings and loan institutions which provide mortgages and putting their funds where they can earn a higher interest.

Plates Stolen

The license plates were stolen Wednesday or yesterday from a car owned by James B. Gulles while it was either parked in front of his home at 215 Bayview Street or in Hayward, San Rafael police reported today.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Canadian Debate

OTTAWA — (AP) Canadians staged rallies, fasts and marches yesterday in a nationwide campaign to urge that government do something about the starvation and suffering caused by the Nigeria-Biafra civil war. Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said during a day-long debate in Biafra in the house of Commons that neither Canada nor any other multiracial non-African country should interfere in the war.

But Andrew Brewin, National Democratic party member from Ontario who opened debate on a motion asking the government to support relief efforts, called Canada's refusal to do so "legalistic rather than realistic."

Reds Place Blame

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam said today that President Richard M. Nixon and former President Lyndon B. Johnson share the responsibility for the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians by U.S. soldiers at My Lai.

The North Vietnamese News Agency, quoting the official Hanoi newspaper Nhan Dan, said Nixon was trying to shift the blame to Johnson by claiming the incident "took place before he came into office." It reportedly took place in March 1968.

Viet Cong Surrender

SAIGON (AP) — Nine Viet Cong, leading 75 Montagnard villagers whom they had held in forced labor, have surrendered to American forces near Song Be, 75 miles north of Saigon, the U.S. army said today.

It quoted the Viet Cong as saying they had defected not only "because of voices from the sky, airborne propaganda broadcasts and the leaflets which told us we would be well treated, but because the artillery and air strikes in the area frightened us."

The Army said that the area from which they defected Wednesday had been a target of "intensive psychological operations" for several days.

San Francisco Attack Cases Double In Year

SAN FRANCISCO — (UPI) Rape cases more than doubled and homicide increased 75 per cent in San Francisco for the first 10 months of 1969, as compared to the same period a year ago, according to Police Chief Thomas Cahill.

The chief released statistics Sunday which showed an increase in all seven major categories of crime. The report was made shortly after a motel clerk was shot to death in the city's 132nd murder this year, compared to 98 during 1968.

Ghana Crackdown

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Immigration officers in Ghana are under virtual siege as streams of aliens, many of whose grandparents came here more than a generation ago, try to get residence permits that will allow them to stay in the country after Dec. 2.

More than 2.5 million persons, mostly from Nigeria, Mali, Togo and Upper Volta, are affected by a recent government order that they either get the permits or get out.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense spending rose to $80.3 billion during July, August and September, the Commerce Department reports.

Asst. Secretary Harold C. Passer added that defense purchases of goods and services during the third quarter increased $1.3 billion on a seasonally adjusted rate, primarily due to a pay hike.

Swedes Protest

GOTHENBURG, Sweden (AP) — City leaders in this Swedish port said today they will protest plans to close the U.S. consulate here.

Hans Hansson, chairman of the city council, said the consulate is America's oldest. He said it was established by George Washington in 1783 "as a gesture of approval when Sweden recognized the newly formed American government, the first country to do so."

He said the decision to close the consulate "to cut down U.S. foreign spending," has started speculation that "this is another retaliation for the $45 million in Swedish aid to Hanoi."

AFL-CIO Call Boycott Against General Electric

NEW YORK (UPI) — The AFL-CIO began a nationwide boycott against the General Electric Co. today to press for settlement of a five-week strike by 13 unions.

The boycott was the first to be initiated by the 13.6 million-member labor organization although it presently is supporting boycotts by the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee against California grapes and by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters against products of Iowa Beef Packers, Inc.

Boycott committees will picket G.E. and Hotpoint service and consumer outlets throughout the nation and distribute information about the strike against the nation's fourth largest industrial corporation.

GE has said the boycott will hinder negotiations and delay a settlement of the contract dispute involving 147,000 workers. Negotiations are scheduled to resume Monday when the strike enters its sixth week.

No progress has been reported in the talks. The union seeks wage increases of 35 cents an hour in the first year, 30 cents in the second and 25 cents in the third. GE has offered a 20-cent increase in the first year with provision to renegotiate wages in each of the next two years.

The boycott against GE, the nation's largest producer of electrical equipment and a major maker of electronic and atomic energy equipment, could influence bargaining next year in the trucking and automobile industries and have an impact on the Nixon administration's anti-inflation policies. It also will test the effectiveness of the leadership of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Drill Sergeants Stripped Of Rank

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (UPI) —Two sergeants were stripped of their drill instructor status at Parris Island training center Wednesday when an investigation revealed they had mistreated a Marine recruit who had a fatal kidney illness.

The Marine Corps said the actions of Gunnery Sgt. J.L. Payne and S.Sgt. G.G. Thompson, however, in no way contributed to the death of 18-year-old Pvt. Stephen E. Melson of Millsboro, Del. Melson died in South Carolina Medical University Center Hospital Sept. 21 of chronic kidney failure.

The investigation showed there was evidence that drill personnel and other recruits harassed Melson. Payne, in addition to losing rank, was ordered to forfeit $300 for violating guidelines. A third instructor was cleared in the case.

Consumer Group Names Brown

Kenneth B. Brown, director of Marin County's weights and measures department, has been elected treasurer of a new consumer protection organization formed by sealers of weights and measures for 10 Northern California counties.

Called the Consumer Officials Association, it will serve as a watchdog for consumers. When necessary, it will report violations to the local district attorney.

Gene Smith, San Mateo County's director of weights and measures and president of the organization, said a complaining consumer could notify the organization, which would investigate the complaint.

Sealers chores include checking scales in stores and testing the octane content of gasoline. The organization was formed last week in San Mateo.

per cent of the signatures would be disqualified from the peitions by county clerks for failing to match voter records. The first deadline for submission of the petitions was Wednesday, but Koupal told the Independent-Journal that his group, People's Lobby Inc. of Hollywood, also would use the 60-day supplementary period provided by state law to continue circulating petitions.

(In Marin, 5,041 signatures were filed in support of the constitutional amendment, and 4,699 for the statute revision. Marin's share of the statewide petition requirements is about 5,600 an 3,500 signatures, respectively.

(Marin's election officer, Peter C. Meyer, said the number of signatures on the petitions was the largest number filed for any petition in his four years in the elections office The 1968 drive to require gun registration in the county got about 7,500 signatures, he noted.)

Koupal said there was "no question" that enough signatures will be gathered to qualify the statute revision. "And if we duplicate our effort, we'll bring in the (constitutional amendment) too."

He said that the statewide drive had cost under $3,000, adding, "This is the first people initiative." Other initiatives have been bankrolled by special interests, he said.

Koupal said the 300,000 signatures were reported to him by chairmen in the 35 counties where the drive is being conducted. While the first part of the drive nominally had 90 days, he said, in most counties the drive was organized only 40 to 50 days ago.

County clerks have until Dec. 17 to report results of the first batch of petitions to the secretary of state. The deadline for filing the second set of petitions with county clerks is Jan. 26, Koupal said.

He added that about 50,000 signatures probably were not turned in by Wednesday's deadline. Under state law they cannot be counted with the signatures gathered during the 60-day supplementary drive, but Koupal said his organization would test this provision in court.

"It's a beautiful thing," he said of the drive's first results.

The drive was without opposition during most of the first 90 days, but now faces strong opposition from several sources. Opposing it are the Sierra Club, staff, air pollution control district officials, and, presumably, industry.

And in Marin, the Marin Conservation League is opposing the measures. The critics contend that the measures are impossible to enforce, and that they would undermine existing state controls on pollution.

The chairman of the iniative drive in Marin, Mrs. E. P. Franklin of Fairfax, is seeking to have the district attorney issue a complaint against the president of the Marin Conservation League, Harold E. Gregg of Forest Knolls. She alleges that Gregg violated the election code barring interference in the signing of a petition. But the district attorney's office has said it finds no evidence to support the charge.

Gregg, in the name of the league, ran an advertisement in last Friday's Independent-Journal suggesting people remove their names from petitions backing the constitutional amendment. He termed the measure "unconstitutional and unenforceable."

been arrested by military authorities and flown to Korea to face a murder charge after he had gone back to civilian life.

Some lawyers contended that the 1955 Supreme court action only invalidated one section of the military justice code, a section they say is entirely apart from the two clauses now under study.

Bank Of America Building Architect Admits Mistake

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Was the concept of the towering new Bank of America building here a great big mistake?

Architect Nathaniel Owings, whose firm of Skidmore, Owings & Merrill helped design the 52-store structure, said Tuesday he thought so. A Bank of America spokesman disagreed.

Owings spoke as a panel member at the 13th national conference of the U.S. Commission for UNESCO, the (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

"What we need in our cities is people," he declared. "Now you tell me what the Bank of America building has to do with one little human being.

"We could have put apartments for people on top of that building and put a vineyard in front and maybe a carnival. That's what California Street needs."

"We think that by and large the building is fulfilling its role as an interesting piece of architecture," he said. "That huge plaza down in front and the smaller one in back don't strike me as non-people areas, especially when you see them used at noon."

ing the moon. The mounds rise 5 feet, and seem to be like a pile of sand, dumped there by a truck.

A picture shot slightly into the sun shows just how close the lunar module landed beside a crater. One foot pad of the moon vehicle seems only a few feet from the lip of a large crater, presumably the one containing the Surveyor 5 spacecraft that preceded Apollo 12 to the moon.

The eclipse view shows a black silhouette that is earth choking off the sun. As the light dies, it bursts into space with blues and reds and pinks and pure white rimming the earth.

The view is as old as earth and sun, but Apollo 12 was the first space flight to put man and cameras in the right location in space to capture the scene on film.

The short film, a compilation of scenes taken throughout the 10-day Apollo 12 flight, also includes views of Conrad walking on the moon.

size of a fist, has a strong fracture in it," said Dr. William Greenwood, a space agency geologist. "It has irregular glassy coating on the two sides that I can see."

Greenwood said this "open" crack in the rock was unlike anything in the Apollo 11 samples. Dr. David Carrier, another observer, said the strange specimen came from bench crater at Apollo 12's landing site.

Scientists also began opening a core tube the astronauts drove into the lunar surface during their first moonwalk.

From this subsurface material — taken two feet or more beneath the lunar surface — biologists hope to extract a lunar sample--practically uncontaminated by the moon landing and by the laboratory handling—to use in their search for lunar organisms, perhaps protected from solar radiation by being underground.

Chess Proves Valuable Aid For Youngsters

A manufacturer says it has been used in many elementary schools not only to teach arithmetic, but drawing, spelling, history and early social science.

A child between 4 and 8 years old is ready to learn to play chess.

The firm says it was invented centuries ago to entertain and challenge Indian rajahs.

The game, which once required 150 to 200 moves, now can be played in about 60 moves. It helps to lengthen the child's attention span through concentration as well as develop perception through move relationships,

GI Casualties In Viet War Hit 300,000

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. battlefield casualties in nearly nine years of the Vietnam War reached the 300,000 mark this week and nearly half of them occurred in the 18 months since the Paris peace talks began, official sources said today.

On the battlefield, communiques said fighting was light. The Viet Cong ambushed 300 South Vietnamese troops in the Mekong Delta and killed 36 men and wounded 12.

The U.S. Command reported 32 enemy rocket and shelling attacks during the night in which seven Americans were wounded. A spokesman said U.S. troops killed 47 enemy in battles near the demilitarized zone and south of Da Nang yesterday. Two Americans were killed and 18 were wounded in these clashes.

The U.S. Command casualty figures for the period from Jan. 1, 1961, through last Saturday showed 39,572 Americans killed in action, 258,779 wounded and 1,341 missing or captured.

While these figures total 299,692, officials said they do not include at least 308 Americans who have been killed or wounded from Sunday through today, and this puts total casualties over the 300,000 mark.

The U.S. Command said 6,995 U.S. troops have died in Vietnam from accidents and other causes "not as the result of hostile action."

In the same nine-year period, according to official figures, 575,249 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have been killed.

Since the peace talks in Paris began May 13, 1968, official statistics show that 16,620 Americans have been killed and another 113,997 wounded.

The Vietnam war has become the third costliest foreign war for the United States, surpassed only by the two world wars.

In Saigon, a former special assistant to President Nguyen Van Thieu and 42 other South Vietnamese went on trial today for treason.

Thirteen of the defendants in the biggest subversion trial in South Vietnam's history are women. Thieu's former assistant, Nguyen Van Kinh, surprised observers when he admitted in testimony that he had been a member of the Communist party since 1949.

AMERICAN'S DEATH

Brazil Says Communists Were Behind Assassination

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian political police have concluded their investigation of the assassination of a U.S. Army captain here last year and have turned the case over to the courts for trial.

One of the two men who police say shot and killed Capt. Charles R. Chandler was killed by police in a shootout in January. The other is in custody, along with the driver of a small car used for their getaway.

Chandler, 30, was shot down in the driveway of his home Oct. 12, 1968. A Vietnam war veteran, he was detached from the Army and studying at the University of Sao Paulo. Leaflets found at the shooting scene proclaimed that the killers were followers of Castro-communism and called Chandler a "war criminal."

A legal brief turned over to a military court by the police says the killing had its origins in Havana since those responsible were followers of the concept of armed revolution in Latin America espoused by the Tricontinental Congress and the Continental Organization of Latin American Students.

It charges the slaying was plotted by former Brazilian Communist leader Carlos Marighela and nine other known terrorists. One of those implicated is Onofre Pinto, one of the 15 political prisoners freed by the Brazilian government as ransom for kidnaped American Ambassador Charles Burke Elbrick in September. Pinto is now in Cuba. Marighela was killed in a police ambush in Sao Paulo Nov. 5.

The police statement says Chandler's killing was originally set for Oct. 8, 1968, first anniversary of the death of Cuban revolutionary hero Ernesto "Che" Guevara. It was then put off until Oct. 11 and finally carried out Oct. 12, the statement said.

Chandler, the father of four, was from Arcadia, La.

Housing Panel Members Sought

Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce has issued a call for citizens to serve on a special citizens committee to study low income housing in Marin.

The board of supervisors will appoint five citizens on Dec. 9 to serve on the 30-member panel. Other members will be named by the 11 Marin cities and the Marin County Housing Authority.

Bruce said citizens interested in serving on the special committee should write to the clerk of the board of supervisors at the Civic Center.

Dr. Sheppard Fined For Driving

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI)—Dr. Sam Sheppard, the Cleveland, Ohio osteopath who became a professional wrestler, has been fined $165 in police court for reckless driving.

Sheppard, who was in town for a wrestling match, Wednesday paid $65 on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident and $100 for reckless driving.

Sheppard became famous in the sensational murder of his first wife. His conviction in the killing was subsequently overturned by the U.S. Supreme Court, which cited prejudicial publicity. Sheppard proclaimed his innocence throughout.

Vet Registration Deadline Is Set

Disabled veterans of the Vietnam War must register by Monday to take advantage of a special educational program at Napa College, James V. Burdick, veterans service officer for the County of Marin announced yesterday.

Veterans with any degree of disability will be provided with a room, food, medical and dental treatment at the Veterans Home in Yountville while they attend classes at the nearby college.

Costs incurred by students enrolling in the Spring semester starting Feb. 2 would be for transportation, student body fees and books, Burdick said.

Deputy Overlooks Nudity In 'Hair'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A sheriff's deputy attended the Las Vegas premiere of the rock musical "Hair" Wednesday but made no arrests though most of the 31 performers appeared on stage nude.

Undersheriff Lloyd Bell said he would write a report on the play for Dist. Atty. George Franklin, who could issue warrants if he wished. Bell declined comment on what he thought of the show.

Franklin said he had expected deputies to arrest anyone who appeared on the stage completely nude.

"It's not a matter of censorship," he said, "I have no choice but to enforce the state law against indecent exposure."

Magazine Traces Mail To San Anselmo Goal

As part of a nationwide test of the U.S. mails, Life Magazine has tracked a letter from Boston to San Anselmo. The 2,800-mile journey took 22 hours.

A minute-by-minute account of the trip — watched by a Life reporter and photographer — appears in the magazine's Nov. 28 issue.

The letter, mailed in front of the John F. Kennedy Federal Building in Boston, wound up in the flower-decorated mailbox of Jack Fincher, a Life writer, who lives at 40 Park Way in San Anselmo.

Life said the letter was handled 30 separate times on its journey via conveyor belt, canvas sack, plane, truck and mail bag.

The magazine also mailed letters to and from 22 other U.S. communities and found that "at worst, mail service is intolerably slow." Life said, "It may take as many as seven days for airmail to travel between Minneapolis and Williamsville, N.Y., seven days between Honolulu and Montgomery, Ala., and nine days between Washington, D.C., and Seattle."

Vaught was arrested last May in connection with the seizure of the tablets which authorities said were smuggled into the United States last Dec. 29.

Drug Importer Gets Ten Years

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A Honolulu man was sentenced to 10 years in federal prison and fined $5,000 Wednesday for his part in the smuggling of 28 pounds of marijuana from Mexico into California.

Earl Kim, 37, was ordered to serve the term after he completes another five-year federal prison term he is serving for possessing a sawed-off military carbine.

A federal judge said Kim, who had been convicted in the weapons case and sentenced in Hawaii, apparently was the leader of a narcotics smuggling operation in which four other persons were arrested at the San Ysidro border crossing May 17.

Doctors Separate Siamese Twin Girls

BOSTON (AP) — Siamese twin girls separated in a 10½-hour operation emerged from the surgery in very good condition but doctors caution they face "many possible complications over the next few weeks."

Among these are "the hazards of infection and nutritional problems," a spokesman at Massachusetts General Hospital said.

The twins were born by Caesarean section to an unidentified woman Sunday in Danvers and were separated Wednesday night.

The outcome of the surgery marked only the 17th time in recorded medical history that Siamese twins have survived such an operation.

The spokesman said one infant suffered a heart stoppage during the surgery but massage restored the heart beat without any apparent injury.

The twins shared an intestinal system insufficient to meet the needs of both, so that immediate surgery was necessary, doctors said.

"This deficiency required use of plastic material to create a temporary abdominal wall. This will be removed by degrees during several subsequent operations throughout the next two weeks."

The twins were joined from the lower chest through the abdomen to the pelvis. Their livers also were joined.

Innocent Pleas In Street Fracas

Two young Marin City women arrested after a street corner fracas in San Rafael Saturday peaded innocent Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court to various misdemeanor charged.

A jury trial was set for Dec. 15 for Stella Louise Johnson, 21, and Cora Lee Johnson, 20.

Stella Johnson is accused of petty theft, and disturbing the peace. Cora Lee Johnson is charged with petty theft, disturbing the peace and resisting arrest.

The fracas started when a Macy's security guard attempted to stop the two for suspected shoplifting. A fight ensued and police were called to the scene as a crowd of about 250 persons gathered.

Little Girl Dies Suddenly

The 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson of Corte Madera was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 12:46 p.m. yesterday after taking suddenly ill at the family home at 733 Robin Drive.

Marin County Coroner's Investigator said that the child, Tracy, was at first thought to have got hold of medicine prescribed for her mother, Lois, but that an autopsy would be performed.

Tracy's father, is serving in Vietnam and his return is to be sought through the Red Cross, according to Craig.

THANKSGIVING SURPRISE FOR AIRPORT STAFF

SAN MATEO (AP) — Two gasoline station attendants provided an unexpected Thanksgiving Day bonus for customers and friends at San Francisco International Airport.

In a back room they provided turkey, hot pies, cakes and other foodstuffs.

"There are a lot of lonely cab drivers, stewardesses and other people around here on a holiday and we wanted them to enjoy it," said Mike Cuetufelli.

Both he and the other attendant, Jerry Marshall, are 19 years old and San Mateo College students.

30,000 Pilots Threaten Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — About 30,000 airline pilots have threatened to walk off their jobs if a new physical examination proposed by the Federal Aviation Administration is adopted.

The walkout would "bring U.S. air travel to a virtual halt," said Pan American Airways Capt. Sidney Kerr, regional head of the Air Line Pilots Association Wednesday.

He reported the ALPA executive board decided unanimously for a strike to being within seven days if the FAA begins requiring the "master two-step" test.

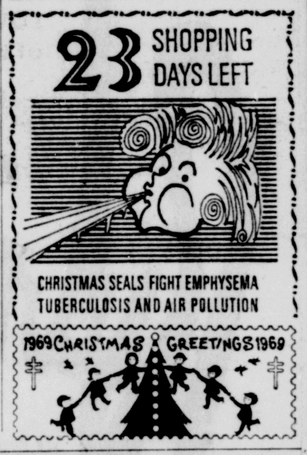
It involves a succession of exercises and rest periods where heart reactions are measured.

Kerr said the testing is "not sufficiently conclusive, yet it raises the possibility of grounding pilots over age 50."

Italian Divorce Bill Is Gaining

ROME (AP) — The Chamber of Deputies tonight approved all the individual articles of a bill which would legalize divorce for the first time in Roman Catholic Italy. The chamber was due to vote on the bill as a whole later in the evening.

The bill then goes to the Senate for final action. The Senate is expected to act on it and virtually sure to adopt it by January.



Marine Predicts Viet Massacre

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An immedate American pullout of South Vietnam could result in a mass Communist murder of "two million people at least," Gen. Lewis W. Walt, assistant commandant of the Marine Corps, said Wednesday.

"I have every confidence there would be a bloodbath," Walt told a news conference.

He said that "had we had complete unity of the people" instead of dissent "the war would be over now."

Walt said of the Marines withdrawn from Vietnam and now based on Okinawa that he talked to "seven out of 10 wanted to see if there was any way they could get back down to Vietnam."

Walt held the news conference on return from a 12-day inspection of Marine forces in Southeast Asia and the Pacific.

Report Cards Group Will Tell Findings

A committee studying changes in report cards in the Fairfax School District will report at a district board meeting at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the district office.

The board authorized a change in report cards in two classrooms this year as a pilot program. In the lower grades participating, conferences are being used and in the upper graded, students are rated on specific skills in each subject.

Youths Climb Block To Closed Overpass

The new pedestrian overpass linking Coleman School and Lincoln Avenue has not been opened, but youngsters have been using it illegally, climbing over a barricade to cross, according to the state Division of Highways.

The major reason it has not been opened is safety, a division spokesman said. He said the west exit is near the railroad tracks and a sidewalk has been constructed from the exit to Paloma Avenue. A chain link fence will be constructed on both sides of the sidewalk to protect the youngsters, with work scheduled to be completed next week.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Indonesian Cuisine Coming In New San Rafael Restaurant

Many times I have been asked if there is a Marin restaurant serving Indonesian food — to which I have had to answer in the negative.

Fortuanately, it appears that this will soon be changed.

The Rice Table, an Indonesian-type dinery, is scheduled to open either Dec. 6 or on the following Saturday night at 1617 Fourth Street, San Rafael. This is a project of Mrs. Leonie Hool of San Rafael Meadows, an Indonesian whose father owned a restaurant in Java.

It will be a small place, with probably no more than a dozen tables. Present plans call for dinner service five days a week from about 5:30 to 10 p.m.Days of closing have not yet been decided upon.

Prices will be in the moderate range, with complete dinners at $2.49, $2.95, and $4.95. There wil be a "complete rice rable," featuring some 24 different dishes at $10 per person. Reservations for this will have to be made in advance.

Later there will ba a wine and beer license.

QUICK SERVICE RESTAURANTS and take-out food operations continue to gain in popularity.

For the most part Americans are not inclined to linger over their food the way Europeans do. They want fast service, palatable food and a small check. If atmosphere and scenery can also be had, they are so much whipped cream on the cake.

Newest establishment of thiskind to spring up in Marin is at 240 Redwood Highway, just north of the heliport in Sausalito. Called The Fishnet, work still has to be done on an enclosed rear deck designed to seat about 150 personns. There is inside counter and some table service and a large open outside deck for on-the-premises eating.

As the name suggest, the menu consists of seafood — crab, lobster, fish and chips, lobster and chips and so on. Present hours are from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. These will be lengthened on weekends when an application for a wine and beer license has been approved.

The Fish Net is a corporation with several principals. In charge here and vice president is Frank Beeman Jr. of Sausalito, whose specialty has been seafood for a number of years.

RELOCATION of the snack bar at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael is expected to be completed by Monday.

This is being moved near the entrance of the dining room, where owner Eugene Lackenbach is starting a new menu operation. From Monday on he will feature a variety of hamburgers — plain, international and exotic — in addition to the regular breakfast and lunch menu.

There will be no regular dinner menu and the same hamburgers plus steak sandwiches will be available during evening hours. Chinese dinners are being discontinued and chef Al Louie will leave at the end of this week. Louie has not made any definite plans but as a popular Marin chef of many years standing he has had a munber of offers.

I WAS WRONG about the entree at McKee's eighth anniversary dinner for next Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

The fare will not be spaghetti, but probably roast beef, ham and maybe something else. But the price I quoted was right — $1.75 with wine included, served form 5 to 9 p.m. both evenings.

Fary Schneider will play the Baldwin organ both evenings and provide entertainment.

Rene's work should be of particular interest. For 14 years she was blind. Last February she told her husband she was able to see a little light. An additional improvement started her amazing hobby. Using binoculars on the meadows and hills of Fairfax, Rene paints exactly what she sees. She uses a magnifying glass to transfer her work to canvas and mixes her paints on the tip of her brush. I understand Readers Digest has indicated interest in a possible story.

With New Year's Eve at Rubini's always a sell-out, diners who plan on going there to celebrate are urged to make their reservations early.

ORGANIST JEAN DENNING, who has long been a popular entertainer at Marin County restaurants, will soon leave this area for the East Coast with her new husband Eugene (another Gene) Rea. Jean's family home in Maryland is the oldset house in that state, dating back to the 17th Century. Jean and Gene plan to settle there, fix up the home and take on additional acreage.

DINERS-OUT who plan on visiting Manka's Czech Restaurant at Inverness Lodge had better do so this weekend if they expect to be served this year.

Milan Prokupek Jr. and his wife Judy will again take their annual winter sports vacation during December and after this weekend will close for almost the entire month, returning Dec. 30.

NOW FEATURED tonight and tomorrow night at the Lion's Share at 60 Red Hill Avenue on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is Booker (Bukka) White, traditional blues entertainer. With him is the Mendelbaum Modern Blues Band

OUT OF TOWN, the name Petrini's has been added to a new operation besides meats and markets. You'll now find a Petrini's Restaurant at Ninth Avenue and South Claremont in San Mateo, where Dell'Osso's used to be.

Staff principals include chef Albert Marty, formerly with the Mark Hopkins Hotel and Trader Vic's; Walter Maeder, maitre d', who was with Ernie's more than 12 years; and Tony Zemp, manager, who also served at Ernie's for many years. Frank Petrini, president, is head of the entire operation.

THIS HAS BEEN an unusually good fall season for North Coast restaurants. Rain has held off, except for moderate showers and coastal fogs usually have dissipated by early afternoon.

However, there's one little place at Albion I must commend — and it's not even a restuarant, but a church. This is the Albion Presbyterian Chapel, whose members frequently get together and put on a $1 dinner that would make both mom and the dineries envious. If you get a change to attend one, do so.

We were there last Friday night, on a trip looking over some property, at the invitation of Mary Alyce Seubert. She and her husband Gregory, who have a home in Albion, operate Gregory's Restaurant in Corte Madera. Trust them to know good food when they eat it — even at a place besides their own.

Food And Toys For Needy Being Sought In Petaluma

Food and toys for needy families will be gathered in Petaluma beginning Dec. 8 by the Petaluma Coordinating Council.

The project, known as the Community Christmas Cheer Program, it is headed by Rev. John Jaster. Canned and packaged foods, toys and even cash donations may be taken to the Cheer headquarters at 260 Petaluma Boulevard North daily from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The Newcomer's Club will be in charge of soliciting new toys for the project.

Organizations or individuals wishing to sponsor a family with food baskets should contact Reverend Jaster. He said that volunteers are being sought to sort, pack and deliver the Christmas packages.

Tamalpais Board To Review Plans

Plans for choosing a permanent superintendent will be discussed when the Tamalpais High School District board meets at 8 p.m. Monday in the district office.

The board will hear a report on progress by the Next Step Analysis committee, which is preparing an outline of selection procedures and criteria.

The board also will hear a report from Acting Supt. Robert D. Torrey on implementation of a new athletic department policy passed Nov. 10 by the board following the long controversy over athletes' grooming and hair length.

Distillery Development Plan Passes Hurdle

Plans for a 431-unit apartment development on the old American Distillery property on the Sausalito city line have received general approval from the Sausalito Community Appearances Advisory Board, city planner H. Eric Borgwardt reported.

The Whiskey Springs development, planned by the Duffell and Smoot building firm of Lafayette, will go to the city planning commission next week.

Borgwardt said the CAAB requested at its meeting Wednesday that a proposed four-story above-ground parking garage be lowered to three floors. The CAAB also withheld architectural approval of the development's building design until more detailed plans are submitted.

Four of the five board members felt more materials such as wood or shingles should be incorporated into the design to relieve the monotony and to minimize the "institutional" look of great masses of stucco.

The Duffel-Smoot plans call for a huge underground parking garage and about 80 per cent open space on the distillery grounds.

OPEN...AT LAST!
We have been assured by no less than the Attorney General (that's where our application has been) that our Wine Grower's license will be issued at once. Beginning today, and every day except Monday and Tuesday (the days we discover new wines) we will be open from noon to 8 p.m.

TASTE WINES FREE
Any day we're open, you can come in to sample our Wine Discoveries, discuss your own (or our) wine cellar, enroll in the wine classes, pick out a thoroughly unique gift, learn how to make wine at home, join the Wine-Discovery-of-the-Month Club — or the Jug-of-the-Month Club, or just talk about our favorite subject.

BIG WINE SALE
Odd lots, a few bottles of this and that, old jugs — all will be sold this week at the lowest prices allowed by law. All are outstanding Wine Discoveries; a few irreplaceable!

PLEASE NOTE:
The long delay in getting our license has upset our plans for lectured wine tastings, invitational opening events, etc. New dates for these will be announced in a letter to you — if you have given us your name for our mailing list. If not, please call or write so that we may keep you wine-posted.

Center Plans Due Council

Plans for a proposed $1 million community center and main fire station will be shown to the San Rafael City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday at city hall.

The city planning commission approved the plans Tuesday. The center and fire station would cost approximately $350,000 apiece, and land cost is estimated at $300,000. A bond issue election for the needed money is planned for next year.

The council also is to open bids for nine 1970 police patrol cars, hear a progress report on improvement of San Pedro Road, and consider appropriating an estimated $15,000 to dredge the San Rafael Canal from Grand Avenue to Irwin Street.

Europe including European Russia forms about one-fourteenth of the land surface on the globe.

Fairfax Man Held In Sausalito

James Macdonald Maxey, 57, of 273 Cypress Drive, Fairfax, was arrested by Sausalito police Wednesday on suspicion of being drunk in public and possessing marijuana.

Police said they found Maxey sleeping in a bus shelter on Bridgeway at 1 p.m., and found two marijuana cigarettes when they searched him.

Maxey was booked at Marin County Jail and released on his own recognizance to appear at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Board To Consider Attendance Requests

The Marin County Board of Education will consider inter-county attandance requests from Shoreline School District when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday in the county schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

The board recently approved 21 inter-county requests from four districts, including four into Shoreline from Sonoma County, but said county approval will be needed in future before the transfer is actually made.

Nursery School Aides Project

The nursery school children came to the feast as Indians and the tiny tots as pilgrims.

Real Moves For Peace In President's Orders

We may breathe a bit easier today, and our hopes for the future may be a bit brighter, because of what President Nixon has done.

The President has ordered existing stockpiles of bacteriological weapons to be destroyed. He has taken from the army the right to experiment in this extremely dangerous field, ordering that all bacteriological experimentation by the government hereafter must be under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and will be restricted to measures to counter bacteriological threats.

He has renounced initial use by the United States of all disabling chemical warfare agents, not merely those that kill.

He has called on the Senate to ratify at last the 1925 Geneva Convention outlawing gas and germ warfare. And he has allied the United States with a British-sponsored resolution for a new convention banning use, possession or manufacture of bacteriological weapons.

THESE ARE STEPS toward sanity. They are steps toward genuine peace.

The Pentagon, expectably, immediately said it has no bacteriological stockpiles, only "limited components for biological testing."

The President knows better, else he would not have included such stockpiles in his order.

The New York Times on Oct. 21 reported that the army has stockpiled at Pine Bluff Arsenal in Arkansas 30,000 bullets containing botulism toxin. Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-New York, has said the army also has stored in its arsenals bullets to cause anthrax, tularemia, Q-fever and equine encephalitis.

AS TO CHEMICAL warfare, it was pointed out in this column last July 24 that at Dugway Proving Ground in Utah the army has an area of 841,000 acres — bigger than the entire land area of the state of Rhode Island — set aside primarily for testing such agents. Last year, while a test of nerve gas was under way there, a switch of the wind carried it to adjacent rangelands where it killed 6,400 sheep. The army, while never admitting responsibility for the deaths, nevertheless eventually paid the owners for the sheep.

Dugway is a principal proving round for chemical warfare agents that are stored at numerous locations. Last year, Denver was shaken by underground explosion of poisonous chemical waste from the nearby Rocky Mountain Arsenal. This year, escape of nerve gas stored on Okinawa hospitalized 25 Americans there.

AN END TO SUCH experimentation and stockpiling — only token control of which was provided by a resolution by Congress this year — will remove one of the great causes of civic unrest in this country.

Further, it will help put the United States where it should be: in the forefront of nations that do not just talk about peace, but prove by their actions they mean what they say.

Pale Green Acacia Buds

Marin's acacia trees start foretelling the approach of spring months in advance. Even now when winter has scarce begun the buds are prominent.

Large, hand-like clusters of pale green buds stand out in dramatic contrast against the much darker green of the acacia foliage. These will grow and swell almost daily, until several months before they burst into cascades of golden blossoms we would swear they look as though tomorrow will be the day.

We have seen acacias of some varieties in protected locations blooming in November. But most Marin acacias bloom in late February or early March.

Wily Thieu Tightens Control, But Keeps Helicopters Handy

By FREDERICK NOSSAL
Toronto Telegram News Service

SAIGON — (TNS) — Two helicopters stand at the ready on the lawns outside President Thieu's official residence, and Independence Palace is guarded by half a dozen tanks and scores of troops.

The helicopters are symbols of Thieu's efficiency and caution. He likes to make rapid aerial inspections of the provinces now and again. It is also useful to have the helicopters around in case of a coup or a Communist attack on Saigon.

The tanks and troops are a reminder to South Vietnamese that Thieu today is, without doubt, the most powerful man in the country.

THIEU, OPERATING with meticulous attention to detail, has removed virtually all his opponents. Some of his enemies have been neutralized by being shunted aside into posts where they can do no harm.

In establishing himself as a military dictator of some stature, however, Thieu has acted with a prudence and subtlety that surprised even those who know him well.

The flamboyant Nguyen Cao Ky, who is still Thieu's top rival in the leadership arena, has the important-sounding position of vice-president — yet Ky's once-powerful associates have lost their jobs.

Ky himself is given a chance to enjoy his love for the limelight. He is allowed to take his beautiful wife to Paris, where both of them revel in the publicity. And while Ky grins at his own photographs, Thieu continues to fortify his throne.

THE VALIDITY of the presidential elections in early September, 1967, is still being questioned. Nevertheless, Thieu's friends and supporters say it is to his credit that nobody has dared to mount a major coup attempt against him, and that not even the Tet offensive and subsequent Communist attacks could unseat him.

Today, Thieu is far from being a national hero. But he is gradually becoming a national figure, and even the Communists have given his new stature acknowledgement.

He has come a long way indeed since his days in the army.

During the overthrow and assassination of President Diem, Thieu led the assault on the barracks of the palace guard. It was a long and bloody battle.

After the coup, he was appointed chief of staff, and later went to command the army in the Fourth Corps region to stem Viet Cong advances in the strategic Mekong Delta. Late in 1964, he became deputy prime minister.

He became defense Minister, and worked diligently behind the scenes until by 1967 he had the upper hand.

KY ACCEPTED the vice-presidency under Thieu, and quietly tried to make a comeback in 1968 after the Tet offensive.

The wily President — who is 45 and somewhat older than most of his political contemporaries — hit back smartly.

One by One, Ky's men fell by the wayside. Since Tet, 24 provincial chiefs and 57 district chiefs have been removed.

The main reason in many cases was said to be corruption, or incompetence — but Thieu also used these excuses to get rid of army men whose personal allegiance to him was open to doubt.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

What Happens Now In Mental Health?

What happens now in troubled mental health land? We are not told. Will the "interim" last indefinitely, or will Dr. (Leon) Wanerman have completed his interim job when — and if — he has succeeded in getting rid of Dr. (Donald P.) Wilson?

Will the board of supervisors continue to tell the board of the hospital district how to run their business, regardless of what happens to the staff, the program and the patients whose needs are all but forgotten in the feuding?

Will county government take tender care of insubordinate employees in contractee institutions at county cost, but not of those who would like to go ahead with their jobs with some assurance that they will not be uprooted every year? Will consecutive board of supervisors continue to overturn their predecessors policies, no matter how well advised?

Is mental health becoming a political football?

Too Many Peaceniks In I-J Columns

The way you've had the peacenicks, hippies and creeps plastered all over your paper these last few weeks one would get the idea that the average resident of Marin County is that kind of a gutless non-American.

Peace does not come from cowardice, no matter how it may be camouflaged by personal slovenliness and poor music. Peace does not come from turning on one's country, or from abandoning one's fellow man, no matter how spectacular an exhibition may disguise the act. Peace does not come from rejecting the principles of loyalty and responsibility, nor from superficial chants of love. Every sane man wants peace, but no coward ever led his country to peace, and the peace of a traitor is that of a slave.

About 90 per cent of your fellow citizens are fed up with the sick minority. When will you get your belly full?

The Independent Journal lacks editorial strength. You are missing an opportunity to exercise community leadership by reflecting the moral and spiritual strengths that still characterize this country and which can be its only salvation.

Social Security Recipient Grateful

It is with a grateful heart that I write this letter.

To the people for whom I have worked that have made Social Security possible for me, my hearty "thank you."

To Almighty God, my heavenly father, all praise and glory, for giving to our United States of America men who took forethought of the man and woman who, after 60 years of age, would need aid, to come up with such a plan as He would have them do. To give me assurance of my check each month, of help.

Iwent to 2145 Fourth Street in San Rafael to seek assistance in securing the old age pension. I was met with warm friendly smile, and with understanding and courtesy. The two ladies who interviewed me, Mrs. Riel and Mrs. Skiff, were most gracious, and bent over backward to help me. They showed me where I could receive Social Security. I did not think I could receive it.

If you are 65 or over, and you need aid, maybe you too are eligible to receive help as I did. These people at 2145 Fourth Street will do all they can to help you. Mr. Levin, the manager, is most kindly, and will do all he can to help. Please think this over.

Residents Of Mobile Homes Contribute

In reply to the letter from Mrs. Grover C. Owen, of Nov. 18, regarding mobile homes, I would like to present some information from an "Industry Report" published by the economics department of a leading California financial institution.

In California, 38 per cent of mobile home residents are retired and 13 per cent of the mobile home residents reported the head of the household as age 35 or younger. The average income of mobile home occupants is slightly below the national average. This is not surprising considering the high proportion of retired persons.

Mobile home residents are generally good citizens and are an asset to the communities in which they live. About 75 per cent of adult mobile residents nationally are registered voters as compared with about two thirds of the general population of the United States. The average mobile home family spends $4,500 per year on goods and services purchased locally.

Mobile home residents also contribute their share to support of local government. Their owners must pay an annual registration fee to the state which is allocated back to cities, counties and school districts. In 1967, $8.5 million was so allocated in California, $262,515 of this to Marin and Sonoma counties. In addition the mobile home parks are subject to local property taxes. . . . Mobile home residents are not heavy users of community services. Most mobile home residents are adults without school age children. At the same time, police and fire protection, the greatest expense to a city, costs 25 per cent less per acre for mobile homes than for standard housing. . . .

Welfare Fraud Called Infinitesimal

The letter written by Roberta Laidley regarding the flagrant abuses in the welfare program, appearing in your issue of Nov. 16, is like listening to a real worn-out record.

The reason this county's welfare department (as do many others across the nation) spot checks recipients, rather than conduct exhaustive investigations of each applicant, is because long ago such routine investigations were proved to be a waste of taxpayers' money. Repeated and intensive studies of welfare over the years — and many of these studies were conducted by organizations hostile to welfare — established the undisputed fact that less than one-tenth of one per cent of welfare recipients are guilty of fraud. I doubt any other segment of our society would come out as well in such studies.

Unlike Roberta Laidley, I take considerable comfort in the knowledge that at least six cents of each of my rather substantial property tax dollars is spent for the constructive purpose of providing a minimum level of living for the deprived young, old, and disabled citizens of this, the richest nation on this planet.

My letter is not an effort to condone the Branstetter case; rather, it is intended to place the episode in its proper perspective.

Public Salaries Stir Resentment

I just finished reading your editorial for Friday, Nov. 21, "Want To Live Better? Get on Public Payroll."

What can we, as individuals, do about it, besides voting these people out at election time?

A monorail company executive said construction of an overhead monorail might start in Los Angeles or San Francisco within a year.

Secretary Rogers Proving Ability And Importance To President

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — To his great satisfaction, President Richard M. Nixon now knows that he was half wrong when in the '68 campaign he told Theodore H. White: "No secretary of state is really important; the President makes foreign policy."

Today, Mr. Nixon is glad that he has been proved only half right.

The President does make foreign policy, but he is finding that the right kind of secretary of state is "really important."

IT IS INCREASINGLY evident that Secretary of State William P. Rogers is performing crucially valuable services for Richard Nixon and for the nation.

He brings to bear, upon the decisions which Mr. Nixon alone must make, a balanced, common-sense wisdom which is invaluable.

He is a tactful, quiet-voiced, tough and tenacious negotiator; he has made the experts wince and in the end, smile in admiration.

He is an unusually disarming, ingratiating and credible exponent of Nixon policy. He has proved this at the United Nations and, despite hangover tension and heckling, he has shown it in his public and private appearances before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

NOBODY BECOMES a great secretary of state in 11 months. Rogers' most critical tests are still ahead of him. But he is already showing that he has the capacity to be an able secretary who is proving that executing foreign policy can be almost as important as making it.

It is doubtful that the American-Japanese negotiations over Okinawa, over Tokyo's peace-keeping role in the Western Pacific and its expanding economic aid role in Southeast Asia could have succeded as they did if Rogers had not been personally conducting them. This was the point at which the foreign service professionals were fearful that Secretary Rogers was too blunt and too direct in stating the U.S. position.

He thought not and he was proved right. One reason is that, with all his directness and candor, he was speaking courteously and respectfully. The Japanese aren't tender wallflowers. But they do want the respect which comes from plain speaking. They responded in kind, and in the end came one of the most significant diplomatic agreements of the postwar period.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the U.N. General Assembly brings nearly all the leading statesmen of the world together at one time in one place. Secretary Rogers met personally and at length with 89 of them. He made many friends and healed some past wounds.

And so far, with poise, with some persuasiveness and with no fatal explosion yet, Rogers has been effectively running the gantlet of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee where most of the more ardent Nixon critics are concentrating.

In the latest closed-door session with the committee, the secretary got through no more than one paragraph of a 10-minute statement he had prepared when he was barraged by hostile and discursive comments and questioning. He listened and occasionally was allowed to proceed with a few more sentences.

CHAIRMAN J.W. Fulbright could stand it no longer. He interrupted Rogers when he appeared about to get in a word edgewise, saying in effect, you've taken up a great deal of our time. Would you summarize what remains of your statement?

Rogers replied politely but firmly: "No, I will not summarize it. You invited me to testify. I am here to testify. I will finish my statement."

He did, and he ended it with a plea to the committee that it join him in a constructive, responsive exploring of today's problems, forgetting the quarrelsome acrimony of the past.

If Chairman Fulbright ever focuses his ire in public hearings on the present secretary of state, there is ltttle doubt that Rogers will have the public on his side.

Future Of AEC Power Plants Stirs Controversy

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Sometimes a compromise satisfies no one — as President Nixon is finding out with respect to his new plan for separate operation of the government's uranium enrichment plants.

Two weeks ago the President announcee that the three giant gaseous diffussion plants would be operated as "a separate operational entity" within the Atomic Energy Commission. They should be sold eventually to private interests, he said, because they will be doing a mostly commercial business.

The President's announcement climaxed a long series of discussions about possible sale of the plants. It did not ask for congressional authority now to sell them or set a deadline for the sale as proposed by a 1968 study sponsored by the industry group — the Atomic Industrial Forum.

THE REACTION, however, has been quick and critical.

On the day of the President's announcement, Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, promised "full, complete and comprehensive" public hearings on any proposal for change in ownership of the plants, which are located at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth , Ohio.

A couple of days later Holifield suggested, in an interview, that sale of the plants, in which the government has invested $2.3 billion, could be a "big steal" if the only such plants in the world were sold at a depreciated book value. He also commented that oil companies have been investing in uranium and other fuels and said he fears a possible "energy combine" which could control energy production in the United States.

NOW THE "DEAN" of the Senate, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., has told us that he will fight any transfer of ownership.

"I am opposed to turning over those diffusion plants to a group of power people, or oil magnates," said Aiken.

According to the President's announcement, the three plants are now operating at only 40 per cent of their capacity. The nuclear generation of electric power is in its infancy, however, with only about one per cent of the nation's electricity coming from the atom.

THE PRESIDENT'T announcement came just a week before a Senate subcommittee began hearings on a bill which would put atomic electric plants under the anti-trust laws.

Aiken is chief sponsor, with Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., o of that bill. In testimony Aiken called it ridiculous that, with 95 atom-electric plants built or on the drawing boards, all are still classified as research or medical therapy facilities and thus exempt from the anti-monopoly laws.

The congressional climate was, in short, not without its thunderheads when the President's balloon went up.

DDT Becomes An Issue In Grape Workers' Dispute

Dolores Huerta came to Belvedere last week to talk about the Delano grape strike, the table grape boycott, and DDT.

A striking (no pun intended) looking woman with dark brown hair and sparkling brown eyes, Mrs. Huerta is the Bay Area organizer for the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, better known to some as the Delano grape strikers.

Mrs. Huerta's message was loud and clear; Not only are DDT and other pesticides, including the infamous parathion, harming the farm workers who must go into the fields immediately after they are sprayed, they are harming the consumer who innocently has been eating grapes covered with pesticide residues.

THE ONLY WAY to stop these harmful paractices, she said, is to form a coalition of consumers and farm workers. To that end she was in Belvedere at the Leonard Sperry home to lend her physical and moral support to the newly reorganized Marin County Delano Grape Strike Support Committee, now known as Friends of Delano.

Mrs. Huerta said the committee is determined to end the use of DDT in the vineyards. She said negotiations between the strike committee and the table grape growers broke down this summer over that very issue.

The problem of pesticides is a complex one, particularly for the commercial grower. It's easy for a home gardener to resort to natural pest control methods — such as marigold borders for snails and lady bugs for aphids — but Mrs. Huerta is realistic about the feasibility of ending any use of pesticides in the vineyards.

What Mrs. Huerta and the strike committee are asking is that less harmful pesticides be used and that workers be given protective clothing when working the sprayed fields.

IN USED TO BE that when a classroom needed repainting or some new equipment, teachers dutifully went to the principal, who in turn went to the board of education to ask, more hopefully in tone than in heart, for money to accomplish the redecoration or purchases.

With tigher school financing, school trustees find themslves cutting the "extras" ("How about making that paint job last one more year?") in favor of necessities such as teachers and books.

That leaves it up to the parents, who generally seem to be much more involved in school affairs today than 20 years ago when the only involvement, outside of those dreaded conferences with the principal, came when mom brought cookies for the Valentine's Day party.

At Mill Valley's Old Mill School, parents are involved continually. Last year, parents repainted the kindergarten and a first grade room. This year it's the auditorium which became a parent project.

Parent Paul Reck, whose daughter Cynthia is in the auditoriu m's multi-age level class, is an office designing consultant. Cynthia told him of noise problems and, after consulting with the school staff, Reck redesigned the auditorium, using donated labor and materials from a San Francisco partition firm. And now daughter Cynthia doesn't complain about the noise any more.

Other parent projects at Old Mill School this year have included redecorating the library and several donations of funds for the school's enrichment programs.

Time For Transit Talkers To Fold Tents And Fade Away

In this column of April 19, 1968, transit was the topic for comment. Here is some of it that should be repeated today:

"The real purpose of asking the voting taxpayers to validate the formation of a transit district was purely and simply a move to correct a technicality. State law which gave the cities the power to engage in such operations failed to permit general law counties to do the same.

"The formation of the district was for a standby status. It was distinctly represented to the voters that the power to tax would not he abused, and that things would be handled in a discreet and careful manner. This has not been done."

Fusselman

IT'S TIME NOW to begin keeping that promise. We have spent far too many tax dollars for Seymour Kashin, and Paul Zucker (manager of the phantom transit operation and "we must have dialogue" planning director, respectively) to play around with.

The news stories during the past week or 10 days make it abundantly clear that we in Marin should stop and take a breather.

Assemblyman John F. Foran (San Francisco) is going to ask the Legislature to set up a nine-county Metropolitan Transportation Agency in the San Francisco Bay area.

James B. Moriarty, Contra Costa supervisor, and John F. McInnis, who is chairman of both the Marin Board of Supervisors and ABAG'S Continuting Transportation Planning Committee, both agreed that ABAG should handle local regional transportation planning. This sure looks to me like a conflict of interest. How can three masters be served? Here McInnis is chairman of Marin's transit group, chairman of the board of supervisors and then ABAG, voting funds for planning in all three.

WHILE THE ABOVE is going on, the Golden Gate Bridge people are knee deep in preparation for providing both bus and ferry service between the North Bay and San Francisco.

That service apparently would not include Marin intra-county transit.

This would have to be provided by our funding.

Now consider the situation in San Jose: The strike of bus drivers and maintenance men there has brought to light the fact that the San Jose transit Co. is losing so much annually that they don't want to renew their contract with the city. It expires soon.

There comes a doubt as to the ability of the Marin Transit District to float a bond issue for funding an intra-county service. Rolling stock and other equipment would run into a considerable bunch of coin.

If this is correct, and I believe it is, a couple of guys had better be folding up their tents and quietly fading away.

THE WHOLE POINT of all this is that we should have a satisfactory transit operation locally but the performance of our conversationalists has been so pitifully punk that who can believe they can provide it. . .

Hope you had a real nice day yesterday. Some of us have a lot to be thankful for. I can tell you, I have in an overflowing measure.

Sentences For Seven Drivers

Seven persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

George Albert Barnett, 46, of 101 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, was placed on three years' probation, ordered to spend 15 days in jail and fined $250. He was arrested March 31 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Roy A. Dix, 48, of South San Francisco, was placed on 18 months' probation, fined $302 and sentenced to 15 days in jail. He was arrested Oct. 2 on Highway 101.

Margery Menefee Tingley, 49, of 1369 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was placed on two years' probation, fined $250 and sentenced to five days in jail. She was arrested Sept. 26 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Robert John Lebakos, 46, of 251 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael, was placed on two years' probation and sentenced to 45 days in jail. He was arrested Jan. 8 in San Rafael.

James Henry Curtin, 38, of 223 Kent Avenue, Kentfield, was sentenced to nine months in jail. He had also been convicted of driving with a suspended license and having an open container of alcohol in his car when arrested April 8 in Mill Valley.

Robert Bee Deem, 26, of 814 Hacienda Way, Santa Venetia, was placed on one year probation and sentenced to 30 days in jail to run concurrently with a sentence he is serving for burglary. He was arrested June 7 on Highway 101.

Prison Students Seek Degrees

At least four student inmates in the San Quentin Prison extension of College of Marin will be candidates for associate of arts degrees in January, program director Berkeley Johnson has announced.

The program, now handling 80 students, is in its fifth semester. One degree was awarded last June, and two former San Quentin student inmates are now attending classes on the Kentfield campus.

The program is financed by the state department of corrections.

Johnson said the school's textbook supply is thin in all academic areas, and he will arrange pickup of any donated books suitable for reference and use in a liberal arts program.

Physiologist Says Logging Not Harmful

A University of California plant physiologist has testified that logging operations on the Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge would not cause significant sedimentation into Bolinas Lagoon.

Dr. Edward Stone, professor of forestry and plant physiology at Berkeley, was called as a witness for the loggers Wednesday in the Alameda County Superior Court hearing on Marin County's request for a permanent injunction against logging.

Hugh G. Lawrence, attorney for Matthews, Humbert and Walker logging of Coos Bay, Ore., quoted Stone as saying there would be "no significant erosion out of the logged area and none off property." Stone made his evaluation on the basis of study of "hundreds of other" logging sites, Lawrence said.

Joseph A. Forest, deputy Marin county counsel, said Stone testified that siltation as a result of the logging would increase in the first year but would be back to normal in two or three years. Earlier witnesses called by Forest have testified that the operation would cause significant erosion.

Stone praised the timber firm's operation on the sprawling 1,400-acre ranch and also defended the locating of a logging road in the canyon bed, an action which has been criticized as adding to erosion.

Donald R. Frost, Marin County director of public works, was also on the stand yesterday, called by Lawrence. Frost testified, according to Lawrence, that the county had not considered putting the relocated Shoreline Highway on the east side of Bolinas Ridge. Lawrence contended that the present plans for building the new freeway would cause a large amount of sedimentation into Bolinas Lagoon.

The court was to inspect the logging site today and attorneys for both sides estimated the hearings would take at least another week.

Report To Aviation Panel On Gnoss Field

The Marin County Aviation Commission will receive a report on expansion of Gnoss Field and set a date for a workshop on an aviation master plan for the county at its 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday in Room 308 of the Civic Center.

The commission also will study government-sponsored college aviation curricula.

Speedy Training For Nurse Aides

"I have this missionary zeal thing that won't quit. I want to help people, and the ones who need help the most are surgical and acute medical cases", said Donelle Rathbone, 19 year old Mill Valley resident who is among 12 students graduating this week from an eight-week intensive study-work course at College of Marin to prepare them for jobs as nurse aides or home health aides.

Donelle does not have a high school diploma, although she took a general education development test and scored the equivalent of a high school education.

"When I attended San Rafael High School I couldn't care less about school. I sat and stared out the window and daydreamed about everything and nothing. I dropped out, but after a few years I needed something, especially money", she said.

She applied for a job as an aide in a convalescent hospital. "Working with people who are sick and so dependent is a rewarding experience. You can help them feel better by making them more comfortable and secure," she found.

"I knew this was what I wanted to spend my life doing".

The director of the hospital recommended College of Marin's training program as a speedy means of gaining additional knowledge and skills in patient care.

"This was the direction I needed, and right now I feel I could go on and become a doctor", she says enthusiastically.

Alta McPherson's children are grown and have homes of their own. She needs to work but has no professional training or experience. She worked in a private home assisting an R.N. in caring for an elderly person for five years. When the patient died she was without a job.

"Get some training and we'll talk to you" was the response at every hospital where she applied for a new job. She said she found they almost guarantee a job for anyone who is graduated from the program at College of Marin.

"We have learned so many practical techniques that we are eager to try in our new jobs", Mrs. McPherson said. "For a person who enjoys doing things for others, this is the most satisfying work she can do". A patient at Ross General Hospital (where the students train) told me I had gentle hands," she said, looking down at them. "This was the nicest thing she could have said to me, because it gave me confidence in the work I was doing. "The patients love you and appreciate you, and so do the doctors, the nurses, and everyone on the working force", Mrs. McPherson said.

The students praised Faith Mareck, the program instructor-director. "I find myself doing housework and asking would Mrs. Mareck do it this way?" said Betty Edwards, another of the graduates. Betty is a 26 year old Novato resident and mother of boys aged 6 and 2 years.

"I'd like to take the Licensed Vocational Nurse courses, but that takes almost two years and I need to be working now", she said. Betty had worked in a convalescent hospital but found that more nursing experience was needed to advance in salary and in responsibilities. The R.N.s depend on us for so many things and respect us for doing a good job", she said, reflecting on her hospital work at Center Medical Rehabilitation Hospital and Ross General Hospital, while students in the program. "It's a lot different when you don't have the training —you're just another flunky", she said.

"The simple housekeeping methods we learn to make patients comfortable apply at home as well", said Betty. "My two-year-old dropped a cookie on the kitchen floor and I hurried to retrieve it before he bit into all those microorganisms", she said.

SUSAN HATTON is a Fairfax resident and is divorced. She is the mother of a 17-month-old baby girl whom she supports.

"I worked in the housekeeping department at Marin General Hospital and in the dietary kitchen," she said. "All the while I had a burning desire for a job in the newborn nursery or the maternity section", she said, but she could not qualify for work there because of her lack of training. She applied and was accepted into the College of Marin training program. Now that she is graduated the door is open to her for a position in this department when an opening occurs.

A nurse aide has the responsibility of being the one person who is with the patient more hours of the day and night than the R.N. or the charge nurse, explains Mrs. Mareck. The quality of care is only as good as the performance of each member of the patient care team from top physician right down to the nurse aide. The R.N.'s role has become that of supervisor, charge nurse, medicine nurse and specialized care nurse. The LVN's training has been upgraded steadily and they are no longer sufficient in number to fill the practical nursing need at all levels. They are being used as medicine and treatment nurses, and often as

BY MOLLY MARIN

Mrs. Leonard Downing has returned to Mill Valley with enthusiastic reports from a four-day-volunteer-conference at the Experiment in International Living headquarters in Putney, Vt. She represented the western experiment in International Living Office in San Francisco.

Ruth Downing says she is excited over the many and varied programs available for American students wishing to live abroad for the summer, as well as the incoming program which arranges short term home stays for foreign students in American homes. Anyone interested in these programs may call her for complete information.

At the conclusion of the conference she spent four days in New York City visiting the art museums, a subject in which she is especially interested because of her work as a docent at the de Young Museum in San Francisco.

MR. AND MRS. Fred Eugene Hill Jr. entertained more than 100 neighbors and friends at a cocktail party and midnight buffet supper at their home in Domingo Canyon in Novato Saturday. Mrs. Hill is the former Elenore Jones of Loch Lomond.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT Marsh have returned to their Marin Country Club Estates home in Novato after a three-week-tour to Mexico accompanied by Mrs. Marsh's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. N.F. Wheeler of Pasedena. They drove the circle trip from Guadalajara to Mexico City. They visited several days in Mazatlan with Mrs. Lawrence Morel, mother of Mrs. Lawrence Marsh of Mill Valley. Mrs. Morel has visited many times in Marin County and has many friends here. They were entertained by other relatives and friends in Mazatlan and Mexico City.

FORMER MANAGER of the Marin Country Club, Ed Bettini, was honored at testimonial party at Nave Lanes last Friday. Ed was on the staff of the Country Club for nine years and was manager the past three years. A money tree was presented to him by more than 200 members of the club.

What's Behind That Raise In Cost Of A Dozen Eggs?

By JOHN HENRY

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're an average American housewife, you buy and then bake, scramble or fry 320 eggs every year—and that's just for yourself.

Chances are, however, you don't know why you're paying 51 cents a dozen for eggs one month and 63 cents a few months later.

But the price of the other 99.96 per cent is influenced by figures chalked up on a blackboard in a downtown Manhattan office building.

At 10:30 a.m. every day a handful of professional traders gets set before the blackboard in the New York Mercantile Exchange.

FOR THE NEXT 10 minutes they conduct "egg call." They match orders from producers and buyers. They field hectic phone calls, chalk up bids and make contracts for the delivery of fresh eggs.

It's not the way the television ads used to show the tobacco auctions in the South, where the auctioneer and buyers walk down aisles and bid on stacks of tobacco.

The eggs aren't even at the exchange. They're packed away in warehouses and a trader may not even have seen them. The eggs all have been inspected and graded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and that rating suits most traders.

These traders deal in minimum lots of 18,000 eggs, or 1,500 dozen. The eggs are not bought by supermarket chains. Most are bought by institutions — hospitals, hotels, schools — in the New York area.

BUT IT DOESN'T end there.

The prices paid by these institutions are weighted by egg prices on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and professional market opinion. This results in a "going price" for eggs across the country in the daily publication, "The Producers Price Current."

This is the bible for the trade and is called the Urner Barry Report. It is published by Urner Barry Publications of Jersey City, N.J. Its prices are used by producers and wholesalers around the country. Some contracts even stipulate that prices be related to the Urner Barry price, industry sources say.

Some authorities would like to change this.

THE USDA SAYS wholesale pricing is "not consistent" with nationwide supply and demand.

"It can be off as much as three or four cents a dozen," said Jerry Faulkner, general manager of the United Egg Producers, a Georgia-based producers' cooperative.

"And when you multiply that by thousands of eggs, it's a lot of money," he added.

"What good is a price that goes up one day and down the next. The value of eggs doesn't really change that fast," he said.

On a recent day, medium whites were trading at 56 cents a dozen. At the same time, they were selling in the dairy counters of a major chain store here at 73 cents.

The reputation for honesty enjoyed by the 112-year-old Urner Barry report is unimpeachable, according to many industry sources including Faulkner, but he believes the trading system itself is open to manipulation.

A trader who gambled the price of egg futures—traded in Chicago, not New York—would go down, could help his cause by making the fresh egg market look glutted "simply by dumping three or four loads of eggs on the New York market," Faulkner said.

FUTURE PRICES — the prices agreed upon for eggs not yet produced—might then go down too, and the clever trader could cash in.

Faulkner's group, which claims its producers account for 55 per cent of egg production in the country, has a representative at both exchanges. They buy and sell appropriately "to make sure that kind of manipulation doesn't take place," he added.

Herb Gabriel, head of the national egg department of the A & P grocery chain, the nation's largest, believes the "law of supply and demand over a long period has dictated egg prices." A & P and other chains buy directly from producers.

Gabriel is a member of the 12-man National Egg Pricing System Study Committee, an industry group established last summer, which meets monthly in closed session.

THE HEAD OF the committee, Phillip Alampi, New Jersey secretary of agriculture, said the committee expects to make recommendations for reform after its last meeting in December.

He said the group's recommendations could be implemented through new legislation as well as new information gathering systems such as computer processing and other innovations.

"The people here are competitors," Watts said, "not friends . . . The only man who makes the price of eggs is the man with the knife and fork."

The average price for grade-A large eggs at dairy counters across the country rose from 51.3 cents in June to 63 cents a dozen in September, cents a dozen in September, according to the latest government statistics.

And futures prices on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange for eggs for delivery in November reached 18-year highs this month.

Open Society To Women Says Margaret Mead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Anthropologist Margaret Mead thinks that the population explosion won't be controlled until society gives women something to do besides have children.

"We must open society up to women. We have to have a great proliferation of humane interests for women who don't want to just manage small homes," Dr. Mead said.

"Unless we stop discriminating against women at all levels . . . we've not going to control the population explosion," she told the 13th national conference of the U.S. Commission for UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Pros And Cons, Mostly Cons, On The Issue Of Wife Spanking

DEAR HELEN:

I'm glad you pointed out the father-daughter relationship to the immature wife who said she and her friends expected and needed spankings from their husbands.

This sounds like the kids playing house, with the little boy father spanking the dolls. And when the children come along, will the wife be right down there with the kids, standing in line for her paddling? How could she ever be adult enough to handle her offspring if she continues as a little girl?

I'm glad my husband treats me as a woman. Certainly we argue, but we also discuss, and communicate. — UNSPANKED AND HAPPY

DEAR HELEN:

In some countries there's a custom of giving a bridegroom a paddle on his wedding day. But in this country they gave women the vote! Need I say more? — MRS. P. C.

DEAR MRS. P:

They also give girls rolling pins as wedding gifts. Emancipated, these Americans! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I would like to ask "Spanked Wife" what she does when her husband is the one who is cantakerous, nagging, extravagant, temperamental. Does she have spanking rights too — or is he perfect? —HA!

DEAR HELEN:

If a women is old enough to be married, she should be mature enough to have outgrown the need for spanking. — AN ARGUING WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

When my wife has been naughty and makes me mad and deserves a spanking, I put her over my knee to deliver the good old bare-bottom whack — but then I'm not mad any more! — MR. E. W.

DEAR HELEN:

I have been married 25 years to a man whose father was from old country and ruled with an iron hand. Therefore, my husband maintains that a good sound paddling is the quickest and most effective way to deal with an unruly wife.

This was quite a shock to me at first, as I had never received a spanking until after I got married. Recently I had too much to drink and we had a nasty argument. I could hardly sit down for a week!

We have two children who were never subjected to this type of discipline. My husband is otherwise a fine man, very generous and loving to his family. My marriage on the whole is most satisfactory. I am only spanked for really serious infractions, and I suppose this is a cross I have to bear. I was glad to read that other women experience it, too. Makes me feel like a — KINDRED WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

You asked for comments on whether or not legalized prostitution was a good idea. I think it should be leaglized, as there would be a lot less frustrated people around. It might eliminate those old restrictive guilt feelings about sex, and lessen sex crimes. In Amsterdam, there is legal prostitution and virtually no crime and little divorce. These may not correlate, but at least it shows legal prostitution doesn't increase crime and divorce.

I'm against any legislation as to what I should do with my own body. Not that I plan anything, but I just don't think morals should be legislated. — M.Y.

DEAR HELEN:

Licensed "houses" would provide a major control site against VD. They would also provide additional revenue to the state, and cut down illegal operations plus all the crimes that go with them. Then too, girls who "don't want to" wouldn't have to any more, to keep they boy friends. — T. J.

DEAR HELEN:

Perhaps it's the oldest profession, but it shouldn't be dignified by legality. It is not a profession to be proud of! — YOUNG WIFE

TRAINING

charge nurses, said Mrs. Mareck.

This leaves the nurse aide to care for the patient's basic welfare. In the program, through films, instructional aids, and lectures, but primarily through actual supervised experience in the hospital, the nurse aide can give the constant patient care that the charge nurse does not have time to give.

The aide must be gentle, competent, responsible, able to recognize patient needs, both physical and psychological, and be equipped to meet them, Mrs. Mareck said. Her training teaches her how to observe, recognize conditions and changes in her patients, and how to handle them.

She is taught to carry on while the specialized people concentrate on the medications, treatments, therapy and surgery.

From this concept the nurse aide program at College of Marin has gained its reputation for "quality graduates" in a short training period. Federal funds from the Vocational Education Act finance the program. Applicants are tested, screened, and interviewed. Selections are made on the basis of aptitude, and potential abilities of working with people who are ill in a hospital situation.

Another program will begin Jan. 19. Applications are available through the Office of Vocational and Technical Education at College of Marin.

Women Form Power Bloc

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women's Liberation groups from the eastern United States have formed a new political organization, the Congress to Unite Women, to mobilize support for true constitutional equality for women and gain political support for women's issues, spokesmen said Monday.

A statement from the congress, whose spokesmen asked to remain unidentified, said the group would work for an equal rights amendment to the constitution, greater protection under the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which now covers sex only in employment situations, free access to abortions, sterilization and contraception and free child care centers.

"The Congress to Unite Women is committed to the liberation of all women now," the statement said. "We know that only with power can we end the oppression of women. Together, in a united congress, we will fight for what is good for women."

More than 500 representatives of women's liberation organizations attended sessions this past weekend to agree on the congress' goals, the statement said. The congress will be, it said, "a women's political power bloc" which will "work against people in politically powerful positions who have demonstrated that they oppose our interest."

Spokesmen were kept unidentified, the group said, "so that all organizations and individuals shall be kept equal in their participation."

The group's priority demands were:

—Repeal of all laws restricting access to free contraception, sterilization or abortion on a voluntary basis.

—An equal rights amendment to the constitution explicitly guaranteeing women the rights set forth in the 14th amendment. The congress statement said such a measure was necessary since the Supreme Court has refused to rule on the question.

Capitol Hill Boasts Of At Least 80 Well Paid Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — There may be more women on Capitol Hill being paid $25,000 a year and more than in any other small area in the country.

Senate and House records reveal there are about 80 such well-paid women. These include one senator and nine representatives, who get $42,500 apiece.

Among top paid women employees each with a salary of $33,495, are two blacks.

They are Christine Ray Davis, staff director of the House Government Operations Committee, headed by Rep. William Dawson, (D-Ill.,) and Louise Dargans, research director of the House Education and Labor Committee and former administrative assistant to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, (D-N.Y.)

Of the 435 House members, 112 have women as their top aides. Of these, 53 are paid $25,795, the top permissible salary for a Congressional aide.

Of the 10 women members of Congress, only three have women as their top aides here. They are Reps. Martha Griffiths, (D-Mich.), Leonor K. Sullivan (D-Mo.) and Shirley Chisholm, (D-N.Y.).

One of those making more than $25,000 in Evelyn Lincoln, the late President John F. Kennedy's personal secretary. She is legislative assistant to Rep. James W. Kee (D-W.V.).

Six senators have women as their top and highest paid aides. They are Sens. Mike Mansfield, (D-Mont.) majority leader; Robert Byrd (D-W.V.); Clifford Case (R-N.J.); Carl Curtis (R-Neb.); Frank Church (D-Ida.), and Jennings Randolph (D-W.V.).

There are more than 1,350 women on Congressional payrolls who are paid in excess of $10,000 a year.

Safety Tips For Young Drivers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeature

Cars and bicycles are going to school in increasing numbers and it is a worrisome situation to many parents.

The automobile accident rate is climbing and authorities are concerned. For example, in New York, the State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles blames part of the increase in accidents involving teen-agers on the fact that more and more parents are buying cars for their children. He doesn't think teen-agers should own their own cars. In his opinion, parents should have control over automobiles driven by teen-agers.

MANY AUTO accidents happen at night. Kids cut up at a party and find it is hard to slow down the mood. But there are plenty of daytime accidents, too. On the way home from school, an open road might look very inviting for a peel-out. A young person steps on the gas pedal with a school's-out feeling of exhilaration, and he may wind up in the hospital or the morgue.

Studies made by investigators at Cornell University prove that seat belts save lives, reports the National Safety Council. It estimates that 8,000 to 10,000 lives would be saved each year if motorists used the seat belts.

Yet among some young crowds, the "in" thing is to avoid fastening the seat belt. One high school girl's companion accused her of suspectiong he was a bad driver because she fastened the belt.

Many young people have had little driving experience when they get their licenses. Some of them have never attended a driver's school.

THESE NEW youthful drivers may benefit from these safety tips passed on by the National Safety Council:

When passing another car, remember that it is moving too. Don't cut in front of it until you can see its headlights in your rearview mirror.

You should be concerned about the car ahead, the one behind, the one approaching in the opposite lane, the one ready to enter from a side street, and the one parked at the curb. One should drive in such a way that there is time to make the right decision.

Don't forget to signal for a turn. When changing lanes make sure a car is not cruising along in your blind spot.

SOME EMERGENCIES to spot include: jaywalking pedestrian, children hidden by parked cars, cyclists, animals. Don't depend on the other person to know the safety rules.

Lack of experience can lead to errors in judgment warns the Council. It recommends that young people take driver-education courses to aid in developing judgment and the sense of responsibility necessary for safe driving. Studies indicate that young people who have had formal driver education have fewer traffic accidents and violations.

Bicycles are more popular than ever, but many accidents are caused by carelessness. Last year, seven million new bikes hit the road, and the industry is constantly distributing safety material.

OBEY TRAFFIC regulations, signs, lights. Keep to the right; ride in a straight line, single file. A white light should be in front, a red one in back. A horn, bell or other working warning device should be used. Give pedestrians the right of way. Avoid sidewalk riding. Watch for doors opening on parked cars. Never hitch on other vehicles or race in traffic. Do not carry a passenger or object that interferes with your vision. Make sure your brakes are functioning smoothly.

ROCKING STONE — Britain's Mick Jaggar, electrifying in appearance as well as on record, heads the Rolling Stones in concert at New York's Madison Square Garden. After completing their 14-city tour of the U.S., the Stones said they will come back to San Francisco next week-end for a quick concert in Golden Gate Park. (UPI Telephoto)

By JOSH MILLS

NEW YORK (AP) — Flaunting their misogyny and brazen sexuality, the Rolling Stones took 17,000 fans by storm last night in their first concert here in three years.

The Stones turn kids on by preaching male chauvinism, sex, drugs, freedom and violent revolution. Then they flash the peace sign and toss rose petals on their fans.

But to the young audience, it's all entertainment, and every word and gesture from Mick Jagger, the lead singer and superb dancer, is welcomed with a roar.

The Stones will have played to more than 50,000 persons here when they finish two concerts today at Madison Square Garden. They will be in Boston tomorrow and West Palm Beach, Fla., Sunday, ending their tour. They have promised to play a free concert in San Francisco next weekend.

Jagger pranced about the stage last night in black jeans with silver buttons down the sides, black shirt and long red scarf. His leers, winks and smirks brought cheers and sighs.

The audience was excited but not unruly, even when hundreds of kids pushed toward the stage. Jagger smiled at them and said, "It's time to get out of your seats."

The biggest hits with the audience were those songs that put down women: "Under My Thumb," "Satisfaction" and "Honky-Tonk Woman."

The Stones covered their full range of material, from "Carol," a Chuck Berry rocker on their first album, to "Midnight Rambler" and "Love in Vain," from their newest and 14th album. Mick Taylor, the newest Stone, played a fine bottleneck lead on the latter.

Keith Richards on lead guitar, Taylor on rhythm guitar, Billy Wyman on bass and Charlie Wyman on drums were very tight all through the 70-minute set, providing a solid base for Jagger's theatrics.

The Garden, after two disastrous rock concerts with a revolving stage, sealed off 4,000 seats behind the fixed stage, and put in a fine sound system. The four-hour concert also featured the Ike and Tina Turner Revue, Terry Reid and B.B. King.

Among the Stones' fans in the audience were rock guitarist Jimi Hendrix and singer Janis Joplin, who came on stage to dance with Tina Turner.

FAMILY

"Darby O'Gill and the Little People" — Leprechaun antics, magic, comedy and pleasant romance all woven together in this lively Irish fantasy by Disney. (Reissue)

"Honeymoon Machine" — Lively Navy farce about young officers who use a computer to break the bank at the casino in Venice.

"Never A Dull Moment" — In this Disney farce, Dick Van Dyke, a struggling young actor is mistaken for a notorious thief and forced to steal a priceless oil painting. There is a hilarious finale.

"Undefeated" — A fullbodied post Civil War adventure. Plot enriched by touches of humor and warm friendships that develop between former adversaries. Violence of war shown in well directed fighting sequences.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Alice's Restaurant" — Thought provoking true happening in New England village in 1964-67. Story told with implied criticism of Establishment and its follies, shows the immature, uncommitted, unmotivated hippies in their own milieu, enjoying their "pot" with sexual abandon and harming only themselves. For the most mature teens only.

"Bandolero" — Well made and well cast, very violent Western has a fitting background of fine desert scenery.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — With script based on reputedly true story of two bandits, this western is almost farcical in tone and documentary in presentation. The outlaws take their trade to Boliva with mixed results. Good dialogue, fine music and memorable performances from cast.

"Romeo and Juliet" — The great tradegy is made vividly new and immediate in a superlative production.

"True Grit" — Amusing satiric western about a determined 14-year-old girl's attempt to track down her father's murderer. Violence and rough language are an integral part of story. Grandeur of scenery is memorable.

BORDERLINE:
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Glory Stompers" — Amateurish run-of-the-mill motorcycle gang story containing the usual amount of violence, killings and rapes.

"Wild Angels" — Outlaw motorcycle mounted rebels that have no place to go but have ruthless and savage gang fights culminates in an orgy in a church.

ADULTS ONLY:

"Easy Rider" — Two dope pushers take a motorcycle trip from Los Angeles to New Orleans. Film relates their experiences which provoke much soul searching about man's inhumanity to man.

"I Am Curious, Yellow" — Complex movie-within-a-movie structure is somewhat confusing and laborious. A Swedish social expose which received undue publicity when seized by customs because of explicit treatment of sex, depiciting intercourse and oral - genital contact full view, full length and minus strategic shadows or cutaways. Even for sophisticates who are not offended, there is just too much "bare" sex for one film. (Parents Magazine).

"Midnight Cowboy" — An offbeat film peopled with the dregs of society is somber and hard hitting. A crippled small time chisler first exploits and then befriends a vain Texan who comes to New York to be a male prostitute. Sordid story told in an uncomproming way and tempered by director's technical skill gives meaning to the term "Adult Movie." (Parents Magazine)

DRAMA REVIEW

'Our Town' Reopens At Broadway Show

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — A high-powered cast does excellently well with the low-pressure virtues of "Our Town" in the production that opened last night at Broadway's ANTA Theater.

Taking part are such familiars as Henry Fonda, Ed Begley, Mildred Natwick, John Beal, John Randolph and Margaret Hamilton. Plaudits to them, their fellow players and Donald Driver for ensemble style that saves the play from turning into just a personality showcase.

Thornton Wilder's frankly sentimental, folksy and philosophically mushy retrospective peep at turn-of-the-century American life transcends any critical analysis now. It won the Pulitzer Prize in 1938 and has been revived often.

Response yesterday to its theme of "isn't life awful—and wonderful!" is a very individual matter. But even the utterly disenchanted may find themselves irresistibly arrested as Fonda, the emceeing stage manager, evokes the innocent pleasures and faded heart throbs of the Gover's Corners community.

The young romance that provides the connective narrative is enacted with unglamorized simplicity by Harvey Evans and Elizabeth Hartman. Miss Hartman is notable especially for treading a path of girlishly arrogant humility uncluttered with the sweetie-pie wiles that haunt many "Our Town" concepts.

Driver, one of the authors of "Your Own Thing," adds a few bits of contemporary theatricality and some unnecessary tinges of down east dialect, but these are small flaws in persuasively paced supervision.

"Our Town" is the third of the guest presentations being displayed under the supervisory banner of the American National Theater and Academy. The engagement is scheduled only through Dec. 27. Fine holiday fare for the whole family.

What other press critics said:

Richard Watts Jr., New York Post: " 'Our Town' . . . has lost none of its high quality in the Plumstead Playhouse revival. Everyone in the cast seems just right. It is a pleasure to revisit Grover's Corners."

Douglas Watt, Daily News: " 'Our Town,' which returned last evening . . . in a simply superb production, remains after 31 years a lovely and poignant play . . . The company is an extraordinary one."

Mel Gussow, New York Times: " . . . 'Our Town' . . . was revived with partial success . . . Henry Fonda is . . . sufficient reason to see this revival . . . To his credit, and the play's benefit, he is very much at home in his part. But the director, Donald Driver, is not as much at home with the play. He has chosen unwisely not to let the work speak entirely for itself."

Sausalito Man Injured In Rear-End Accident

William D. McDonald III, 22, of 534 Spring Street, Sausalito, was treated at Marin General Hospital for facial cuts received in a rear-end collision at 1:05 a.m. today on the Sausalito lateral near the Golden Gate Bridge.

California Highway Patrol officers said McDonald's car hit the rear of a car driven by Tonnis Vander Laan, 46, of 820 Sutro Avenue, Novato, when Laan stopped in the roadway to pick up a pedestrian.

'Messiah' Set At Seminary For Dec. 5

The 1969 performance of Handel's "The Messiah" by the Oratorio choir of the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Strawberry is scheduled for Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. in Broadus Hall on the campus.

Soprano soloist will be Nelda Beeson of Tiburon. Miss Beeson is a graduate of Baylor University, where she sang in the a cappella choir.

Other soloists will be Mrs. Wayne Jarboe of Novato, contralto; Jerald Reeves of Concord, tenor; and Michael England of Mill Valley, bass.

Accompanying the choir on the organ will be Mrs. George Suffern of the seminary music faculty and pianist Mrs. William Porter of Sacramento.

Dr. Carlyle D. Bennett, head of the division of church music at the seminary, will direct the program, which is open to the public without charge.

Bridge Accident Injures Pair

Two persons received minor injuries during a rear-end collision at 2:20 a.m. yesterday on the Golden Gate Bridge, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Barbara Morgan, 19, of 99 Cole Drive, Marin City, a passenger in a car driven by Woody Herman Armstead, 23, of 237 Drake Avenue, Marin City, complained of a sore neck and back, and James Dunbar Burrel, 21, of Salem, Ore., driver of the second car, received a bump on the head, officers said. Both said they they would see their own doctors.

Officers said that Burrel hit the rear of Amrstead's car when Armstead slowed because of car trouble.

Floating Body Towed To Shore

The badly decomposed body of a gray-haired man was found floating off Lime Point near the north tower of Golden Gate Bridge at 12:45 p.m. yesterday.

The body was towed ashore by two men who had been fishing, Tom Bryant and John Larsen of 9 Roma Court, Novato.

Marin County Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig said identification, after what appeared to be three weeks to a month in the water, would be possible only through the clothing: a brown sweater, blue suit vest, striped blue trousers and old fashioned, black high topped lace boots.

Hand Tools Stolen

Landscape Plans Are Refunded

Architectural and landscaping plans for two new San Anselmo restaurants, to be located in one building, have been referred back to the applicants by the San Anselmo Design Review Committee.

The committee recommended a color scheme change for Cable Car Burgers and Fisherman's Wharf Fish and Chips at 109 and 111 San Anselmo Avenue. The applicant was asked to move the building back from the street to allow more adequate landscaping.

The committee, meeting Wednesday, also gave architectural approval to Cary J. Gaidno for an addition to his house at 51 Belle Avenue and granted permission for a landscape change at St. Nicholas Church, 102 Ross Avenue.

Homeowner Committee Endorses Incumbent

The nominating committee of the North Marin Federation, composed of home owners' associations in the Novato area, has recommended retention of all incumbent officers.

Recording secretary Evelyn Johnson reported today that the committee on Wednesday proposed reelection of president Arnold Baptiste, vice president G. R. Greene and secretary-treasurer James A. Sullivan.

Sullivan declined another term for lack of time, according to Mrs. Johnson, and John C. Schoonover was unanimously nominated to replace him.

Election will be held Dec. 18, with nominations from the floor to be accepted.

Schoonover, representing Gnoss Estates howeowners, reminded the federation that the Novato Public Works Department is expected at the Dec. 9 city council meeting to press for Route M rather than Route G for the De Long Avenue extension, as the less expensive. Gnoss Estates residents want Route M, which will require extensive grading of hill, rather than Route G, which will circumvent the hill but take some Gnoss Estates homes. The federation has pledged support to the Gnoss Estates home owners.

Wood Sale

Fresh-cut eucalyptus firewood will be sold by the Marin Jewish Community Center, 200 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Dec. 14.

Youth Breaks Bones In Fall From Bicycle

Tommy John M. Kristensen, 17, of 401 Wellesley Court, Mill Valley, was reported in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured collar bone and spine received when he fell off his bicycle at 1:40 p.m. yesterday on Ridgecrest Road near the Air Force radar station on Mount Tamalpais.

Details of the accident were not available today from the California Highway Patrol.

Nursery Request

An application by Bess and Alexander Gilroy to expand the enrollment of their nursery school at 176 Tunstead Avenue to 28 children will be considered when the San Anselmo Planning Commission meets at 8 p.m. Monday at city hall.

Two Arrested In Novato Brawl

Two Richmond men were booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon following a fracas last night at the Town Club, 1005 Grant Avenue, Novato.

Police said Jesse Esquivel, 28, and Rauly Esquivel Sr., 31, attempted to take drinks out of the bar. Told they could not, they became beligerent, but left. They returned later and were refused service, police said.

At that, they allegedly threw two barstools at the bartender and when some patrons tried to intervene, one reportedly pulled a switchblade.

Both were released on bail of $1,250 to appear in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday.

TRAILS TO A SECRET WORLD

By JOANNE GRANT

The secrecy is more felt than real. Others have been there and will return. But while you're there it's as if a curtain had been pulled to provide a peaceful place.

It is a popular spot for horsemen who live nearby, providing instant seclusion without battling traffic.

We rode the trails this week with Junelle Gill of 100 Palm Avenue, a horsewoman eager to share the beauty of her favorite San Rafael trails, through the undeveloped hills, the Black Canyon area, above Dominican College.

It is possible to drive on some of them, the barrow, rutted, winding fire trails, but the effect would be lost.

The riding possibilities seem almost unlimited, with trails branching off in all directions — many without leaving the city of San Rafael.

The trail we took is a dirt-gravel-sand path which stilled the echoing clop clop of a horse on city streets, an immediate, drastic change which sets the stage for what's ahead.

Stretches enclosed by thick, cool growth alternate with sun-shimmered clearings affording an occasional glimpse of the central city with the wall to wall people you know are there, or the residential areas with harsh strips of asphalt cutting up pockets of green.

It's an unpleasant effort to look down and remember, particularly when a thick layer of smog intervenes.

Much more attractive is the trail ahead, the trees and grasses and shrubs that flourish unfettered.

It is marred only by some who have been there earlier, using the edge of the trail as an improvised dump, scattering papers and garbage to spread down the slopes.

The beauty is also broken by the jarring appearance of an old car, long abandoned down the side of a hill.

Trail riders dread the coming burning ban, fearing more extensive dumping along the way.

The other sign of civilization is the Nike missile site atop the hill and the view of Hamilton Air Force Base to the north.

Mostly, now, though it is wilderness, a refreshing temporary escape unusual without first taking a long drive.

The tomorrow of the area and others like it is uncertain.

Most of the land is in private ownership and presumably, one day, will be developed as San Rafael spreads. It is zoned for single family dwellings.

Meanwhile, people like the Ralph Gills, a family with more horses than children, and the dozen or so neighbors who also keep horses will use it as a retreat, a happy place for family times together.

A City Planner Who Stresses People

By ANNE BARDWELL

As urban problems multiple and suburbia sprawls, the requirements of the individual often get the short end of the stick.

However, a number of young city planners, including Tiburon's Wayne E. Moody, are breaking away from the mass produced, anonymous approach to planning and are seeking a place for individuality within a good planning framework.

"We need to know what people value in terms of privacy . . . we must allow people the freedom to express themselves," Moody says.

Privacy, freedom of life style and environment, according to Moody, are the things to which zoning ordinances should address themselves, not setbacks and building heights.

"Design criteria, regulation of colors and materials, may not be as necessary as allowing flexibility for the individual . . . people need diversity," Moody says.

But, according to Moody, it's tough to provide such flexibility in zoning ordinances which "are drafted to control the worst things and tend to stop the best things."

This concern for the individual spills over into Moody's approach to Tiburon's specific planning problems, particularly development of the downtown area.

WAYNE E. MOODY

He wants the downtown to be developed with an emphasis on people, not cars, and to be full of "places for people" to use.

These would include places where people can eat bag lunches, expensive penthouses atop office buildings, moderate cost housing for the elderly near shops and stores, professional offices to keep the downtown alive week days, a cultural center for residents in the evenings and weekends, visitor oriented business to attract the vacationer "who's willing to spend more than a buck" and not the tourist off the tour bus.

According to Moody, such highly diverse uses in the downtown will help relieve the city's major problem — cars — since parking spaces can be used at different times — not just on weekends.

He supports the controversial second major street downtown only "if it relieves the downtown for the pedestrian, not if it simply brings in more cars." He also wants to see parking covered by useable store and office space "so we don't waste valuable land for the automobile."

As to transportation, Moody supports a multiple system which would provide "different kinds of transit for different people, including ferries, commuter and shuttle buses and automobiles. "Rail transit is not feasible," he says.

Moody sees future Tiburon development heading toward the large expensive single family home and plans to work for more efficient land use through such devices as cluster development. "Right now," he says, "much of your land is wasted as half of someone's one-acre site."

The young planner — he's 30 — was an architect before taking up planning in 1965. "As an architect I was dealing with single buildings, not the larger picture. I went into planning to get the two together."

He may return to architecture someday — "There you can see the results of your work soon, in planning it may take years" — but finds planning a "very stimulating, exciting" field.

He's particularly intrigued with the political process of public planning after having worked for the Marin County Planning Department before coming to Tiburon a few months ago.

"The political process is fascinating . . . particularly the power people, especially those who band together into groups, can wield," Moody says.

And, rather than being discouraged by the sometimes unwieldy process of citizen participation, Moody encourages more of it. "I don't know what everyone wants of their city. I have some ideas but I don't want to push them on someone else. I need to find out what the people think," he says.

21 MORE SHOPPING DAYS...

Fire Season For Pruning Scheduled

The burning season for agricultural prunings will open Monday for five months.

During this period, ending April 30, orchardists may burn prunings on days when the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District finds that meteorological conditions are such that burning will not cause pollution.

The word on whether to burn will be carried daily on radio station KNBR (680 kilocycles) at 8:59 and 9:07 a.m., and on radio station KEEN (1370 kilocycles) at 9 and 9:30 a.m.

The burning of household rubbish and garden prunings is not included in the program. Burning of this type is to be illegal in the six-county district after Dec. 31.

Under the agricultural burning program, no fires may be started before 9:30 a.m., no new material can be added after two hours before sunset, the material to be burned must not have a moisture content of more than 30 per cent, and the wind direction must be away from populated areas.

Panel To Review Ecumenical Plan

A proposal by the Ecumenical Association for Housing for the development of the Hilarita housing project in Tiburon as low and moderate income housing will be reviewed by the Tiburon Planning Commission at 8 p.m. Monday in City Hall.

Included in the discussion will be preliminary recommendations by planning director Wayne E. Moody that the commission also consider rezoning the property to planned multiple zone (R-3) and increasing the denisyt above the presently allowed 75 units for the 13 acre site.

The commission also will discuss proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance to allow clustering of buildings in residential areas and amendment to the parking and loading ordinances.

Petaluma Board To See Project

Plans to expand a medical office will be considered by the Petaluma Planning Commission Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The plans submitted by Dr. E. Wayne Lewis, Dr. Mark J. Brockbank, Dr. Nolan R. Cordon and Dr. Raymond G. Jewel include the expansion of the building at 127 Fourth Street and new parking facilities with access to Petaluma Boulevard South.

Also to be studied is a request by Joseph Nizibian for a duplex at 527 Upham Street and a request by the Atlantic and Pacific Building Corp. for a one-year extension on the submission of final maps for two additional Monarch Manor subdivisions.

Drugs Possession Charge To Two

Two San Francisco men were arrested yesterday by Sausalito police when officers found what appeared to be marijuana and dangerous drugs in their car when it was stopped for defective rear lights at 1:30 a.m. on Bridgeway at Locust Street, police reported.

Robert Michael Katen, 21, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of marijuana and dangerous drug possession and for being in a place where narcotics were used. Edwin Frederick Jacoby, 23, was jailed on suspicion of posession of marijuana and dangerous drugs. Each posted $625 bail to appear Monday in Marin Municipal Court.

Burglar Unlocks Safe At Service Station

A burglar who may have known the safe combination at the Hancock Service Station at 1011 Lincoln Avenue stole $487 between Wednesday and today, San Rafael police reported today.

Entry into the closed station was made through a smashed skylight, police said. Fifty dollars was taken from a money tray and $437 from the undamaged safe in the storage room police said.

Street Poles Topic

Color of poles for street lights in Belvedere will be discussed by the Belvedere City Council at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Council To Hear Street Proposals

Plan lines for the widening of East Washington Street will be discussed at a public hearing at the Petaluma City Council meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Plans call for widening the street to four lanes from Baylis Street to Highway 101.

Also to be considered is a possible $200,000 bond issue for new fire station facilities and an $800,000 issue to improve Caulfield Lane with a Highway 101 overcrossing and the widening of Lakeville Highway to D and Hopper streets.

Change In Routes Delays Mailmen

Mail delays noted for several days at some San Rafael businesses are the result of changes in mail routes, not the oncoming Christmas mail rush, a postal official said today.

Asst. Postmaster E. J. Fisher said there has been no substantial increase in mail volume yet attributal to the Christmas season, and said extra seasonal mail handlers have not yet started work.

Some 60 San Rafael mail routes recently were inspected and adjusted, Fisher said. the result is a temporary slowdown in distribution, including sorting at the main post office on Bellam Boulevard, until employees become familiar with the new patterns.

Approximately 45 seasonal mail workers will be phased onto the job as the Christmas mail rush increases, Fisher said.

Fall Down Hillside Hospitalizes Woman

Teresa McHan, 45, of 192 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion received when she fell down a hillside between 158 and 164 Spencer Avenue at 12:35 a.m. today, Sausalito police reported.

Police said Miss McHan was walking along the road's edge with two companions when she slipped and fell over the side.

20 Foster Homes Needed Per Month

Although there are about 200 foster homes in Marin, an average of 20 more are needed each month, three-quarters of them for teen-agers, an official of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services said today.

Anne Jameson, operations manager of the department and formerly in charge of the foster home division, admitted teens "can be very demanding."

However, beneath the rebellion there is a positive attitude and a tremendous desire for adult guidance, she said.

Miss Jameson, Lucien N. Remy, president of the Marin County Foster Homes Association; Eva Massi, a foster parent, and E. H. (Mel) Augustine, a probation officer, discussed foster homes on the KTIM "Sounding Board" program today, each emphasizing the critical need for more.

Miss Jameson explained that since children sometimes stay three of four years in a foster home, the 200 families who will take foster children are not always available.

Augustine said the current need will increase when a state requirement goes into effect next year forcing counties to care for persons who have been patients at state mental hospitals.

Most of the discussion focused on requirements for being foster parents and Mrs. Massi summed them up from a parent's point of view: "The ability to love someone else's child . . . take them into your heart and your home."

Such items as income, age and size of family and location of the home are secondary to the capacity to care for children, all panelists agreed.

Foster families are paid monthly for the children in their care — $92 for children up to six years; $104 for 7 to 12 year olds; $113 for teen-age girls, and $120 for teen-age boys.

Both Mrs. Massi and Remy agreed that did not cover all of the expense.

Answering a listener's question of the period of adjustment, both foster parents agreed it is trying — for the parents and children. But, "it isn't anything you can't surmount," Mrs. Massi said.

After placement, one of the places for assistance is the foster homes association which conducts a lecture and discussion series for foster parents, Remy said. The association also recruits for more foster homes and has a clothing and furniture exchange to ease any financial burden.

Commenting that the discussion seemed discouraging to potential foster parents, Remy said he believes persons today are looking for ways to "invest themselves." Taking a child into your home is a very rewarding investment, he said.

In addition to the long-term type of home, there is also a need for emergency care in receiving homes; short term care; pre-adoptive infant homes and ones for persons with mental and physical handicaps, Miss Jameson said.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Ignacio Woman Hurt As Motorcycle Skids

Nina Mae Clark, 54, of 5023 Redwood Highway, Ignacio, was treated yesterday at Novato General Hospital for cut and bruised knees received when the motorcycle she was riding skidded and hit the center divider strip on Alameda Del Prado near Calle Arboleda in Ignacio, at 3:45 p.m.

California Highway Patrol officers said the accident occurred when Leo Max Morlan, 35, of Pinehill Road, Mill Valley, driver of the motorcycle, swerved to pass a car, driven by Wyman Walker of 729 Cherry Street, Novato, which had stopped in the roadway.

$15,000 Tam Valley Attic Blaze

A fire that started in the attic area of the home of John Hulse at 1107 West California Avenue, Tamalpais Valley today did about $15,000 damage to the upper floor of the structure.

The fire broke out at 8:16 a.m. in attic living quarters, the firemen said. The cause of the fire is not known.

Twelve firemen and six units battled the blaze which destroyed the attic level of the home and burned through the roof, firemen said.

Rohnert Park Due Housing Report

The housing element study made by the Rohnert Park Housing Committee will be presented to the city council Monday at 7 p.m. and scheduled for a public hearing in January.

Cavett Named To ABC Show

The selection of Cavett was announced Wednesday by Elton H. Rule, president of ABC. The new show, to premiere Dec. 29, also will compete against the Merv Griffin Show on CBS.

Highway Patrol Finds Stripped Sports Car

A sports car stolen Tuesday in San Rafael was found at an undisclosed location Wednesday by the California Highway Patrol, stripped of its wheels, bucket seats and radio, police reported.

The 1967 Austin-Healey, registered to Lorraine Loo of 133 Martens Boulevard, was stolen Tuesday mornings from her driveway, police said.

TV REVIEW

Simon And Garfunkel: Poetry In Pop Banality

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — As everyone knows, all you have to do today to become an instant philosopher is record a hit song. Immediately your oracular views on Vietnam, politics and other issues are gathered for posterity—or at least until you fall out of the "Top 10" of the song charts.

Your views, of course, are directly proportionate in importance to the size of the commercial record market that is a vailable to buy your music. If the market of persons under 25 were, say, half its size today, your views would be accorded half the importance. As it is, however, pelvic rotators and guitar twangers aspire to Schopenhauer's berth. Thus democracy.

One of the several things I like about Paul Simon, the writing half of the Simon and Garfunkel team that has a provocative and tuneful one-hour special on CBS-TV Sunday night, is his sense of perspective. He has been called a poet. He says:

"In my opinion the lyrics of most pop songs today are so banal that if you show a spark of intelligence they call you a poet. And if you say you're not a poet, then people think you're putting yourself down. The people who call you a poet are generally people who never read poetry." Simon adds:

"I don't try to say anything I think the kids want to hear. You can't do anything real that way. I try to take an emotion or feeling I've had and capture it in one incident. And I don't worry about the message of the song. I worry about its entertaining — not boring — an audience. That comes first."

Their Sunday night special is a blend of documentary technique and music. The documentary-style footage includes their traveling and talking with each other, film clips of the nation today—at peace and at war (domestically too)—and a montage of past influences on their development, from funny old movie segments to the brief political ascension of the late, tragic brothers Kennedy.

The whole purpose of all this, with musical accompaniment, is to show some of the forces that affected them as growing human beings, and therefore is reflected in their music. Mainly it is an effective, sometimes touching, video device. Several times it is pretentious because it is obvious. But, thankfully, even at these times, their disarming honesty and perspective about what they really are—just very appealing musicians—is their salvation.

They sing exceptionally well, of course, and seem attractively timeless rather than just "pop." There might have been less about how they record—who cares, really? Their views, meanwhile, are about as controversial as warm milk—for example, they are against the Vietnam mess and hunger. But today, of course, it's commercial to appear controversial—which is why so many musical shows by young performers seem more like position papers.

St. Peter's Sacred Chair In Rome Isn't Real Thing

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—In St. Peter's Basilica, in a special baroque shrine, there stands a chair venerated by Roman Catholics for centuries as one that may have been used by the Apostle Peter.

Popes of old used this chair for a throne. For one period of two centuries, it was locked in a vault as a precious relic.

Now Pope Paul VI must decide how to dispose of it. The chair has been identified by a panel of experts as dating from no earlier than the ninth century.

A scientific commission appointed by Pope Paul in July, 1968, reported yesterday that no part of the chair was old enough to date from St. Peter's time.

The question now is whether the Pope will replace the chair in the magnificent baroque shrine built for it by Giovanni Lorenzo Bernini in the 17th century. The shrine stands in St. Peter's Basilica.

Msgr. Michele Maccarrone, head of the commission, told newsmen yesterday that the chair will be given protective treatment. Beyond that, Vatican sources said, the future of the chair is the Pope's concern.

Maccarrone said carbon dating and other tests put the age of the chair around the middle of the ninth century and there were grounds to believe it may have been the coronation throne of the Emperor Charles the Bald.

Chamber Names Six Directors

Six men have been elected to three-year terms as directors of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

New directors are Shane Brady, Jack E. Bucknum, Gunther Hagel, Sigfried K. Herzog Jr., David Huberty and David G. Stephens. Board officers will be chosen by the board.

Inflation Hits Food Industry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Inflation, bumper crops and falling prices are taking their toll in California's food processing industry.

Robert L. Gibson Jr., president of California Canners and Growers, says the industry is going through its second consecutive year of losses and the future promises more of the same.

"The situation in which we find ourselves is largely the result of a long and steady inflation of our economy. The inflationary trend must be slowed drastically if we are to avoid an even more painful economic reckoning."

Gibson said the co-op is undergoing an extensive cost-cutting program to help stablize its marketing position. He said it has been deemed undesirable to expand existing processing plants to handle unusally large harvests.

Bishop Myers Raps Papists On Pill Issue

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Episcopal Bishop C. Kilmer Myers has strongly criticized American Roman Catholic bishops for supporting Pope Paul VI in his ban on birth control.

"The Roman Catholic hierarchy of this protein-rich nation does not have the courage to part company with a sincere but misled Pope who, led by obsolescent theologies, defines artificial population control as objective evil," Myers said.

The criticism was made during Myers' Thanksgiving Day sermon at Grace Cathedral in reaction to a vote of Catholic bishops at a Washington conference early this month against goverment-sponsored birth control programs.

In his sermon yesterday, Myers questioned how Americans could celebrate "these laden tables of Thanksgiving when famine is the future for untold millions."

"The proteins consumed by Americans on this day alone never will be consumed in like numbers by growing millions of men, women and children in Asia and Africa in their entire life span.

DALLAS DIVE — Cowboys' fullback Dan Reeves (30) dived into the end zone with a second quarter touchdown that helped Dallas tie the San Francisco 49ers 24-24 at Dallas. (UPI Telephoto)

Krueger's Big Paw Gives 49ers A Tie

Veteran Blocks Kick By Dallas

DALLAS (UPI)—Two great early offensive plays and the big paw of defensive tackle Charlie Krueger on defense with just 12 seconds left gave the San Francisco 49ers something to be thankful for today — the day after Thanksgiving.

The 49ers, a patched up crew on defense due to a rash of injuries, deserved a better fate, but in the end they had to settle for what happiness a 24-24 tie against the Capital Division leading Dallas Cowbeys could provide.

14-0 LEAD

"They made two great plays early," Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry said in retrospect after San Francisco burst into a 14-0 lead and forced the Cowboys to play catch up.

He was referring to a 60-yard runback of the opening kickoff by 156-pound speedster Nolan Smith that set up the 49ers' first touchdown — a 3-yard burst by Ken Willard — with just 2:03 gone in the game; and, a 36-yard screen pass from John Brodie to Willard on the 49ers' next possession that set up the second touchdown.

Krueger, an 11-year veteran, turned in his heroics just when it seemed the Cowboys were going to pull the game out of the fire.

The Cowboys drove 60 yards in the final two minutes of the game to set up what looked like a sure winning three-pointer by Dallas' Mike Clark. But, the Cowboys drew an offside penalty and Clark had to kick from the 37-yard line instead of the 32 as the clock ticked away.

BREAKS THROUGH

Krueger, somehow, broke through the Cowboys' front cordon and stuck up his hand at just the right instant. The ball, which Clark said "looked like it was taking off on a true course," struck Krueger's extended hand and slid off harmlessly toward the sideline to kill the Dallas chance.

"I was just lucky," Krueger said. "I didn't do anything special to get that much penetration."

It was Willard who also pulled in a 19-yard pass from Brodie while two Cowboy defenders swarmed around him to climax the drive he had started with the screen pass that had sucked the Cowboys far out of position.

19-YARDER

The other 49er points came on a 19-yard toss from Brodie to Gene Washington in the third period and on a 21-yard field goal by Momcilo Gavric after Jimmy Johnson had opened the door with the 49ers' third interception of the night against the Cowboys' Craig Morton.

Morton, underthrowing much of the time and hopelessly watching his receivers drop passes at other times, did manage to hit Bobby Hayes with a 31-yarder and Lance Rentzel with a 19-yarder for touchdowns, but wound up with only 16 hits in 37 attempts for 168 net yards compared to 18 of 33 for 227 yards for Brodie.

HERITAGE GOLF

Palmer, Archer Tie For Lead

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer held a share of the lead going into today's second round of the $100,000 Heritage Golf Classic —the first time he's been in such a position since his comeback — but the old charger is far, far from satisfied.

"It's one of the best rounds I've had in a long time," Palmer said after shooting a three-under par 68 yesterday for a tie with George Archer in the No. 1 spot.

NOT PUTTING

"If I'd putted like I have in the past, I could have been eight under par after seven holes. It would have been unusual, but it was very possible."

As it was, he birdied three of the first seven, just missing an eagle on the par five second, and played par golf the rest of the way. In all, he missed five putts of six feet or less, and two more from eight feet, an indication of just how strong his long game is.

Two of his birds came on putts of 12 and 20 feet.

"You have to make a percentage of those or you're just wasting your time out here. But you should make those little short ones and I'm just not doing it," he said.

Archer had more trouble with the double-tough little Harbour Town golf links, an onceanside, 6,655 yard, par 71 layout that Jim Colbert called "the toughest course we've played all year."

Big George had three bogeys, once from a trap, once from the deep rough and once from the water. But he had six birds, only one from more than 10 feet.

Colbert, a balding young tour regular, was tied for third with veterans Charley Sifford and B. R. (Mac) McLendon, all at 69. Terry Wilcox, Fred Marti, Dave Ragen and Grier Jones, all at 70, rounded out the list of those who managed to break par.

JACK AT 71

There were more than twice as many who had 80s and up, including a dismal 97 by home pro Wallace Palmer, no relation to Arnold.

Palmer, who has been in the top 10 only once since making a comeback from a two-month absence with a hip ailment, has had severe problems with his putting in recent weeks, though he has been among the best from tee to green. It was the same thing yesterday.

JIM GILMARTIN

Marin Youngsters Take To The Ice

You wouldn't think the mommies and daddies of Marvelous Marin County would ever allow their male heirs to participate in a sport whose rule book lists such violence as hooking, slashing, misconduct, elbowing, kicking, molesting officials, spearing, roughing or throwing sticks.

For example, one paragraph of the rule book states: "Slashing another player with a stick costs two minutes (even if the player is missed), five minutes if he is cut on the face or head."

I think it'll cost you 15 minutes for murder.

My heavens! What's going on around here? Who's the referee, Henry Cabot Lodge?

We don't seem quite ready for that kind of mayhem yet. We're the Bounty County, remember? We produce outstanding golfers, swimmers, tennis players and basketballers because our kids own their own courses, pools, courts and gymnasiums. But slashing? Spearing? Get me the Peace Corps.

Not As Violent As It Sounds

But, wait a minute. There are about 70 Marin youngsters who are having a ball in this sport whose rule book reads more like "Battle Cry," but is actually much less violent on the junior level.

It's the Marin Junior Ice Hockey Club whose membership is composed of boys up to 14 years of age. And although the program was skating on thin ice there for a spell due to lack of interest, things have begun to flourish so that now the club has three teams in Bay Area league competition and about 30 more lads in beginner school.

Club headquarters is Raydine's Ice Rink in Corte Madera whose owner, Ray Schramm, started the junior program in 1963. Last year, after six years of hard work, the program nearly died for lack of boys until Al Southern took over the club presidency and started recruiting adults and boys to get the puck moving at full speed.

A Reputation As Scrappers

Right now they're in the middle of the 1969-70 schedule and Marin's three teams (Squirts, 10 and under, Pee Wees, 12 and under, and Bantams, 14 and under) have a composite winning record against league teams from Santa Rosa, Berkeley, San Francisco and Belmont, of which club official Don Anderson says is "fantastic because about half of these kids had never played in a game before this year and some of them had never been on skates before this summer. Our boys are getting a reputation around the league as scrappers because what they lack in skill they make up in desire."

They Need A Helping Hand

Anderson said the club presently is in the process of incorporation with several fund-raising drives planned to enlarge the program. "It costs about $75 to outfit each player," he said, "and we'll need approximetely $2,000 more to finish out our season." They can use a financial helping hand.

Games are usually played on Sundays with practice sessions every Saturday, 5-6 p.m. at Raydine's. If you'd like your youngster to get into this fast and exciting sport merely show up at one of the practice sessions to sign him up.

And, mother, don't worry about the spearing, kicking, slashing etc. The boys are well supervised by responsible men.

Dodgers' Sizemore Named N.L. Rookie Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Sizemore, the versatile Los Angeles Dodger infielder who alternated between shortstop and second base, was named today the Rookie-of-the-Year in the National League.

Sizemore, 24, converted into a shortstop by Manager Walter Alston last spring after spending 1968 in the minors as a catcher, won by a surprisingly large margin in the vote of a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America, two from each league city.

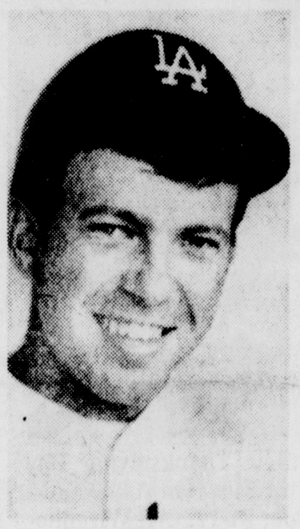
LANDSLIDE

The seventh Dodger to win the rookie award received 14 votes in his landslide victory. Coco Laboy, Montreal third baseman, and Al Oliver, Pittsburgh first baseman, each received three votes. Bob Didier, Atlanta catcher, and Larry Hisle, Philadelphia outfielder, each drew two votes.

The award, announced by Jack Lang, secretary-treasurer of the writers association was based on a secret vote that covered only regular season play.

It was the final award of the annual series by the writers, all of which went to players on different clubs.

Lou Piniella of Kansas City was the American League's top rookie. Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota won the American League's Most Valuable Player Award and Willie McCovey of San Francisco won the same MVP honors in the National League.



TED SIZEMORE

CY YOUNG

The Cy Young Award for pitchers was taken by Tom Seaver of New York in the National and shared by Denny McLain of Detroit and Mike Cuellar of Baltimore in the American.

Sizemore, 24, succeeded Johnny Bench, Cincinnati catcher, who was the 1968 winner. He joined such other former Dodger winners as Don Newcombe, Jackie Robinson Joe Black, Junior Gilliam, Frank Howard and Jim Lefebvre.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Sizemore taught in Detroit last winter but this year has been employed in the Dodgers' speaking bureau.

He hit .271 in 159 games and had 20 doubles, five triples, four homers and 46 runs batted in. He played 46 games at short until Maury Wills arrived in June and then 118 at second base, obviously splitting some games at both positions.

BATTED .253

Laboy, who spent 10 years knocking around the minors before he got his chance in the major league expansion draft, was Montreal's regular third baseman hitting .253 with 18 homers and 83 RBI.

Oliver was beaten out by Bob Robertson in the battle for first base in the Pittsburgh camp last spring but took over the job and hit .285 with 17 homers and 70 RBI.

Didier, an unknown 20-year-old inherited the Braves' catching job after Joe Torre was traded to St. Louis and batted .256. He handled the tough job of catching Phil Niekro's knucklers and was a regular on a division winning team.

Hisle, moving up from the farm system after recovering from an attack of hepatitis, was the Phils' center fielder in 1969, hitting .266 with 20 homers and knocking in 56 runs.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Texas And Arkansas Romp

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas A&M tried to grab a Texas Wishbone Thanksgiving Day and wound up empty-handed . . . and Texas Tech just got the bird from Arkansas.

Texas' bone-jarring Longhorns smashed Texas A&M 49-12 despite the Aggies' use of the Wishbone-T offense and Arkansas smothered Texas Tech 33-0 in traditional holiday games yesterday.

Their victories set up a classic battle between top-ranked Texas and second-ranked Arkansas on Dec. 6. Both undefeated in nine games, the Longhorns and Razorbacks meet that day for the Southwest Conference title, a spot in the Cotton Bowl and probably No. 1 ranking.

WISHBONE-T

"We used the Wishbone-T to get fullback Steve Burks and tailback Larry Stegent into the game at the same time," said Texas Tech Coach Gene Stallings. "Our line just wasn't blocking as good as needed."

Stallings added: "Texas is as good a football team as I've ever seen. I know they're the best I've every played. They are better than I thought."

"Our defense was magnificent behind the artistry of Archie Manning.

The Longhorns' nation-leading rushers roamed all over the Aggies' defense. Jim Bertelson raced 63 yards for a touchdown on the fourth play of the game —and the Longhorns were off and running for 330 yards.

PICNIC

Meanwhile, in Little Rock, Arkansas was having a regular Thanksgiving Day picnic with Texas Tech. The Razorbacks intercepted five passes and dumped Napper nine times.

In the day's only other major game, 14th-ranked Mississippi clouted Mississippi State 48-22 blitz," said Broyles. "If we are successful we stay with it. And we were successful today."

Texas Tech Coach J. T. King, who lost 49-7 early in the season to Texas, wouldn't compare the two.

"Just let the people that pay $6 find out next week," he said.

Manning passed for two touchdowns and scored two more himself as Mississippi came up with some late lightning to rip Mississippi State.

The Army-Navy game highlights a light football card Saturday. While the two tangle in their annual battle in Philadelphia, 12th-ranked Auburn plays Alabama and third-rated Penn State meets North Carolina State.

Elsewhere, Boston College travels to Syracuse; Georgia visits Georgia Tech; Tennessee hosts Vanderbilt; Southern Mississippi plays at home to West Texas State; Oklahoma plays at Oklahoma State; Baylor visits Rice and Xavier, Ohio, is at Texas-El-Paso.

Longshot Wins At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO (AP) — Longshot I've Bin Spotted came from behind to win the $20,000 added Thanksgiving Day Handicap at Bay Meadows yesterday.

E. Welch, piloted the winner, carrying 110 pounds, to a 1:42 2-5 clocking over the 1 1-16 mile test.

I've Bin Spotted paid $141.40, $35.40 and $14.80. A Pleasant Sort returned $5.60 and $4.80 for place and Grey Cricket paid $10.20 to show.

Warriors Vs. Lakers In TV Game Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors meet the Los Angeles Lakers tonight in National Basketball Association action, following a 118-116 loss yesterday to Baltimore.

It was touch and go for the Bullets as the Warriors kept the game tied 15 times. The great shooting of Baltimore's Jack Marin helped the Bullets pull away with the lead early in the last period.

The Warriors nearly caught up late in the game when Jeff Mullins scored nine straight points, making it 117-116 with 24 seconds left to play.

The Warriors had been looking for their third straight victory when they met Batimore and will try a fresh start against the Lakers tonight. The game will be televised on Channel 2 starting at 8 o'clock.

Kel Nagle Leads New Zealand Open

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP) — Kel Nagle of Australia fired a 67 today and grabbed a one stroke lead over New Zealand's Bob Charles for two rounds of the New Zealand Open Golf Tournament.

Nagle had a 69 yesterday for a 136 total over the par 70 Belmont links. Charles matched the 67 of Nagle's today for a two-day total of 137.

Lincoln Wins S.F. Grid Title

A pass interception by Jim Wilderson and a fumble recovery by Jim Allen set up the touchdowns that gave Lincoln High School a 12-0 victory over Balboa yesterday in the San Francisco Academic Athletic Association's football championship game before a crowd of 12,500 at Kezar Stadium.

Chris Kanios passed 25 yards to Vic Chambers for the first score in the second quarter following Wilkerson's interception and the second TD came in the third quarter on a one-yard sneak by Kanios following Allen's recovery.

Chiefs Knock Off Broncos, Now Get 10 Days Of Rest

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs get a welcome 10-day respite from the American Football League wars, then gird for what Coach Hank Stram calls "the second half of our season."

The Chiefs have won 10 of their first 12 games and trail Oakland by a half game in the AFL Western Division race after whipping Denver 31-17 in a Thanksgiving Day game here.

'FIRST HALF'

Stram, looking to the Chiefs' windup battle with Oakland for the divisional championship, then the AFL playoffs and perhaps a Super Bowl berth, calls what has transpired just "the first half."

Kansas City doesn't play again until Dec. 7 when Buffalo and O. J. Simpson come here. Then the Chiefs play at Oakland Dec. 13, and the AFL semifinals will be played Dec. 20 with the Chiefs or Raiders hosting one semifinal game, depending upon who comes out on top.

Referring to the 10-day layoff, Stram said "It should help us tremendously as we go into the last part of the season."

MILD SCARE

Kansas City, which can reclaim first place in the West if the New York Jets defeat Oakland Sunday, never trailed Denver although the Broncos now 4-7-1, rallied to throw a mild scare into the Chiefs.

Kansas City built a 24-3 lead on Jan Stenerud's 16-yard field goal; two 80-yard drives capped by short runs for touchdowns by Warren McVea, and Emmitt Thomas' 45-yard pass interception run. It was Stenerud's 11th straight field goal, an AFL record.

Ferguson Draws Fine, Suspension

MONTREAL (AP) — Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, suspended John Ferguson, Montreal Canadiens left winger, for six games last night and handed out a total of $5,775 in fines to two clubs and their players.

The penalties were the result of a stick-swinging incident between Ferguson and Gary Sabourin of the St. Louis Blues at St. Louis Nov. 15. The incident was followed by a general melee in which players from both teams left their benches.

BY ORDER

Ferguson's suspension included Wednesday night's game against the Maple Leafs in Toronto, which he sat out by the president's order.

The NHL president slapped the St. Louis hockey club with a $2,000 fine for failing to stop its players' mass exodus from the bench and the Montreal club $1,000 for the same infraction.

The difference in the club fines was due to the fact that the Nov. 15 incident was the second violation by the Blues in successive games.

Ferguson, who received a match penalty and an automatic $100 fine and an additional $25 for a misconduct penalty, also is assessed $200 for stick-swinging, bringing his outlay to $325.

SALARY

In addition, the 31-year-old Vancouver native will have his salary for the six games he misses remitted to the NHL.

Campbell game 11 players from each club fines of $100 on the Blues' Tim Ecclestone for being first to leave the bench and an extra $150 on Noel Picard of St. Louis for leaving the penalty bench to join the fracas.

Campbell, president of the league since 1946, said it is the stiffest penalty he has ever handed out.

Chargers Again Top Oilers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — There is something about the Houston Oilers that seems to bring out the best in the San Diego Chargers.

That was the situation yesterday as the Chargers came from behind in the second half and upset the Oilers, 21-17, before a crowd of 40,065 in the Astrodome.

10 OF 11

San Diego now has won 10 of the last 11 games between the two American Football League clubs.

An 11-yard interception return for a touchdown by Charger safety Kenny Graham in the fourth quarter was the killing blow to Houston's Thanksgiving Day hopes. Houston was leading 17-14 when Graham picked off the pass throw by Oilers quarterback Don Trull from his end zone.

PRAISE

"We had a tremendous effort, just what we had been preaching," Waller said.

Hadl guided the Chargers to a touchdown early in the second half after rookie Marty Domres passed to Gary Garrison for 23 yards for the first one.

Hadl took the Chargers 73 yards in 10 plays following the second half kickoff to cut the margin to 14-17. Russ Smith went the final three.

DRIVE

Beathard scored from two yards out to cap a 45-yard drive for one Houston touchdown and guided the Oilers 70 yards to the three where he suffered an ankle injury after a five-yard run. Trull entered the game and on the first play he hit Hoyle Granger with a three-yard touchdown pass.

Roy Gerela kicked a 42-yard field goal to give Houston a 17-7 halftime lead but that was all the Oilers could do for the day.

Vikings Shut Out Lions To Clinch Divisional Title

DETROIT (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings had a feast on Thanksgiving Day and the Detroit Lions were the turkeys.

And the Lions got the stuffing knocked out of them as they fell 27-0 to the Vikings and gave Minnesota the Central Division title of the National Football League free and clear.

It was the first time Detroit has been shut out this year. Last year the Lions were shut out once—on Thanksgiving Day 12-0 by Philadelphia under sloppy playing conditions much like they faced yesterday in a blizzard at Tiger Stadium.

LIKE BIRD

"We got it stuffed to us both times, just like the big bird," said Detroit coach Joe Schmidt, referring to the traditional Thanksgiving Day turkey.

It was primarily the onslaught of Minnesota's fearsome front four of Carl Eller, Gary Larsen, Alan Page and Jim Marshall that gave Detroit problems, together with the bad field position the Lions found themselves in all day.

The snow came down so hard in the first quarter it was hard to see and both teams found difficult going on the slushy ground.

But Paul Dickson blocked a Lem Barney punt and the Vikings recovered on Detroit's 16 in the first quarter. Four plays later Dave Osborn leaped into the end zone for the first Minnesota touchdown.

LIKE THAT

The rest of the game was like that, with the Vikings never passing up an opportunity.

"It was one of those kind of ball games where we got the first break and that was it," said Minnesota coach Bud Grant. "If they got the first break, maybe it would have been the other way around."

The win gave Minnesota a 10-1 record and Detroit dropped to 7-4. Even if the Vikings lose their last three games and the Lions win, Minnesota would go to the playoff because they beat Detroit twice.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Sportsmen Await Rains To Liven Up The Action

Fishing in San Pablo Bay is fair, though costly bait-wise. Sam Knoles of San Anselmo and I tried it this week and Sam outfished me with his fly rod. He caught a 12-pound bass along with a couple of flounders, plus about five bullheads; I couldn't connect on a bass, but caught about six flounders and possibly had 15 bullhead bites.

All this cost us about 50 ghost shrimp and this hurts. We have not been connecting with sturgeon, either, and I think it is because those pesty bullheads take the bait almost before it reaches the bottom. A good rain would freshen the water and most of these rough fish would leave the area. Usually a good rain year puts the sturgeon down from the rivers right in our backyard at San Pablo Bay and fishing is great.

ANOTHER AREA in which rain is a most important factor is in the Tomales Bay-White House Pool areas. Last year, as far as I can determine, we had 14 rainy days in this area as compared with 1 rainy day this year.

Jim Crunk, the fish and game man in charge of the Nicasio fish trap, had taken the first salmon from the trap on Nov. 14 of last year. The salmon are then taken by a tank truck up to Halleck and Nicasio creeks above Nicasio Dam where they are released so that they are able to spawn in these spawning stream areas.

But this year the salmon are still in Tomales Bay and the tide waters of Papermill Creek while Crunk waits for rain.

This, of course, does the salmon no good as the long wait from old age and other factors. Fishermen who catch the older salmon find the fish turning red in color, the flesh soft and fungus growths starting on parts of the body. Anglers usually release this poor quality fish back to the stream, hoping that they may reach the spawning area.

RAIN IN this area usually means rain and snow in the far north, causing freeze-ups in the Tule Lake areas. When this occurs, the ducks and geese start their migration southward to the California wintering waterfowl areas.

If the rains occur very late, then these birds arrive in late December and January or close to the end of the duck season, much to the chagrin of the California hunters. If you know a good rain maker tell him we need rain.

LAST WEEK a two-day open season for wild turkeys was held in San Luis Obispo County. Much of the area opened was located on private property so my comment that you might be going on a wild goose chase was a valid one.

TODAY I received some additional data on California's wild turkey stocking program. An unexpected bonanza of 239 Rio Grande turkeys was received from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Texas sent 222 hens and 17 toms. Since male birds were in short supply, Department of Fish and Game biologists proceeded to trap in San Diego and San Luis Obispo counties. After trapping operations, 53 toms and 243 hens were released in 19 areas in 14 counties.

Nine counties were stocked for the first time — Los Angeles, Tulare, Madera, Calaveras, El Dorado, Butte, Glenn, Tehama and Santa Clara.

Shasta, Colusa and Yuba were given booster plants.

Next year Texas has consented to send us additional birds for stocking in exchange for pheasants, chukers and mountain quail. Also, the game managers will continue to trap and transplant from established flocks. With good survival and reproduction, wild turkeys should become a familiar sight in much of California's oak belt.

ANOTHER RECENT report from the Department of Fish and Game tells of Arctic Grayling plants in California waters for the first time in more than 35 years.

Fingerlings are being reared at Hot Creek Hatchery in Mono County and fingerlings are scheduled to be planted this fall in about 10 Sierra-Nevada lakes from Plumas to Madera counties.

Several thousands fish will be held in the hatchery until next year when they will be used for brood stock so that eggs can be taken to supply water throughout California in years to come.

As a game fish, the Grayling rates high in popularity. It is attractive in form and coloration, fights well, and takes a fly readily. Spinners and spoons also make effective lures and salmon eggs have been used.

Many anglers feel that the Graylings are easy to catch, but their great value is best noted in waters sometimes unsuitable for other fish, especially in waters with low oxygen counts. The Grayling seems to tolerate these waters with ease.

So, one of these days we may be shooting wild turkeys and catching Grayling. And we won't have to go on a wild goose chase to do this.

Knicks Try For All-Time NBA Record

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Knicks, already in the National Basketball Association record book for any number of reasons this season, go after a major mark tonight—the longest winning streak in the 24-year history of the league.

Winners of 17 straight, the New Yorkers face the Cincinnati Royals at Cleveland—and victory will eclipse the loop mark they now share with the Washington Capitals of 1946 and the Boston Celtics of 1959.

Additionally, the Knicks have won 22 of 23, far and away the fastest start of any team in NBA history.

The Knicks notched their 17th straight by routing the Atlanta Hawks Wednesday night, 138-108, putting together an awesome third period in which they outscored the Hawks, 38-12.

Giants Might Get Murakami Back

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants hope chapter two of the Masanori Murakami story has a happier ending than chapter one.

Murakami, or "Mashi" as he is known to the Giants, had a brief fling with the big league club in 1965 and may be on his way back to San Francisco.

The San Francisco Chronicle quoted an unidentified Giants' official yesterday as saying the 25-year-old Japanese pitcher would leave Japan and arrive in San Francisco Dec. 5 to prepare for spring training with the Giants in Arizona.

The spokesman said the return of "Mashi" depends on whether "the Giants can settle Murakami's contract problems with the Nankai Hawks."

The Hawks own Murakami in Japan and the Giants have rights to him in the United States.

The 6-foot, 180-pound lefthander was drafted out of Japan along with three other Japanese players by Giants' scout Cappy Harada. Murakami served his American apprenticeship with Fresno of the California League, then came to the big club at the tail end of the 1964 season.

He hurled 15 innings, gave up one earned run, allowed eight bases on balls and struck out 15 men. His one victory in that stretch was the first pitching decision by a Japanese in the history of American major league baseball.

Following a bitter contract dispute between the Giants and Hawks, Murakami came back to San Francisco in 1965. He posted a 4-1 record, mainly in relief.

But another contract squabble and heavy parental pressure influenced Murakami to return to the Hawks.

When Giants' manager Clyde King and coach Wes Westrum went on their recent tour of the Orient to conduct baseball clinics, they contacted Murakami who reportedly said he was weary of his irregular role on the Hawks. Murakami has been both starting and relieving.

But even if Murakami does come back to San Francisco, the Giants will have to work out ownership rights with the Hawks once again.

Raiders Schedule Appreciation Day For 4 Veterans

OAKLAND (AP) — An appreciation day will be held Dec. 7 for four members of the Oakland Raiders football team—all 10-year veterans and charter members of the American Football League.

Blanda and Cannon began with the AFL in Houston. Blanda was with the Oilers for seven years and Cannon four years.

The appreciation day is sponsored by the Raiders Booster club and the Southern Alameda County Booster Club.

Happy Hariston Goes To Lakers

DETROIT (UPI) — Happy Hairston, a veteran of six years in the National Basketball Association, was traded by the Detroit Pistons to the Los Angeles Lakers yesterday. The Lakers gave up Bill Hewitt, and undisclosed amount of money and a future draft choice in order to obtain Hairston.

Pop Warner: San Rafael Vs. Vallejo

Undefeated San Rafael Junior Bulldogs of the Marin County League meet the once-beaten Vallejo Junior Dons of the North Conta Costa County League tomorrow, 1 p.m. at Marin Catholic High School in a Pop Warner Football Conference bowl game.

Led by three-year veteran quarterback David Steele and hard-running tailback Steve D'Ambra, the Junior Bulldogs enter the post-season game with seven victories and one tie on their championship record.

Vallejo also had seven victories along with its one loss and features a bevy of fleet backs as its main weapon.

Pop Warner football is for boys aged 10-14 in limited weight classifications. Admission to tomorrow's game is free.

The New York Yankees ended their American League season with five straight victories but finished fifth in the Eastern Division with an 80-81 record. Their final home game was rained out.

Improvement Seen At San Marin High

(Third in a series on Marin County high school basketball prospects.)

San Marin High School's basketball hopes would seem to be ideal.

Everybody's back.

Not only are all the starters, benchwarmers and what have you from last year's team back, the Mustangs have even managed to pick up one important member of another team.

That's Dana LaFerriere, only a junior, still growing, and now standing an imposing 6 foot-8. He was a starter for Novato as a sophomore last season.

Add LaFerriere to a bunch that also includes explosive, high-scoring Gary Howard, talented Jim Thompson, and starters Phil Adams, Dwight Darling Rick Harmon and Mike Kassenbrock, and you have the makings of a pretty good team.

Whether it will be a championship team is an altogether different matter, although the Mustangs should be challengers. They did manage to win only three games all of last year, including two in league play, in their first year of varsity competition when there were no seniors in the school, and the big problem here for coach Andy Frauenhofer is to turn a team of losers into winners, something which doesn't happen overnight.

LaFerriere's presence will give the Mustangs something they sorely needed last season — any kind of height.

"He'll help us an awful lot," Frauenhofer said. "We could still use some fair-sized forwards, but overall, things look very optimistic."

Howard, who finished third in league scoring last year, and first on the season, is a tremendous offensive player but still needs to learn some more defensive techniques, according to Frauenhofer.

PREP BASKETBALL

Rancho Cotate Ready For Title Challenge

(Third in a series on southern Sonoma County high school basketball prospects.)

For the first time in its history, Rancho Coatate (Rohnert Park) appears ready to challenge for the North Bay League Section II basketball crown.

Coach Don Kite had a young team last year (most of the squad were sophomores and juniors) and, despite the loss of one of his top players, figures the Cougars will be in NBL-II title contention this year.

Stan Erickson, the sharpshooting guard on last year's squad, has transferred to Montgomery (Santa Rosa) and will be missed. Kite has several candidates to fill the spot, however.

The club will be built around 6-foot-5 junior Ron Seiler, among the league's top 10 scorers last season as a sophomore. Seiler was the league's top rebounder and figures to dominate the boards in most Cougar games this year.

Junior Brian Van Leuven and senior Greg Woods will also be offensive sparkplugs for Rancho Cotate. Woods was a scoring threat and outstanding on defense last season while Van Leuven sat out most of the year with injuries.

The NBL-II race figures to be tough this season with the addition of Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa to the league. The Cardinals were rated among the top in Redwood Empire circles last season when they played as an independent. Defending champion Healdsburg has lost most of its offense, but runners-up El Molino of Forestville and Sonoma still figure to be powerful.

Arizona State sophomore Calvin Demery caught 11 passes for 201 yards and two touchdowns, made six tackles and intercepted a pass against Minnesota in his first college game this fall.

Today is Friday, Nov. 28, the 332nd day of 1969 with 33 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1520, Ferdinand Magellan entered the Pacific Ocean on his way around the world. He was the first European to sail that body of water from the east.

In 1956, the United States expressed concern to Syria over substantial shipments of Soviet arms to that Middle East nation.

A thought for the day: President George Washington said, "The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and alter their constitution of government."

Life's Savings Home For Rats

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — African office messenger Raphael Mgagula walked into a building society here to deposit Rands 120 ($168) in hard-earned savings from his Rands 13 ($18.20) a week salary.

He emptied a brown paper bag of shredded paper on the counter — rats had made confetti of his nest egg. "We have lost everything," said Raphael, 30-year-old father of three.

But the building society put him in touch with the reserve bank, which promised to do "all we can to help him replace the notes."

Don't Be Imaginative, Just Lead Your Partner's Suit

One of the reasons you bid a suit in a competitive auction is to suggest a favorable opening lead to your partner. This works well when your partner is suggestible, but everybody occasionally gets a partner who will go out of his way to find a "brilliant" opening lead instead of a simple lead in the suit you have bid. Save today's hand to show to your imaginative partner. It won't do you any good (there is no cure for imagination), but it will save wear and tear on your voice.

MATCH POINTS

When today's hand was played a few weeks ago in a team playoff, the Dallas Aces won the right to represent North America in the 1970 world championship. The Dallas team picked up 15 international match points on this hand when West went out of his way to select an imaginative opening lead.

South won the first trick with the ace of spades and returned the jack. West might have saved a trick by playing low, but he covered with the queen. Declarer ruffed in the dummy, and all of his spades became established when East dropped the nine.

LEADS TRUMP

Declarer next led a trump from dummy, and East casually played low, trying to look like a man who had nothing to hide. South remembered the double of five clubs and tried a deep finesse with the jack of clubs. When this won, South cashed the ace of clubs and lost only one trick, scoring 950 points for his doubled game with an overtrick.

AT OTHER TABLE

At the other table of the match the opening lead against five clubs was a heart. Declarer might have saved a trick, but he actually went down two. The difference between the spade lead and the heart lead was 1,150 points.

East was pensive at the end of the hand. "I was hoping you'd lead a heart," he observed quietly to his partner. "Tell me, if I had bid spades, would you have led a heart?"

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ 5
♥ A 8 3
♦ A Q 8 5 4 2
♣ 9 8 6.

ANSWER: Bid one diamond or pass.

You have 10 points in high cards and two points for the singleton. Since the high-card structure is excellent you have a borderline opening bid. Some experts prefer to bid this kind of hand; others, to pass. If you use weak two-bids, this hand is on the borderline between an opening bid of one diamond and a bid of two diamonds.

Purchase Of Jeep Motors Doesn't Help Company

By ROGER SPEAR

Q. I bought American Motors some time ago at $14. Should I continue to hold? — W. H.

A. Your loss in American Motors is not sizable and my advice would be to accept it.

The purchase of Jeep Motors in my opinion has not added to the company's growth prospects. The transaction will cost $20 million in cash and 5-year notes plus 5.5 million shares. The increase in equity is not apt to be offset by profits from these quality but limited-appeal vehicles. Had a sizable new group of dealers been added to the roster, the merger would have been of greater potential value.

It is difficult at this time to assess how determimental the strike will be to American's earnings in fiscal 1970. Despite public acceptance of the Hornet, earnings for the current year will not reach a level necessary to support higher share prices.

Cyclical automotive issues historically command low multiples, and American Motors at 60x 1969 earnings, estimated at 20 cents per share, is not particularly attractive.

Q. I am retired and have considerable assets in cash, bonds and real estate. Interest on my savings accounts, also sizable at 4.5 per cent and 5 per cent, seems inadequate. Should I invest in GMAC short notes? — L. R.

A. General Motors Acceptance Corp., as well as the other financial and industrial companies, offers short-term — from 3 to 270 days — promissory notes also called commercial paper. The National Credit Organization rates about 500 companies with about 90 per cent of the paper considered prime. Most dealers in commercial paper are large institutional houses but many corporations issue their notes directly.

The profit for the dealer handling these transactions is small and most do not issue in amounts under $15,000. A round lot is $100,000 so the small investor is not entirely welcome.

Discounts on paper placed directly by corporations are running at about 8 per cent for 30-59 day maturities and 7⅜ per cent for longer term. Bought through dealers the discounts are 1 per cent greater. You should have no trouble in securing the amount you wish at these advantageous rates.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Manufactures Jump 6 Pct. In California

Total manufacturers, accounting for 23.6 per cent of all goods and services produced in California, advanced 5.2 per cent in October to $25.75 billion.

According to Bank of California, production of durable goods rose 6 per cent to $16.70 and nondurables were up 6.5 per cent from last year to $9.05 billion. Payrolls for the manufacturing industries totaled $15.11 billion.

The metal complex, representing 44 per cent of all manufacturers, grew 5.4 per cent to an October total of $11.42 billion, although the production of transportation equipment, mostly aircraft, fell 2.4 per cent. Machinery production aggregated $2.12 billion, up 12.8 per cent.

Food production also advanced 6.7 per cent in a year to $3.52 billion. Chemicals and allied products reached $1.29 billion, up 6.6 per cent. Apparel fabrication jumped 11.5 per cent; printing and publishing climbed 9.6 per cent; petroleum and related products rose 8.8 per cent.

AMERICAN BUILDING MAINTENANCE INDUSTRIES, continued its expansion program, has agreed to acquire Crosetti Bros., the second oldest janitorial service company on the West Coast for an undisclosed amount of cash and stock. Crosetti, with operations in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, has annual sales in excess of $1 million.

GOLDEN WEST SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION'S acquisition of Tamalpais Savings and Loan and Grove-Portola Savings and Loan has been approved by the California Department of Savings and Loan. All that remains for the transaction to be completed is action by federal authorities. The mergers are expected to take place before the end of the year or during the first quarter of 1970.

BECHTEL CORP., San Francisco has been awarded a contract to build for B. F. Goodrich Chemical Co. a new multi-million dollar plant at Orange, Texas, for the production of synthetic rubber.

PRUDENTIAL FUNDS, INC., New York directors have declared a three-for-two stock split of the common stock, par value 10 cents per share, payable Dec. 23. The board intends to maintain the present semi-annual dividend rate of five cents per share, subject to continuation of favorable earnings.

PACIFIC SOUTHWEST AIRLINES will lease the San Franciscan Hotel (formerly the Whitcomb Hotel) in San Francisco for a period of 18 years. Discussions on the lease were begun last April, discontinued a short time later and recently renewed.

THE SUMITOMO BANK OF CALIFORNIA, San Francisco has raised its half-yearly dividend from 60 cents to 65 cents per share, payable Jan. 15, 1970.

PERINI CORP. construction and real estate revenues for the nine months ended Sept. 30 were $106,564,320, with earnings of $1,250,871 or 29 cents per share. This was a drop from last year's $127 million in revenues and $2,284,386 in earnings (54 cents per share).

LUCKY STORES' earnings for the third quarter ended Nov. 2 were 39 per cent above earnings for the third quarter of 1968, on a 19-per cent increase in sales. Earnings amounted to $4.9 million, compared to $3.5 in 1968. Sales were $312 million, compared to $261.7 million a year ago.

RESERVE OIL AND GAS CO. reported net income of $1,817,000 for the three months ended Sept. 30, equal after preferred dividends to 19 cents a share. Income for the comparable quarter last year was $789,000 or eight cents per share.

WICKES CORP. third quarter earnings for the period ended Oct. 25 were $2.36 million or 38 cents per share, compared with $4.68 million or 74 cents per share a year ago.

Wall Street Firm After Its Holiday

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market finished on a firm note today in a continuation of the pre-Thanksgiving rally which was the first in more than two weeks.

Turnover of around 8-million shares was about 2 million below Wednesday at a comparable period.

Alan R. Shaw, vice president and director of market research for Harris, Upham & Co. brokerage, said it was a typical post holiday session with volume light and the market rally a bit after a prolonged slide.

Among the most active issues were Benguet, Stokely-Van Camp, Natomas, Texaco, American Home Products, U.S. Ssteel, Occidental and American Telephone. Texaco closed at 30-1-8 up 5-8; U.S. Steel at 35 3-8 off 1-8; and AT&T unchanged at 52.

Electronics were impressive with several issues in the group gaining more than a point. Xerox closed up 3 at 107 7-8 and IBM climbed 7 to 357.

Oils also showed marked strength for no apparent reason, other than the fact they were hard hit in the recent slide. Jersey Standard closed up 3-8 at 62 1-8.

Aircrafts and airlines were fractionally higher in several instances, while rails, motors, chemicals and steels generally traded narrowly. Steel producers said car makers' steel orders for early next year are running below earlier expectations.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The United States Tungsten Corporation has acquired all of the outstanding stock in Brown's home Furnishers, Inc. The acquisition was approved by the California SEC Commission on November 17, 1969. Hal Fenton has been named General Manager and has been directed by the Board of Directors of United States Tungsten Corporation to liquidate the present inventory in order to restock Brown's in Mill Valley and Brown's Sleep Shop in San Rafael. Brown's will then begin an extensive expansion program under the new trade name of Mr. Brown's. The acquisition and reorganizational plans are to better serve the need of an ever expanding suburban population. All merchandise will go on sale Friday, November 28, 1969 at 9:00 A.M. and the sale will continue until present inventory is decreased. Both stores will be open from 9:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. daily and will be open Sunday, November 30, 1969 only from 11:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. for your convenience. All merchandise will be sold at cost plus/cash not necessary. Bank terms available or B. of A. card. 30 day charge accounts invited also. All prices will be F.O.B. Brown's and cash buyers will receive an additional 2% discount. We do not discriminate against cash buyers. All sales will be final. Take advantage of this once in a lifetime opportunity.
